700 Feared Dead In India Storms

Floods Ravage Big Area

NEW DELHI (UPI) — More than 700 persons were feared dead today as heavy rains, floods and cyclones ravaged the State of Andhra in southeast India.

Reports to the federal capital told of a mounting toll of casualties and heavy property damage.

The air force was asked to aid in the search for 449 fishermen who sailed from the small town of Conanada, 900 miles southeast of New Delhi three days ago in 75 small boats.

They have not been heard from since. State officials expressed concern for their fate.

DAM BURSTS

At Macherla, the dam of an irrigation tank burst, drowning an estimated 100 persons. A radio broadcast said the hamlet was under 10 feet of water.

In the neighboring district of Guntur, 120 persons were feared dead in floods set off by four days of heavy rains.

The flooding Krishna River washed away a 32-span bridge Tuesday. More than 100 persons were killed and hundreds were missing.

Many villages and towns in Andhra were reported inundated in Andhra State and crops and livestock were feared lost.

The floods in Andhra were described as the worst in the state's history.

Two Inches Of Rain Hit Island

Public works officials in Victoria and surrounding municipalities are keeping their fingers crossed today after more than two inches of rain walloped the lower Island.

Rain caused "spotty, minor flooding complaints" in Saanich, works officials reported, and two basements were reported flooded in Oak Bay and three more in Esquimalt. Between 1.44 and 1.65 inches fell in the city.

The city appeared to get off scot-free except for a blocked storm drain at Tolmie and Quadra which caused a lake two feet deep across the road.

"We were lucky Bowker Creek held," said one city works official.

NO FLOODING

"We are still working on it and although the water level went up eight inches, no flooding resulted."

Most of the rain fell on the southwest coast of the Island.

Tofino recorded 2.94 inches, Alberni 1.90 but Ober, near Jordan River on the Island's west coast topped the list with 4.5 inches.

Victoria was wetter than Vancouver Tuesday and early today as the mainland city had only 1.33 inches.

The city today was in the calm period between storms. More rain is expected late Thursday and early Friday.

RAIN CLOUDS

Weatherman Bill Mackie said Tuesday evening's weather system has now proceeded east but westerly winds are bringing large rain clouds toward us from the Pacific.

Weather picture for tonight calls for clouds, clearing and some showers.

Winds which were gusting to 45 mph at noon will diminish to westerly 15-20.

Winds, however, will pick up again late Thursday to bring the predicted storm to the city.

Temperatures will range from a low of 45 overnight to a high Thursday of 58 degrees.

FORMER SS GENERAL Karl Wolff, left, is escorted into Munich court where he was convicted today of aiding in the murder of 300,000 Jews in Poland and sentenced to 15 years at hard labor. (AP Wirephoto.)

'AIDED' MURDERS

15 Years Jail For Top Nazi

MUNICH (Reuters)—Former SS Gen. Karl Wolff, a high official in the Nazi hierarchy, was sentenced to 15 years at hard labor after a West German court today convicted him on charges of aiding in the wartime murder of 300,000 Jews in Poland.

Wolff, 64, was originally charged with complicity but the Munich court found him guilty of aiding in the murders—legally, a lesser charge.

Conviction of complicity in murder carries an automatic life sentence at hard labor, the maximum sentence in West Germany for any crime. The sentence for a conviction of aiding in murder may be anything from three years at hard labor to life at hard labor.

Wolff's defence counsel, Rudolf Aschenauer, said after the verdict that there was no actual evidence of Wolff's guilt and announced he would appeal it.

Wolff had been an adjutant of Heinrich Himmler, Nazi SS (elite corps) chief, and liaison officer to Hitler before becoming German commander-in-chief in Italy at the close of the war.

He was found guilty of having helped provide the rolling stock in which 300,000 Jews went to their deaths in Nazi concentration camps.

Throughout the trial, white-haired Wolff denied knowledge of the Nazi program of the extermination of the Jews.

The prosecution charged that Wolff belonged to the Nazi brain trust that planned the extermination of Jews.

The prosecution had demanded life imprisonment for Wolff, since capital punishment was abandoned in West Germany in 1949.

The defence asked that Wolff be acquitted. Wolff claimed it was only after the war that he

STOLEN POISON COULD KILL THOUSANDS

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Urgent warnings from the Swedish police were broadcast today following theft of enough poison to kill at least 25,000 persons.

Burglars took more than two pounds of pilocarpini hydrochloridum after breaking into a pharmaceutical laboratory at Sundsvall, 190 miles north of here.

The poison works on the nerve system. In crystallized and water-solvable form it is used mainly for making eye-drops to treat glaucoma, an eye disease that leads to blindness.

It was believed the thieves were after narcotics.

ARMS DEAL SIGNED

'No Strings' On Soviet Aid To Cyprus

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union has granted Cyprus "no strings attached" military aid, Greek-Cypriot Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou said today.

Kyprianou told newsmen he signed a "completely satisfactory" pact with the Russians this afternoon. He declined to give details.

Earlier, at another reception, Greek-Cypriot Commerce and Industry Minister Andreas Araouzos told newsmen the agreement—on which he did the bulk of the negotiating—also included economic aid. However, Kyprianou said later the pact was limited to military aid.

"There were no strings attached and no conditions whatsoever," Kyprianou said at a Cyprus embassy reception.

SATISFIED

"We are completely satisfied with the outcome of our talks here and with the agreement we have reached," he said.

"We also have the complete support of the Soviet Union on the political aspects of the Cyprus problem."

The foreign minister declined to comment on reports from authoritative sources the agreement involved shipping Russian anti-aircraft weapons to Cyprus.

Diplomatic sources said under the pact no Soviet instructors would be sent to Cyprus and no Greek Cypriot trainees would come to the Soviet Union.

Families Evacuated

HAVANA (Reuters)—More than 500 families have been evacuated from their homes in Pinar Del Rio province, western Cuba, following torrential rains caused by tropical storm Hilda, the Cuban press reported today.

FLOODED DRIVEWAY drain this morning forced Mrs. Leona Cox, 1099 Tolmie Avenue, to use broom when storm drain was blocked in front of her house. She was awakened by police at 4:45 a.m. as water overflowed gutters on both sides of road and reached a depth of two feet. Water also threatened bakery at Tolmie and Quadra, but damage was averted by city works crews.

NUCLEAR FIELD ENTRY SOON, SAYS U.S.

Atomic Blast by Chinese Could Come on Thursday

WASHINGTON (CP-AP)—The United States says China may explode its first atomic bomb at any time, probably above ground, and one guess was that the blast could come Thursday.

Thursday is Peking's 15th anniversary of the overthrow by the Communists of Chiang Kai-shek's government, and Washington guessed the timing of China's nuclear debut might come on that day.

This guess is based on the Communists' penchant for unveiling new developments on their anniversaries. Other estimates range into 1965.

While eventual Chinese success in building an atomic bomb has been predicted for years, a statement by State Secretary Dean Rusk Tuesday disclosed a recent conclusion by U.S. strategists that Peking's preparations have reached the point where it can fire its nuclear device at any time.

U.S. sources declined to specify what new intelligence data has convinced them that the Chinese have arrived at the edge of an atomic blast.

NEWS NOT SURPRISING

"The United States," he added, "has fully anticipated the possibility of Peking's entry into the nuclear weapons field and has taken it into full account in determining our military posture and our own nuclear weapons program."

U.S. sources made these points:

—The initial nuclear test would still leave her a long way to go before achieving a first-class nuclear arsenal.

Real Strike Power Many Years Away

LONDON (UPI)—Ten or 15 years may elapse before Communist China acquires real nuclear striking power, even if it makes its first test blast soon, authoritative sources said today.

The sources, commenting on U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk's announcement that Peking may soon get atomic capability, said it lacks the industrial potential to produce stockpiles of weapons and delivery systems. They said it may be 1975 or 1980 before it can do so.

Rusk's statement came as no surprise in Asia and the Soviet Union. In the far east, Japanese, Nationalist Chinese and U.S. scientists long have been prepared to monitor the shock waves of Peking's first blast.

U.S. electronic and seismographic instruments are deployed around the rim of China in stations on Formosa, Okinawa, and in Japan. U.S. planes equipped with long-range radar and other devices whose nature is secret fly up and down the China coast, almost 24 hours a day.

The Soviet Union was not surprised because its scientists helped China get its start in nuclear research, although the Sino-Soviet quarrel caused the program to end in 1959.

No Military Significance, Bundy Says

TOKYO (AP)—A nuclear test explosion by China at this time would have no military significance and therefore should have little psychological or propaganda effect in Asia, William Bundy, U.S. assistant secretary of state, said today.

"An initial explosion of this kind does not mean nuclear capability," Bundy told a news conference. "There is no evidence that Communist China has any effective nuclear weapons or any prospects for systems of delivery of nuclear weapons."

The most notable thing about China's nuclear program, Bundy said, is the fact it has not exploded a nuclear device before.

HURRICANE HILDA AIMS AT LOUISIANA

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The tropical storm Hilda emerged as a full-blown hurricane in the Gulf of Mexico today and pointed its 80-miles-per-hour winds toward the Louisiana coast.

The New Orleans weather bureau said at noon a check by spotter planes showed Hilda 450 miles south of Biloxi, Miss., and moving west-northwest about 10 miles an hour.

NDP HOPES SO

Vote Gamble May Pay Off

By FRANK RUTTER

The New Democratic Party is offering British Columbians a chance to gamble on the result of Britain's election.

But it's quite legal—according to the NDP, anyway.

It is a contest which the party hopes will raise enough money to pay off debts and obligations currently totalling $14,000.

The method is a raffle, although the NDP doesn't like to call it that.

Party members across the province are selling ball point pens for $1.

The public is being asked to contribute—"$1 for democracy."

With the pen comes a ticket on which the purchaser is invited to pick the number off seats each party will win in Britain's Oct. 15 vote.

The prize: A trip to London for the opening of the next parliament or $1,000 in cash.

The pens cost the NDP 7½ cents each and there are 14,000 of them.

BUSINESS SLOW

So far business has been slow, said Ernest Hall, provincial party secretary.

But the total outlay will be only $2,050 for pens and prize and the NDP hopes for "a fairly handsome return," he added.

The NDP owes $8,500 to general creditors.

In addition the party owes itself $6,000 for rent of its own offices and $2,500 borrowed from the memorial fund for the late Revelstoke MLA, George Hobbs.

Is the contest legal?

"Eight lawyers would give you eight different answers," said Mr. Hall.

"And that's exactly what happened."

However, tickets are worded carefully and were approved by NDP lawyers, he said.

Technically the ticket is incidental to sale of the pen, the NDP feels.

Mr. Hall said that if there is a tie among contestants, they will be asked a political question to decide the winner.

What happens if a Socred wins?

"Well we have a sense of humor," said Mr. Hall.

MRS. SOKOLOV
. . . spy trial

'Stolen Names' Come Back to Plague Pair

NEW YORK (AP) — Four Americans who suffered a theft of their identities were listed Tuesday as government witnesses at the Brooklyn spy trial of a Russian couple who used their names.

Selection of a jury for the life-or-death trial of the defendants, Alexandre Sokolov, 40, and his wife, 34, got under way midway through the hearing's second day.

A list of 200 prospective government witnesses read in court included Rev. Robert K. Baltch, a Roman Catholic priest from Amsterdam, N.Y., and Joy Ann Garber, now Mrs. Robert Seskin, of Norfolk, Conn.

The Sokolovs borrowed the names of Father Baltch and Miss Garber, the government claims, to cloak their real identity, and without the knowledge of the two Americans.

Also listed as potential witnesses were James Oliver Jackson and his wife, Bertha Rosalie Jackson, of Lubbock, Tex. The Sokolovs carried passports made out in their names.

PASS SECRETS CHARGE

The Sokolovs are accused of conspiring to pass U.S. defence secrets to Moscow over a period of six years. If convicted, they face a maximum penalty of death.

A mysterious Soviet spy who turned counter - agent for the U.S. government is considered the key witness in the case. He is a Finn, Kaarlo R. Tuomi, 45, a veteran of 25 years in the Russian espionage apparatus. The government has said he is prepared to testify from "the horse's mouth."

The Sokolovs were arrested July 2, 1963, at their Washington apartment, where authorities claim to have seized short-wave radios, codes and ciphers, electronic recording equipment and elaborate photographic gear.

Seized at the same time in a New York apartment were Ivan D. Egorov, 42, a Russian United Nations personnel officer, and his wife, Aleksandra, 40. They subsequently were returned to Moscow in a trade for two Americans imprisoned in the Soviet Union.

60,000 U.S. Dockers Go on Strike Tonight

NEW YORK (UPI)—Union negotiators today rejected a proposal designed to end the bargaining stalemate between shippers and longshoremen.

A walkout by 60,000 East and Gulf Coast dock workers set for midnight tonight appears almost inevitable, the union said.

"It looks very, very bad," a union spokesman said.

A strike would tie up ports from Maine to Texas and idle some 20,000 seamen and about 10,000 truckers in addition to the longshoremen.

Minister in Furore Over Article on Sex

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP) — Rev. Gerald Paul, centre of a church and campus controversy because of an essay on sex relations he wrote for students, said today he does not condone premarital sex as his critics claim.

"I do not condone premarital sex. I never have and I never will," said the United Church minister, who is sponsored by the United, Anglican and Presbyterian Churches as interdenominational chaplain at Carleton University, Ottawa.

Mr. Paul, a former North Bay minister who was here on his way to his father's funeral at nearby Powassan, said he wrote the article in a controversial manner deliberately "in order to get the students concerned about a very serious subject."

"The closing paragraphs of the article made it very clear that premarital relations are wrong," he added.

A committee of ministers sponsoring Mr. Paul as chaplain was to meet and discuss the article.

Mr. Paul said his article has been wrongly interpreted as condoning premarital sex — when he meant to say the opposite—partly on the basis of the heading on the article: Premarital sex can be O.K.

In Toronto, Dr. E. M. Howse, moderator of the United Church of Canada, said he nad not seen the complete article but "on the basis of the portion of the text I have seen in the newspapers I would have to disagree with Mr. Paul."

Dr. Howse referred specifically to a passage from the Paul article which said:

"Unless we are sure that the contemplated sexual union will contribute to the growth of the other person, we leave it alone. Only if we are certain the sexual relationship will help more than harm our partner (in the long run as well as in the immediate encounter) will we be justified in premartial sex."

Dr. Howse said the last part of that passage would leave Mr. Paul open to the interpretation that he would condone premarital sex.

He added that he knows Mr. Paul and "I would be greatly surprised if that represents his ideas completely."

Wrangle Goes To the Courts

The provincial government is going to fight Ottawa in the courts over $8 a day.

In dispute is the custody of convicts appealing their sentences to federal penitentiaries.

A cabinet order today referred the matter to the Supreme Court of B.C. for a ruling.

Neither B.C. nor Ottawa want to take care of the prisoners while their appeals are under consideration.

The federal government will not admit convicts to its penitentiaries until the appeals are settled.

This has meant that B.C. had to foot the $8-a-day bill for keeping them in provincial custody at Oakalla Jail.

But—on Sept. 15 Attorney-General Robert Bonner ordered Oakalla not to accept federal prisoners.

Those now awaiting appeals are being temporarily held in municipal and RCMP cells.

The cabinet order says the province is uncertain of its authority to care for them.

So a test case has been submitted to the court and Chief Justice J. O. Wilson has been asked to appoint a judge to decide it.

The test case concerns James William Ash of Dawson Creek, convicted Sept. 14 of indecent assault and sentenced to two years.

He has appealed and is now in Vancouver City Jail.

Four Officer Cadets Brutally Assaulted

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Four officer cadets were brutally attacked by three men in Montreal early Sunday, two of them suffering head injuries, Royal Military College said Tuesday.

The RMC said Gerald G. Mark, 19, of Winnipeg suffered a fractured skull; David McCartney, 21, of Ottawa suffered a fractured cheek bone and Irwin Sippert of Toronto and Samuel Lipin of Deep River, Ont., suffered minor injuries in the scuffle in east-end Montreal.

learned that Jews had been murdered by the Nazis.

To the specific charge that he helped in the deportation of 300,000 Jews from Warsaw's ghetto to extermination camps in Poland, Wolff replied that he believed the Jews were removed only for resettlement.

The former Nazi officer was visibly pale as he stood ram-rod straight in court as the judge read out the verdict.

Wolff had achieved fame for his secret negotiations with the Allies to arrange the surender of German forces in Italy.

He was a prosecution witness at the Nuernberg war crimes trials after the war, but was kept under arrest for about four years in Italy, Nuernberg, London and elsewhere.

In 1949, a Hamburg denazification tribunal sentenced him to four years in prison but he was released in view of the time he already had spent in custody.

In January, 1962, the Germans arrested him once more and kept him in pre-trial confinement until his trial opened last July 13.

Bomb Presents New U.S. Risks

Expected N-Blast By Chinese Could Extend War In Viet Nam

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The expected explosion of a nuclear test bomb by China threatens new risks and difficulties for the United States in trying to keep the war in South Viet Nam in bounds and eventually to win a limited victory here.

The chief risk is that Chinese triumph in the nuclear field may make it much more difficult for the United States to persuade China and North Viet Nam that they can't win in South Viet Nam and will have to pay an increasing cost to keep the war going.

The United States is confronted by two overriding problems in South Viet Nam at the present time.

The most immediate and potentially the most dangerous problem is preventing a political collapse in the country which has been rocked by a series of government crises during the last 11 months.

The present U.S. answer to this problem is to provide all-out support to Premier Nguyen Khanh in the hope that he will prove capable of guiding his divided and embattled people through the present government crisis.

A broad outline of U.S. policy was given Tuesday in a speech in Tokyo by Assistant State Secretary William P. Bundy who is on a visit to Japan and Korea. Bundy is one of the officials directly responsible for U.S. policy in Southeast Asia.

"We do not aim at overthrowing the Communist regime of North Viet Nam," Bundy said, "but rather in inducing it to call off the war it directs and supports in South Viet Nam."

'COULD BE FORCED'

Bundy also said that expansion of the war beyond South Viet Nam is not a course of action which the United States wants but one which "could be forced upon us by the increased external pressures of the Communists," including a rising scale of infiltration.

As for the larger questions of how to try to bring the war to a conclusion, no major U.S. policy changes are expected until after the November election.

The key to such possible changes lies in Bundy's statement that the United States seeks to "induce" the Communists to stop the war in South Viet Nam. It is in this sense that the United States aims at a limited victory in the conflict.

The only apparent answer to the problem of how to induce the North Vietnamese and Chinese to call off their support for the guerrillas operating in South Viet Nam lies in putting them under actual or threatened military pressures from U.S. power.

China's explosion of a nuclear test device would not change the military balance which exists in Southeast Asia. The Chinese Communists are a good many years away from becoming a true nuclear power in the judgment of the best informed authorities here.

But the mere achievement of a nuclear explosion could engender a cocky, confident attitude on the part of the Communist leadership which would make them much harder to "induce" to call off their support for the guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

IWA Revolt Quelled By Leader

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jack Moore, regional president of the International Woodworkers of America (CLC), quelled a revolt within his regional caucus Tuesday night and selected a slate of officers to be proposed later today.

Jack Holst, a second vice-president, unexpectedly ran against Moore for the caucus presidential nomination, but in a later vote it was reported that Holst was defeated by Moore.

Earlier Tuesday at the IWA convention, a battle expected between two factions failed to materialize.

Instead, the group led by Moore and that headed by Syd Thompson, president of Vancouver Local 1-217, discussed amicably an apprenticeship training program that split the union earlier this year.

The training program was designed to upgrade the skills of millwrights. They would not be compelled to take written tests, but if they did, and passed, they would receive a certificate and extra pay.

Moore's regional council negotiated the program and Thompson's forces exploded, claiming the program should have been taken to a membership ballot first.

As criticism to the plan mounted, the program was shelved.

A resolution passed Tuesday brought the training program off the shelf and allows the union to renegotiate the plan with provisions that the tests be conducted by the provincial labor department.

LBJ Plans Europe Visit If Elected

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, if elected, hopes to go to Europe in November or December to meet with leaders and representatives of the 14 other NATO countries.

Looking further to the future, Johnson expects to meet fairly soon with Soviet Premier Khrushchev, if the Soviet leader is willing. However, such a session, in Johnson's view, probably would not be held until 1965.

The president, it was learned today, is thinking in terms of an appearance either at the November meeting of NATO parliamentarians or at the December session of the NATO council. Both conferences will be held in Paris.

As for a Johnson-Khrushchev meeting, it was learned the president feels that sessions with leaders of Allied countries would have to come first.

NOT A SUMMIT

There is nothing to indicate that Johnson wants to turn either of the NATO meetings in Paris into a summit session involving the heads of member governments. Rather, he would address the assembled representatives of the nations and confer with them privately.

At the same time, it was believed likely that Johnson, during any trip to Europe, would seek individual meetings with some national leaders. He was known to be most anxious to meet with President de Gaulle of France, Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany and the Prime Minister of Britain.

Tougher Curriculum Faces High Schools

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

A revolution is being plotted for B.C. high schools.

It will begin in September, 1965.

To start with they are not high schools—but "senior secondary schools."

And the education department is working out an entirely new curriculum.

It is the newest step in a complete overhaul of the school system which began four years ago with the Chant Royal Commission.

New programs have been introduced year by year.

Next year Grades 11 and 12 are the target.

In many respects the new programs will be tougher than the old, says Education Minister Leslie Peterson.

But they are designed to provide special education for a far wider range of talents.

Mr. Peterson is outlining the details of the new programs in a series of articles for the B.C. Parent-Teacher magazine. One article has already appeared; several more are coming.

SIX PROGRAMS

The major theme of the new approach is "sense of purpose."

Mr. Peterson says there are three components: general education, vocational preparation and an opportunity for students to cultivate special interests.

There will be six programs, or streams, which students can follow: academic-technical, for university or institute of technology; commercial; industrial; community services; arts; agriculture.

Not all the programs will be offered in all schools.

"Schools will choose from among them those most suitable to their resources and to the needs of students in their community," says Mr. Peterson.

The size of the school will be a factor as well.

All the programs will be broken down into four main parts: general courses; courses on the main theme of the program; special courses and elective courses.

There will be four general courses, English, social studies, guidance and physical education.

There will be three "program courses" in the academic-technical stream, two in the other main streams.

The special courses will delve deeper into specific aspects of whatever program the student takes.

The elective courses can be unlimited in number—depending on the needs and intelligence of the student.

Mr. Peterson says a student's time in school will be proportioned this way: three-sevenths on a specialty, two-sevenths on general courses, one-seventh on "program courses" and the remainder on electives.

Students will have to take a total of seven courses in each of their last two school years.

The old credit system will be thrown out, and in order to graduate a student will have to complete a full program.

WIDE AUTHORITY

However, some of the rigidity of the new plan will be relaxed by allowing school principals wide authority on deciding which programs students will take.

Mr. Peterson said failure in a single subject in the junior secondary level—Grades 8 to 10—will not necessarily force a student into any one program,

Political Risks in Trade

A STRONG HINT THAT SOVIET Russia is preparing to get down to hard bargaining with Canada over trade matters is given in an article in the magazine Soviet Union Today which is distributed by the Russian Embassy in Ottawa.

The article, by Dr. Erik Pletnyov, a leading economist in the U.S.S.R.'s Institute of International Relations, warns that Russia may be forced to cut back on Canadian imports because the present trade arrangement between the two countries "lacks a solid foundation."

Dr. Pletnyov goes beyond the usual complaint that Russia is buying much more from Canada than it is selling here (75 times as much in 1963 due to massive wheat sales) and insists that long-term credits will have to be granted if any significant amount of trade is to be continued.

What the Soviet Union has in mind, according to the article, is credit terms extending over from 10 to 15 years—a request which is sure to raise eyebrows in Ottawa. Until the wheat deal last year Russian purchases in Canada were on a cash basis. The wheat sale agreement provided for 25 per cent cash with the balance payable within 18 months.

An indication that the Russians were, perhaps, preparing a campaign for long-term credits may be seen in the fact that they didn't use their credit to buy wheat but paid for it on delivery. This could have been intended to build their reputation as prompt payers.

In the normal course of events there would be no difficulty in granting long-term credits to a country as populous and rich in resources as the Soviet Union. The trouble, of course, is political. There is always the possibility that when the present Soviet regime ends its run—which could happen anytime for a variety of reasons — a new group may take power and radically alter the trade situation. A new Stalin, for instance, might think nothing of repudiating debts owed to a capitalistic country if he found them burdensome.

On the other hand, the clever traders of Britain and Europe have been moving rapidly to the conclusion that the risk inherent in granting long-term credits to Communist countries must be undertaken if the commercial possibilities of the market are to be exploited.

Britain, for instance, until recently held to a rule of giving only five years' credit to Russia and other East European countries but has now accepted 10 and 15-year terms in order to sell huge chemical and textile factories. Other Western European countries are moving the same way as Britain and they argue that the danger of the Communists defaulting on their debts is diminished by a growing Soviet dependence on world trade.

Dr. Pletnyov's article in the official Soviet magazine aimed at Canada makes it clear that a decision must soon be taken here on trade credits. There are few items imported by Russia from Canada which could not be supplied by some other country which might be more accommodating in the matter of credits. If Canada is not willing to take the risk and, as Dr. Pletnyov expressed it, "open new possibilities for economic co-operation and additional benefits, which are hard to define at this moment," then some other country no doubt will.

The Resident's View

THE CONCERN OF OAK BAY residents about what is to be built on the seaward side of Beach Drive is understandable. They enjoy one of the finest municipal settings in Canada, and since much of the beauty of their environment consists of the magnificent view of the Strait, they are rightly worried about proposals to place construction in front of their seascape.

There are, of course, already a number of large homes which have been erected in past years, and one large hotel building. The problem now is to hold the line, in these days when a new appreciation of municipal planning is awakening the public to the possibilities of controlling its living environment.

Much of the fear of zoning changes which would permit new construction is rightly rooted in the belief that a precedent would be established which would open the way to still further exceptions. This was the case in the recent application for rezoning which would permit a large subdivision to be created near the Dean Park area on Saanich Peninsula. It is also in the background of opposition to the current application for rezoning to permit construction of an apartment building south of the Oak Bay Beach Hotel.

The conflict in most of these cases is obvious. Private enterprise sees an opportunity for investment which requires the best location that can be obtained. In many instances implementation of the plan will mean that public access to an area, or public enjoyment of a view, will be restricted. The problem is to decide which interest shall prevail. In a community which has been superbly blessed by nature and which intends to preserve its natural amenities for its own residents and the attraction of visitors, there normally can be only one logical answer.

That answer is not always given. The growing "palisade" of high-rise apartments along the Dallas Road waterfront and the Douglas Street border of Beacon Hill Park may be fine for the interests concerned, but the program does nothing for the viewless hinterland in the lee of the high buildings. Whether the ultimate result in terms of tax revenue will be to the advantage of the community is open to argument. In any case, tax revenue cannot be the last word in any such argument. Revenue from taxes can be a very expensive type of income if in achieving it the living environment is spoiled for a neighborhood.

A community environment is not only a place in which to work but also a place in which to live. Too great a concession to commercialism—by permitting unwise building, by short-sighted planning or no planning at all, by even such things as a business district sign policy that destroys the beauty of the streets—can spoil a community as a place to live. And then what have we gained?

A Harp and An Auto Horn

WHEN HE PUBLISHED HIS book "Harpo Speaks" not so long ago, the silent member of the madcap Marx film family let it be known that his health was uncertain, and also that he had great difficulty in trying to follow the doctor's injunction on inactivity.

Now the comedian who built fame and fortune with a harp, a ragged blond wig, ludicrous grimaces, a perpetual chase of beautiful blondes and who used an old-fashioned automobile horn on a stick for communication, is dead.

Harpo knew that the world loved him, his crazy humor, his often brilliant and frequently vulgar pantomime. According to his book, he loved to perform.

Film-going millions felt they had found something new in the marvelous clown and his brothers, argued loudly over the merit of his musicianship with the classical instrument, and laughed till their sides ached.

The story of the family of brothers, driven by their indomitable mother to stardom and sustained by their gentle father, is familiar. They came up the hard way through work, experiment and natural talent.

Perhaps Harpo, more than any of them, has left a legacy of happy memories, a merry madness that even in retrospect produces its smiles.

No More Between Earth and Sky

THE OTHER DAY HI GH-rigger Leslie Nehaj topped a 200-foot tree 75 feet from its tip, in the Nanaimo Lakes district, returned to the ground and expressed the conviction that it was one of the last he would be topping.

His craft is dying. The steel column and modern equipment are taking the place of the old spar tree in modern logging because it is more efficient and more economical.

So goes one of the glamor jobs of the industry. The man who worked between earth and sky in a trade demanding skill, nerve, strength and a certain flair sees progress removing the reason for his profession.

Yet to those who have known the woods the change will create a sense of loss—a sentiment to share with the old sailor who saw the passing of the windjammer and no further need for men aloft in the rigging.

FROM OTTAWA — By MAURICE WESTERN

A Bumpy Road for the Railway Bill

THERE was a deceptive calm about the debate on the resolution preceding Bill C-120, the measure through which the government proposes to implement the report of the MacPherson commission on transportation. Indications are that this extremely important legislation will have a stormy passage through the House of Commons.

Western

The Conservatives, who appointed the royal commission, are at least as fervent as the Liberals in endorsing the principles enunciated by Mr. MacPherson and his colleagues. But the commissioners were primarily concerned with setting out a general philosophy of transportation (the attainment of the most efficient possible system through free competition among the various modes) and guidelines for future policy.

While many of their proposals were specific, others were merely suggestive and it has been obvious for a long time that the manner of implementing such sweeping changes was bound to be controversial.

No Detail

When the commissioners spoke of "railway rationalization," they undoubtedly contemplated a large scale abandonment of uneconomic lines although they deliberately avoided any detailed examination of the existing system. If the railways were to achieve competitive efficiency, the state to be relieved of unending subsidies and areas such as Western Canada of the burden of periodic horizontal freight rate increases, it was the opinion of the commissioners that the railways must not only be permitted but actively encouraged to rid themselves of many low density lines.

But rationalization is a much wider term than abandonment. It may, for example, mean the imposition of a more orderly pattern on the sometimes curious clusterings of competing branch lines on the western prairies. This, in all probability, will be the basis of a great deal, perhaps most, of the criticism which Mr. Pickersgill will have to face when Bill C-120 comes up for second reading.

The bill sets up a branch line rationalization authority but fails, in the view of some critics, to endow it with adequate powers. For one thing, applications may still go directly to the board of transport commissioners in certain cases.

Normally, the authority will receive applications, determine that they conform with prescribed rules and regulations, and pass them on to the board, which will then determine whether the branch line in question is economic or uneconomic. If the latter, the authority after public hearings will fix a date for abandonment.

May Direct Stay

It may, however, with the approval of the minister of agriculture, direct a stay if, in the absence of any practicable alternative means of transportation for the immediate future, the public interest requires continued operation.

There is another power in the authority. It may recommend to railway companies the exchange of branch lines by lease, purchase or otherwise; the giving or exchanging between companies of operating or running rights over branch or other lines of the railways; or it may suggest the interconnection of a line of one company with that of another to create an economic system.

Such forms of rationalization have had much appeal in the West. Generally, it has been argued that while a line examined in isolation according to the narrow reckoning of the board may be shown to be uneconomic, the same line or parts of it would be a paying proposition if linked to other systems. This type of solution would also, of course, reduce the drain on the treasury through payment of subsidies.

There is likely to be criticism of the present legislation on the ground that the clause providing for such a recommendation is purely permissive and that the authority is in no position either to enforce its view or through any inducement to secure its adoption.

A good argument may be made out for the examination of lines, not in isolation, but in a wider context. It would be very difficult, however, to justify any power of edict by reference to the MacPherson report.

Authority for Railways

Certainly the commissioners were emphatic in recommending (Vol. 2, page 144) "that nothing in the procedure outlined for the abandonment of unprofitable lines should in any way inhibit railways from seeking to abandon profitable parts of their system should they desire to do so. It may well be that the detailed net revenue position could be improved by this means where essentially duplicate facilities exist."

This is the less surprising when one relates it to the basic philosophy of the commissioners. At page 124 of the same volume is this significant paragraph:

"Management of rail facilities is the responsibility of the rail company, be it privately or publicly owned. Within the framework of government regulations, management must be free to manage. The responsibility must be theirs to initiate the removal of unprofitable segments of their business, to streamline their operations, to reduce costs and to initiate new facilities to meet the needs of the shipping public. No one else can do this for them and no one else should try to do so. That management must do the managing is an elementary principle, the acceptance of which, we believe, is vital to the achievement of an efficient rail transport system in Canada."

No Malaysian Will Trust Sukarno

THE joint recommendation of President Sukarno and President Ayub Khan that the dispute between Malaysia and Indonesia should be referred to an Afro-Asian Conciliation Commission has been greeted with shrugs and wry smiles in Kuala Lumpur.

Tengku Abdul Rahman, the Malaysian Prime Minister, said that he would naturally welcome any efforts by the Afro-Asian countries to mediate. But Sukarno "must convince me he sincerely wants peace." And he added: "I cannot always attend talks whenever President Sukarno feels like taking a holiday."

The Malaysians have learned from bitter experience that such recommendations must be dissected and examined. And they believe they know what they will find. One half consists of a laudable desire on the part of some third party to end the uneven struggle between 103 million Indonesians and some 11 million Malaysians who "threaten them with encirclement." The other half is rotten with Sukarno's ill-will towards the young Commonwealth federation. The Malaysians contend that good intentions will achieve nothing in the face of this bad faith.

One year of harsh history taught this lesson. In August, 1963, Sukarno, the Tengku, and President Macapagal of the Philippines met in Manila. Indonesia had already objected vociferously to the plan for associating the North Borneo territories of Sabah and Sarawak with Singapore and Malaya in a new federation to be called "Malaysia." But it was now agreed that if representatives of the United Nations Secretary-General satisfied themselves on the spot that the majority of their peoples wanted Malaysia, Sukarno (and Macapagal) would accept their ruling.

Repudiation

The UN team duly found in favor of Malaysia. But Sukarno rejected U Thant's report, dismissed the UN's competence with a few harsh words, and redoubled his "confrontation"—the organization of political, economic and military menace against Malaysia which he had started after even earlier "conciliatory" talks with the Tengku in Tokyo.

Armed terrorists drawn straight from the ranks of the regular Indonesian Army were seconded to units of "North Borneo volunteers" and infiltrated across the border of Indonesian Borneo into Sabah and Sarawak to burn, kill and sow panic.

In January, 1964, the doubtless well-meant efforts of America's Mr. Robert Kennedy led to a travesty of a ceasefire which the Indonesians used to maintain and reinforce their guerrillas, and then quickly broke. In February, Indonesian and Malaysian Ministers met in Bangkok. The truce was reaffirmed but Sukarno refused to withdraw his terrorists. The ceasefire was buried without ceremony.

In June the Tengku again saw Sukarno in Tokyo, after the Indonesian President had finally agreed to start pulling his armed thugs out of Sarawak and Sabah. The Indonesians recalled precisely 32 out of about 300 men operating in Sarawak alone, claiming they were not interlopers but "freedom fighters." When the Tengku demanded that all hostile acts cease as a prelude to further negotiation, Sukarno refused to commit himself. Macapagal's face-saving proposal that a four-nation Afro-Asian Conciliation Commission should be invited to seek a peaceful settlement of the feud was then adopted with the enthusiasm of a family welcoming the birth of a paralytic.

Three Objectives

Malaysian officials say Sukarno has three objects when he agrees to discussions. The first is to impress upon the world that he is an accommodating peace-lover and the victim of Malaysian intransigence. He went to the second Tokyo talks a full week before the Tengku was due, and while he indulged his predilection for Japanese female society, his aides were able to spread their hands and cry plaintively, "we are ready to settle everything in a friendly way, but we are still waiting to see if the Tengku comes at all."

His second object is to legalize at the conference table the gains he has achieved by illicit violence. Evevry conference has failed because while the Malaysians insist that the Indonesian guerrillas must first be removed from their sovereign territory, Sukarno attempts to negotiate from the position that their position is justified, and that their withdrawal must therefore be matched by further concessions from the other side.

Since his purpose is to weaken and then destroy Malaysia, this means that the armed nocturnal killer demands that the house he has broken into be destroyed—as his price for leaving it.

These were the tactics that led up to the events of the past six weeks, during which the Indonesians landed some 200 terrorists by sea and air on the peninsula of Malaya itself. This time world opinion proved less naive, however, and in the Security Council nine countries out of 11 favored a Norwegian resolution that amounted to a censure of Djakarta's aggression.

Among the nine were Morocco and the Ivory Coast, two countries from the Afro-Asian group whose adulation Sukarno regards as a major political necessity, and for him their defection casts a shadow across the forthcoming Cairo conference of non-aligned nations. His call for an Afro-Asian conciliation commission is an obvious ploy to restore his damaged image.

The proposal is not new, but dates back to the last Tokyo summit. Malaysia is also not impressed by the fact that it was put forward jointly by the Indonesian and Pakistani presidents. In the fight for mastery of the uncommitted continents, Indonesia, Communist China and Pakistan are roughly ranged on the same side. India and Malaysia are on the other.

Even as the Rawalpindi joint communique is published, a gang of Indonesian terrorists crosses into Sarawak and butchers a woman and a man working quietly in the rice fields. The prospects of anyone here trusting Sukarno are microscopic. Without that trust, it is felt, any attempt at mediation is welcome but doomed.

If Labor Loses Again

THE future of Britain's Labor Party is in the balance. If it is defeated in the general election on October 15 it is difficult to see it surviving another five years of opposition as an effective political movement. And all the bitter divisions that have stultified the party during the last 13 years—years in which the Conservative Party has been in power—would be renewed, perhaps in an intensified form. The whole issue of the party's link with the trades unions would be resurrected.

Even if the party could survive these domestic quarrels, could it survive the almost inevitable loss of its ablest people, which would follow a fourth successive defeat? As it is, there are more distinguished ex-Labor ministers outside the parliamentary party than within it—Lord Shawcross, Mr. John Freeman and Lord Robens.

The prospect of yet another five years of frustrating opposition might well send other leading members of the Labor Party in search of careers outside politics. Almost inevitably, these would include the youngest and ablest—so leaving the party looking even more ageing than it does at present. Equally important, it might prove difficult to recruit young talent.

Canadian Example

This, certainly, has been the pattern in both Canada and the U.S. The feebleness of the Conservative Government of Mr. Diefenbaker was largely the result of the years spent in the wilderness while the Liberals ruled Canada. Again, when General Eisenhower became President after 20 years of Democratic government, one of his great difficulties was to scrape up men of sufficient calibre to staff the Republican administration.

But almost as important as the effect of the Labor Party itself of yet another defeat, might be the effect on the Conservative Party of yet another victory. Inevitably, this would strengthen the trend, already apparent in the last few years, towards conducting the really crucial political arguments within the body of the Conservative Party, rather than between the Tories and the Labor Party.

This, for instance, was quite clear in the case of the Common Market debate—perhaps the most crucial debate in British post-war politics.

Indeed, the differences between the Left and the Right wings of the Conservative Party are probably sharper than between Conservative and Labor moderates. Mr. Heath and Mr. Maudling probably have less in common with those of their backbenchers who opposed the Common Market and the abolition of retail price maintenance than they have with such Socialists as Mr. Roy Jenkins and Mr. Anthony Crosland.

Shotgun Marriage

On the other hand, the Labor Party might well be driven into seeking some kind of alliance with the Liberals. In doing so, both would have to shed some of their remaining ideological dogma—the Liberals ridding themselves of 19th-century Gladstonian economics and Labor abandoning 19th-century Marxism.

The Conservatives, too, might increasingly come under the influence of the administrators. The curious alliance of the traditional born-to-rule Conservatives (like Sir Alec Douglas-Home) and of the brilliant technocrats (like Mr. Heath), who can tell them how to stay in power by running the country efficiently, might become a permanent character of the Conservative Party.

The result would be that the permanent party of Government (Conservative) and the permanent party of Opposition (Liberal-Labor, perhaps) would increasingly come to look like identical twins. Our politicians would increasingly look like two rival teams of efficiency experts—with the main difference being that while one lot governed the other simply barracked.

Despite energetic propaganda, the British system of two-party democracy has proved difficult to transplant. It may well be that even in its country of origin it could prove difficult to keep alive, now that the circumstances which gave it birth are changing.

BETWEEN OURSELVES

By Elizabeth Forbes

We call ourselves a civilized country. We boast of the strides we have made in the care and protection of children since the days of foundling homes and child labor abuses.

We give family allowances and unemployment insurance to ensure that Canadian children do not starve.

We do this, then turn our backs and go about our own business, seemingly with full trust that officialdom will see that parents abide by the rules and obey the laws.

Officialdom, however, appears to have its hands tied.

If this was untrue, we would not read in our newspapers, as it was possible to do recently, that in Ontario, a province that prides itself on its progress and well-being, 2,000 children are brutally beaten by their parents each year and that last year 20 infants were killed by such abuse.

The report also says that while this number is known, there is every reason to believe that many more babies suffered, and some died, from ill-treatment.

Does it make you shudder? Do you gasp as you visualize a helpless child with broken bones and purple bruises, caused through brutality of a mother or a father—sometimes both?

National Problem

The report in question also hints that just as many infants and young children are abused—and die from such abuse—in other provinces in Canada.

That brings it much nearer home.

Laws as they exist at present make it almost impossible to drag such abuses into the light and punish the offenders.

Parents, callous and depraved enough to continually abuse their little ones, while accepting family allowance presumably to assist in their care, also have the cunning to cover up and minimize these abuses.

They lie. They squirm. They wiggle out of responsibility for the act.

After all, who is to contradict them? The victims can't talk and outsiders rarely see such attacks.

Doctors and nurses, while they may suspect or even be aware of the truth cannot accuse if they have no proof that will hold up in court.

Social workers are in much the same position. They go into the home and they see what instinct tells them, is abuse.

But, if there is no tangible evidence, they can do little or nothing.

It seems to me the time has come for groups that did so much in the past to improve laws affecting women and children to tackle this problem with energy and strength.

Study Needed

First, a study is needed to find the causes out of which such cruelty comes.

Then, new laws need to be written, or teeth put into existing laws, to present brutal treatment of babies and small children as a major crime against society.

And, to allow evidence of such brutality, given by qualified personnel, to be considered on its merits and without fear of recrimination.

National Council of Women, formed in Canada almost 70 years ago to better conditions for women and children, could spearhead such a movement through its local councils and many affiliate organizations.

Every men's and women's group that recognizes service as one of its aims could join in.

There isn't a person with a conscience who doesn't acknowledge the right of little children to live and be loved. There isn't a person with a conscience who wouldn't fight to save a child from abuse.

Perhaps, working together, they would be able to drag this appalling condition into the open.

Surely there must be a way! Let's find it!

NATURE ON THE ISLAND — By CLIFF CARL

Pelicans Are Native to Province

A visitation of pelicans to local areas last week was a surprise to many people who saw them and a reminder that these exotic-looking birds are indeed native to British Columbia.

Carl

True, they are not regularly seen in this part of the province since their normal route of travel is east of the coastal mountains. However, in the Okanagan Valley it is not uncommon to see these birds each spring or fall on migration, either flying in formation or resting for a day or two on Okanagan Lake.

White pelicans nest over a wide range in Western and Central North America, north from California and Utah to the Northwest Territories and across Canada to Manitoba, but in British Columbia the only known breeding colonies are at Stum Lake, north of Alexis Creek, in the Chilcotin country.

Wander Westward

Since the birds winter in California, Southern Arizona and in the Great Basin, their movement north to the nesting area brings the western contingent into the Okanagan Valley through which they funnel, but when they leave the Chilcotin in the fall some of them wander westward through the various mountain passes to the sea and then southward along the coast to their wintering grounds. These are the birds which we occasionally see around Southern Vancouver Island at this season.

A pelican is unmistakable. The only other large white bird which it might be confused with here is a swan but the over-large bill and the black primary feathers on the wings identify the pelican immediately.

On the water it carries its long bill tucked in close to the body except when it is used as a dip net for catching fish and in flight it is in much the same position, giving the bird a distinctive silhouette when viewed from the side.

The pouch is not particularly noticeable. Actually this structure is expanded only when the bird is scooping up fish and captured fish are not carried in the pouch but are swallowed. The food may be regurgitated later if required for feeding young.

The pelican is one of our largest birds with a wingspread exceeding nine feet and a body weight of about 25 pounds. It is a strong flyer, cleaving the air with a series of slow, powerful beats, followed by short glides, and the rhythm is usually set by the leader when they are flying in formation.

Most times they give one the impression that air travel is serious business but, when courting, pelicans indulge in aerial acrobatics which are surprising for such a large and solemn-looking bird.

Nest In Colonies

Nesting is always in colonies and always on islands in lakes, a habit which gives the birds some protection against ground predators. Two or three eggs are laid in a shallow depression on the ground and the young are fed by regurgitation. The adults feed entirely upon fish, capturing them by combined effort.

A line of birds swims slowly toward the shallows, sometimes beating the water with the wings to drive their prey toward the shore. When the harried fish begin to break the surface the birds scoop them up in the expanded pouch and then swallow them.

It is obvious that most of the fish taken are warm water schooling species, mostly course fish such as lake chub. Sport or commercially valuable fishes are seldom taken.

The number of pelicans spending their summers in this province is probably small and the population has probably not varied much during the last few decades. It seems likely, however, that as human settlements encroach more and more onto their breeding ground the birds will abandon them and we will lose a most interesting native species.

'Malicious Mischief' Blocks Bank Charters

TERRACE, B.C. (CP) — Real Caouette and his Quebec Creditistes are being prompted by Premier W. A. C. Bennett in "malicious mischief" to block Commons approval of two new bank charters, B.C. Liberal Leader Ray Perrault said Tuesday night.

"It would be difficult indeed to cite a worse example of pettifogging, destructive obstructionism than the sly efforts of Real Caouette and his Credistes," he told a political meeting here.

Passage of bills incorporating the Laurentide Bank in Vancouver and the Bank of Western Canada in Winnipeg has been held up in the Commons by the Creditistes until approval also is given to Mr. Bennett's Bank of B.C., Mr. Perrault said.

"The Creditiste blockade is the direct outcome of the premier's recent meeting with Creditiste house leader (Giles) Gregoire in Ottawa.

"The fact is Caouette is being prompted to this malicious mischief by the premier of this province, who is now determined to force the approval of his bank . . . on Bennett terms."

Economic Planning Pros, Cons, Argued

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Business Editor

WINNIPEG (CP) — John Deutsch, chairman of the Economic Council of Canada, said Tuesday it is unrealistic to expect private enterprise alone to be able to meet the economic aims of today's society.

He told the 35th annual meeting of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce government now is deeply involved in the economy of the country and it is not tenable to suggest private business by itself could take over the whole sphere of fulfilling society's wishes.

What is needed, he told the 800 delegates, is proper utilization of government policies which, with the market forces of private enterprise, may achieve the social aims.

Mr. Deutsch's address turned into a defence of the role of economic planning in today's economy after another speaker had sharply attacked it. F. S. Capon of Montreal, vice-president of Du Pont of Canada Ltd., told a panel discussion on economic planning outside planning and controls, by seeking to eliminate the forces of open market competition, destroy the very factors that made us prosperous."

FOSTER HIGH OUTPUT

Mr. Capon said the private enterprise system has proved it fosters high output and thus higher living standards than any other system ever devised.

"We must avoid the mediocrity and rigidity of the planned economy with its destruction of the very incentives that have made us great."

Mr. Deutsch, in his rebuttal, said there is general agreement on broad economic desires—high employment, an improving standard living, maintenance of reasonable stability of price levels, a viable balance of payments situation and for all Canadians to have a share in the higher living standards.

"I frankly doubt anyone can reasonably expect free market forces to achieve these aims without other considerations," he said.

Mr. Capon said people have been persuaded that the government can plan the economy and so keep them from want.

R. M. MacIntosh of Toronto, assistant general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, told the same panel planning should be only a rational attempt to apply foresight to economic problems.

He said, however, some quarters regard economic planning as nothing more than a device for "playing beggar-my-neighbor games among the provinces."

"We have seen a fair number of indications in nearly every province that regional planning can be turned into a weapon for the hot-house breeding of local protected industries at the expense of existing industries in other provinces.

"Sometimes the federal government itself seems to take the position that planning means the propping up of declining sectors of the economy."

Dr. J. Parizeau of l'Ecole des Etudes Commerciales in Montreal said there is a real danger lack of co-operation between Ottawa and the provincial government can reduce the planning techniques used.

Getting the support of labor unions in any comprehensive planning attempt is difficult, especially in Canada, he added.

Labor leaders feared a far-reaching plan necessarily involved wage controls and they were not ready to accept that.

Move to Change Indians' Status Unknown to Mike

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson Tuesday denied any knowledge of a meeting between federal and provincial government representatives to transfer jurisdiction over Indians to provincial governments.

Mr. Pearson initially told Erik Nielsen (PC—Yukon), that the question should be submitted in writing or made the subject of an adjournment debate.

But Opposition Leader Diefenbaker stepped into demand an answer. Were citizenship department officers meeting "at this moment" with provincial representatives to get the provinces to accept responsibility for Indians.

Mr. Pearson replied "not to my knowledge," adding that if Mr. Diefenbaker had advised him of the question in advance he might have been able to get more up to date information.

HOME GARDEN — By HILDA BEASTALL

Small Fry Should be Snug First

It is now planting time for so many things we want in our gardens that it is difficult to know where to start.

Perhaps a practical piece of advice would be to start with the smallest plants and the smallest bulbs. These would include small rock plants for instance which need to be well established before winter, and also the kinds of border perennials having rather shallow rooting systems.

Hilda

The smallest spring blooming bulbs, and the species bulbs for the rock garden, are the ones to get into the soil first. They tend to dry out more rapidly when out of the soil than the larger kinds. Crocuses, snowdrops and the like are all early blooming. They need to make their roots early.

The perennials should come next on the planting list. The fibrous roots of delphiniums, all kinds of daisy-type flowers, Coral-bells and similar things will become readily established in the warm soil.

Next will come the planting of small shrubs such as dwarf rhododendrons, heathers and other broadleaved evergreens having fibrous root balls. Large deciduous shrubs (those which lose their leaves), will be next on the planting list, while roses and fruit bushes will probably be ready for digging and replanting towards the end of the month.

It is often the end of October before the nurseries in this area can dig their fruit trees for the home gardener to plant, and it is in the interests of the gardener that he should wait. Far less shock is experienced by the trees when left undisturbed until their leaves are practically all off.

While small sized conifers in containers are like all other container-grown plants, ready for putting into the garden at any time, the larger sizes must wait a little if the soil is not in the right condition for digging.

WILLINGDON SCHOOL:

'THE LAST DITCH'

Group Homes Best Weapon In Fight Against Delinquency

BARRETT
. . . "waste of money"

In the course of pursuing a story on the handling of foster children, Miss Marge Gilroy found herself disturbed by reports of how wayward girls are handled at the Willingdon School for Girls in Burnaby. Miss Gilroy, who is a registered nurse turned newspaper woman, pursued the matter in talks with inmates, a visit to the school and discussions with welfare and adoption officials.

She has reported her findings in this five-part series. The final article follows.

By MARGE GILROY

Teen-age girls who reach the end of the line end up at the Willingdon School for Girls.

They may only need close supervision in a well-disciplined home, but the only home available to them is one of the brick cottages behind a wire fence in Burnaby.

Director of the Family and Children's Service Gordon Wright regards the school as a sort of "last ditch."

It is not adequate, but it is the only thing available at present, he said.

"It is like a cancer. We know there should be a cure, but in the meantime we are providing the best treatment we know how to give," he said.

When there is no group home available for the girls, and no foster home which can provide the supervision the girl needs, the agency recommends that the girl be sent to Willingdon.

"It is not the method of choice, but of necessity," said Mr. Wright.

The school provides an opportunity for the girl to mature under custodial care. Sometimes this alone allows the girl enough time in which to solve her problems.

WRIGHT
"necessity, not choice"

'Might Harm Herself and Others'

"If this girl had been allowed to mature in the community she might have harmed both herself and others," said Mr Wright.

"But no girl should ever go there if there are other community services available," he said.

There are girls in the school who are retarded and should be placed elsewhere, but there is nowhere else for them to go, Mr. Wright said.

And there are others who are real delinquents and need special care, not available at present in the community or at Willingdon.

Mr. Wright sees more group homes in each community as the best way to prevent girls from ever entering Willingdon.

"We haven't got the tools available to deal with delinquency," said Mr. Wright.

Welfare agencies are most effective in the early stages. They can do more in the preventive field than in the treatment.

The director of welfare for the province, J. A. Sadler, emphasized the aims of Mr. Wright as he outlined the provincial program.

He said the objective of the department is to strengthen the social services on the community level in the hopes that the child will never reach Willingdon.

He, too, stressed the need for more group homes in which carefully selected parents would be placed in a supervisory capacity.

Selection Centre Wrong—Deputy

At present emphasis is on prevention, not treatment.

The only treatment centre for girls over 12 is St. Euhprasia in White Rock. It can accommodate 30 girls now, but is being geared to handle as many as 60.

Deputy Minister of Social Welfare E. R. Rickinson opposed the idea of a selection centre as suggested by M. R. Fisher, chief supervisor at Willingdon.

Mr. Rickinson viewed a selection centre as a centralization of social services, whereas the aim of the welfare department is for more decentralization.

"We want to see more services developed on the community level, so that they will be in a better position to detect early signs of delinquency, and also in a position to do something to correct the situation," said Mr. Rickinson.

As for Willingdon School, officials in the department are slowly recommending changes.

Two years ago, a major departure from the old policy was made when they introduced a male supervisor. This was viewed with scepticism at the time; it is now considered to be a wise decision.

It is possible that other male members will be added to the staff in the future in an effort to correct the "unbalanced situation."

Another social worker, David Barrett, NDP member for Dewdney, considers outmoded the concept of housing all delinquent boys or girls under one roof.

'Breeds Prostitutes, Addicts'

"Willingdon School is a complete waste of the taxpayers' money and time. It guarantees the breeding of prostitutes and drug addicts," he said.

He recommended more small diversified facilities for both girls and boys.

He said more probation officers are urgently needed. Instead of the 80 now employed in the province there should be 300 or 400.

He also stressed the need for decentralization of the social services.

At present, he said, the government spends $250 a month for each child in an institution.

The government should be willing to pay just as much to keep a child placed in the community where it would do the most good, he said.

A whole new approach to the question of welfare is what is needed, said Mr. Barrett.

A survey of all Canadian penal institutions revealed that 75 per cent of the inmates had been in previous institutions.

This, said Mr. Barrett, substantiates the belief that criminals are being bred, not cured in the present institutions.

NDP Asks $25,000 For Hall

Victoria New Democrats voted overwhelmingly Monday night to sell Woodsworth Hall, 721 Courtney.

Asking price is $25,000.

Members voted 10-to-1 with one abstention on a resolution requesting the Commonwealth Society, which holds the property in trust, to list the hall with a realtor.

The society has to approve the action and the asking price before the hall goes up for sale. Any offer has to be approved by members.

The meeting was told there was an operating loss of $429.17 in the last three years. Added to 5 per cent depreciation, the total loss was $3,429.17.

14 ATTEND

The meeting attracted 14 of the party's 90 members. Two left before a vote was called.

The executive, which asked members to approve selling the hall, suggested the sale price could be invested at 6 per cent to provide the party with a constant source of funds.

Playhouse Proposed For Uvic

A 500-seat University of Victoria playhouse is the dream of Professor Carl Hare.

He would like to see the building rise in the near future, he told North Victoria Kiwanis Club Tuesday.

The university English teacher suggested the theatre could supplement downtown theatres and be used in a summer festival of university and community productions.

He also revealed a three-fold drama program which the university is seeking to introduce.

First aim of the program would be to provide academic courses including history of the theatre and criticism.

Secondly, it would provide practical experience in acting, direction, stagecraft and design.

PASS IT ON

Idea of this course would be to produce people able to go out into schools and communities to pass on their knowledge, rather than professional actors.

Third phase would be to introduce a season of plays and to complement other organizations' work.

This would be achieved by concentrating on the classics, experimental and avant-garde plays which other groups could not afford to present or which had only a limited audience appeal.

Wanted: 4 Bright Young Men

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canada Council is looking for bright young men between 24 and 30 who would be paid $6,000 for a year's study in the administration of the performing arts.

The candidates must be "intelligent and personable . . . with practical experience or training in business and a demonstrated interest in theatre, ballet or music."

Up to four of these men will be chosen to spend a year with either the Montreal Symphony Orchestra, the Canadian Players, the Stratford Shakespearean Festival or the Manitoba Theatre Group to study every phase of the operation. Each of these organizations has agreed to help pay the salary of a trainee and the Canada Council will contribute the remainder of the $6,000 for each man.

BLACKLISTED

British Firms Deny Dealing With UK Spy

LONDON (AP) — A number of British firms have expressed surprise at a Moscow report that the Russian government plans to blacklist 11 British firms which had dealings with British businessman Greville Wynne.

Wynne was released by the Russians last April after serving 11 months of an eight-year sentence handed down for spying by a Moscow court.

Sebastian de Ferranti, chairman of Ferranti Limited of Hollinwood, near Manchester, makers of electronic equipment and computers and one of the firms, said: "To the best of my knowledge we have had no business dealings with Mr. Greville Wynne and we are completely at a loss to understand the statement."

'RIDICULOUS'

T. R. Thompson, managing director of Leo Computers, London, said: "It is quite ridiculous. The only contact Wynne ever had with us was that he brought Russians to see us once. It was entirely his own idea and he asked me for permission to bring them. We have no business with Russia at present anyway. But we certainly don't want to be blacklisted for reasons which are not justified."

Shoplifters Convicted

Three shoplifters — one a mother of four children and the other two a husband-and-wife team—were convicted in city court Monday by Magistrate William Ostler.

Mrs. Lorraine Stewart, 511 Admirals Road, was fined $50 for stealing less than $20 worth of clothing from the Hudson's Bay Company store Aug. 29.

She was stopped by a store security officer between the inner and outer doors leading from the store to the street. Mrs. Stewart said she only went out the inner door to make a telephone call and intended to go back and pay for the goods in her shopping bag.

THREE-HOUR TRIAL

She pleaded not guilty to the charge but was convicted after a three-hour trial.

An $82 shoplifting spree by Lucien and Amy Hocking of Sooke resulted in a one-month jail term for him and a nominal one-day sentence for her.

Each of them was also placed on probation for six months on a $250 bond. They were also caught at The Bay.

Truck Driver Charged

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — The driver of a truck that collided with a bus near here Sept. 19 was charged Tuesday with misdemeanor manslaughter. Two women, including Mrs. Jean Wilson, 74, of Vancouver, were killed and 36 other were injured. Ellis Clark, 23, the driver of the truck, is still recovering in hospital from injuries he suffered in the crash. Conviction on the charge carries a maximum penalty of one year in jail.

INTERFERENCE CHARGED

MP Rapped For Protest On Russian Professor

REGINA (UPI) — University of Saskatchewan has criticized member of parliament Kenneth More for "interfering in school affairs" by questioning the advisability of hiring a Russian professor.

More, Conservative member for Regina, asked last week in the Commons about the admission to Canada of A. B. Nicolaev, a Russian economist.

The university hired Nicolaev for the 1964-65 academic year. He is believed to be the first Soviet citizen to accept a full-time post at a Canadian university.

More said he had received letters from parents expressing concern over the "orientation" of the university as a result of the invitation.

In a prepared statement, W. A. Riddell, principal of the Regina campus, said:

"The purpose of education is to develop critical, analytical intelligence, and it is axiomatic that a university must be a place where the student may gain the capacity to criticize and analyse all points of view.

'Exposure of students to 'approved' doctrine is a characteristic of totalitarian societies . . . not a free society such as Canada's."

Dr. Riddell said Nicolaev's course at Regina campus would be concerned with planning in a non-market economy, not with Russian ideology.

The student council also has protested and called More's action "interference in university affairs, and an infringement of academic freedom."

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Justin LittleBit, a 29-year-old Texas cowboy, rode out of Houston 2½ years ago determined to ride his horse across the Golden Gate Bridge. After 6,000 miles, seven pairs of boots and 31 sets of horseshoes, LittleBit arrived Tuesday at the north end of the bridge—only to be told by police that horses are banned from the span.

'Unfair Deduction' Major Target At Gov't Employees' Convention

Ten resolutions on a wide range of subjects will be taken before the B.C. Government Employees' Association convention by Victoria delegates.

The convention will be held in Vancouver on Friday and Saturday.

Two of the resolutions are aimed at the provincial government's 6 per cent fringe benefit deduction for continuity of employment from the wages of "tradesmen" — employees like plumbers who would normally work under union contracts.

Victoria delegates want the association to strive to have "this unfair deduction" removed from the civil service wage formula.

Their resolution argues that as far as the 6 per cent deduction goes, tradesmen are working for no remuneration, and the government gets their services free.

It also argues that continuous employment represents no expense to the government, but in fact saves the government the time loss it would take to train tradesmen in a high-turnover staff.

"A survey of practices in other organizations indicates little or no consideration is given to continuous service factors," says the resolution.

The same 6 per cent deduction and a similar 6 per cent deduction—this one for superannuation—come under fire in another resolution.

This one points out that temporary tradesmen are paid under the same formula as full-time staff, so these deductions are made from their salaries.

But temporary help has no guarantee of continuity of employment or superannuation.

The resolution urges that employees fired within a year of hiring receive a refund on both deductions, and employees fired when they have between one and 10 years service should receive a refund of the 6 per cent superannuation deduction.

Another resolution on wages from Victoria delegates urges that time and one half be paid for overtime up to four hours, and double time be paid for overtime over four hours, Saturday, Sunday, statutory holidays, or days an employee normally has off.

INTEREST-FREE FROM W. GERMANS

Reds Seeking Huge Loan

BONN (AP) — East Germany's Communist government has asked West Germany for a credit of several hundred million marks, a spokesman for the ministry of economics said Tuesday. A hundred million marks is $25,000,000.

The spokesman would not specify the amount more exactly, but Handlesblatt, a leading West German business daily, put it at 500,000,000 marks ($125,000,000). The spokesman added that the Communists want the credit to run for eight to 10 years.

The loan would bear no interest because it would be in the form of an increase in the "swing," the amount of debt either side is permitted to run up before shipments from the creditor are cut off. Under the present arrangement, either side can run a debt of 200,000,000 marks for two years. In practice the East Germans are usually the debtors.

BIG CHINESE LOAN FREE OF INTEREST

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP) — Pakistan announced Monday acceptance in principle of a $60,000,000 Communist Chinese long-term interest-free loan. Commerce Minister Wahiduzzaman told reporters details will be worked out soon. Wahiduzzaman said Communist China has offered to give Pakistan textile, sugar and cement manufacturing plants on credit under this loan offer.

The rest of the week the hall would be rented out, with catering facilities available.

The application must go before a public hearing before council can approve it.

'More Paperwork, Less Efficiency'

More paperwork, more confusion and less efficiency could result from the government's integration of armed forces, former defence minister Douglas Harkness said here Tuesday.

He told the Canadian Club the present defence minister, Paul Hellyer, believes efficiency will be improved with appointment of a chief of defence staff instead of four chiefs of staff.

"Personally, I believe the reverse will be the situation," he said.

He thought it doubtful "that any one person can have a complete grasp of the whole military field and give as good advice as a group of men."

Reorganization of national defence headquarters into four main branches made him think it will result "in more paperwork than previously and likely lead to more confusion and less efficiency" than before.

The present minister envisioned rolling all the armed forces into one body, he said.

STAY SAME

The "impossibility and impractibility" of this was pointed out and as a result matters "will remain very much as they are at present."

An infantry platoon commander cannot be transferred to fly a plane, but there were areas where one system was "possible and practical."

There was, for example, a single medical organization and this could be extended to a single pay corps and single repairs on various types of equipment among all forces.

This aspect of integration was "highly desirable and should result in savings and increase efficiency."

But if an attempt were made to put all servicemen into one uniform, "the result would be catastrophic and there would be a great decline in morale."

Mr. Harkness said there were "serious deficiencies" in reserve forces, in a 25 per cent reduction of striking power of jet squadrons in Europe and in the scrapping of the $400,000,000 frigate-building program.

He called for "definite announcements" on further integration plans because "nothing breaks down morale more than uncertainty."

'Tax Policy Restricts Entrance to New Fields'

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Canadian Chamber of Commerce was told Tuesday an immediate reform of corporate taxation in Canada is needed.

D. G. Willmot of St. Catharines, Ont., president of Anthes-Imperial Co. Ltd., told the 35th annual meeting of the chamber that unless corporate taxes are reduced Canada will not be able to attract needed investment capital.

"We are penalizing the whole economy to the benefit of other countries, including the United States with its lower rate," Mr. Willmot said.

"A drop in corporate taxes would bring extra income as business becomes more venturesome and profitable."

He said a high rate of corporate tax discourages risk taking by business, since it would have to absorb 100 per cent of any failures while any success would be split through taxes with the government.

"By penalizing success in risk-taking to this extent, tax policy restricts entrance by Canadian business into new products, new markets, new technologies and new methods."

The chamber, which ends its meeting today, also heard a polite argument about the value of governmental economic planning between the chairman of the Economic Council of Canada and a vice-president of Du Pont of Canada Ltd.

'CAN HANDLE GROWTH'

F. S. Capon of Montreal suggested private enterprise can handle essential economic growth without government guidance while John Deutsch of the Economic Council termed the government's role in planning as essential.

Mr. Deutsch said it is unrealistic to expect private enterprise to be able to meet Canada's economic aims by itself.

What is needed, he said, is proper utilization of government policies which, taken in conjunction with the market forces of private enterprise, may achieve society's aims.

Mr. Capon said outside planning and controls, which aim at reducing the effects of open competition, "in fact destroy the very factors that made us prosperous."

He said private enterprise has proved it fosters high output and thus higher living standards than any other economic system.

Mr. Deutsch told the chamber society is looking for high employment, a higher living standard, reasonable stable prices, a wider sharing of the improved standard of living and a better balance of payments situation.

"I frankly doubt anyone can reasonably expect free market forces to achieve these aims without other considerations."

Convicted of Robbery

VANCOUVER (CP) — Gordon Lyons of Vancouver Tuesday was found guilty of a March 26 armed robbery that netted $56,000 from an Unemployment Insurance Commission office here. He was remanded to Thursday for sentence.

MOLLY ZELKO
. . . presumed dead

NUCLEAR SHELTERS BY KRUPP

ESSEN, Germany (UPI)—The Krupp industrial concern, once Germany's major armaments maker, is producing nuclear shelters.

A Krupp spokesman said the firm has developed a prefabricated egg-shaped bunker for home use which would offer shelter to 10 persons against blast and radiation from nuclear attack.

West German armed forces are now testing the bunker which has concrete and steel walls able to withstand extreme air pressure and protect occupants against radiation.

MISSING SEVEN YEARS

Newspaper Crusader Slain by Gamblers?

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Seven years ago Molly Zelko, 47, part owner and business manager of a crusading weekly Joliet newspaper, waved goodbye to fellow workers and said: "So long everybody, I'll see you tomorrow."

She drove home, parked her car and there the trail ended. She never entered the house and she hasn't been seen since.

The mystery of Molly's disappearance eventually involved Robert F. Kennedy, one-time counsel of the Senate rackets committee. Kennedy once directed a team of investigators to a Joliet farm where they searched in vain for Molly's grave. Kennedy now is the Democratic candidate for senator in New York.

Monday a circuit court judge legally ended the mystery by officially ruling Molly dead under all existing Illinois missing persons statutes.

But Joliet residents say they've known Molly was dead all along.

HIT AT GAMBLING

Molly's newspaper, The Spectator, had gained wide readership and respect for its campaigns against gambling. Over the years, the newspaper had taken sides in bitter political campaigns and published personality stories reported to be displeasing to the subjects.

"She was a courageous newspaper woman," her brother, Dr. Joseph W. Zelko, 56, of Joliet, said. "We tried to tell her to take it easy, but she had an awful lot of nerve."

"I think she stuck her neck out too much," Zelko said. "We all feel it was foul play."

In 1959, James V. Rini, a convict at Joliet State Penitentiary, told the Senate rackets committee during a pinball machine investigation that he had been paid $3,000 to help murder Miss Zelko. He said he could lead investigators to her grave.

Kennedy ordered Rini brought to the farm but no body was found. Rini later admitted his confession was a hoax.

Druggists to Sell Liquor In Sask.?

PRINCE ALBERT (CP) — A suggestion that rural drug stores be used by the government to distribute liquor products in place of uneconomic liquor store outlets was welcomed Tuesday by Ned Pickering of Prince Albert, president of the Saskatchewan Pharmaceutical Association.

The suggestion was made by deputy premier McDonald in Regina after a group of rural residents protested the closure of a government-operated liquor store in a small hamlet. The government said the move was being taken as an economy measure.

$41,404 DONATED

Home Campaign Starts Monday

Victoria's United Appeal fund has topped the one-tenth mark.

Up to Monday night $41,404 had been collected towards the objective of $410,000.

All cash to date has been collected from local businesses.

Starting Monday, 2,800 canvassers, mostly women, will begin a door-to-door campaign throughout Greater Victoria.

Chief objective of the campaign is to collect donations from retired people and others not included in the fair-share plan.

To make sure every house is called on, the city has been divided into 20 areas.

Each area will be supervised by a chairman who will organize teams to call on different streets.

The campaign should finish around the end of October.

No Legal Aid For 'Luxury' Of Divorce

TORONTO (CP) — Several speakers at a Law Society of Upper Canada conference here Saturday agreed divorce is a luxury.

They decided that divorce actions should not be covered by Ontario's free legal aid plan.

Legal aid was established by the society and offers services of volunteer lawyers to needy accused persons — a single man earning less than $1,800 a year, a married man earning less than $2,500 plus $300 allowance for each dependent.

W. H. Waugh, a lawyer from Welland, Ont., said: "Our committee took the view that divorce is a luxury—that in many cases people can live quite happily apart rather than getting back into the frying pan again. If they really want a divorce they can usually dig up the money."

Over 25s At Uvic Meet Tonight

University of Victoria students who have taken time out for work or home-making before entering a classroom again have found themselves members of an informal social group.

At the suggestion of student president Mrs. Olivia Barr, herself 26, a tea for students over 25 years old will be held at the Student Union Building tonight at 8.

More than 50 over-25ers and their husbands or wives will mix with faculty members and hear a panel discuss "The Mature Student."

The gathering and subsequent events would help each older student realize that he or she is not an "odd fish" at the university, said Mrs. Barr.

NEEDED TO PRESERVE SANITY

Community Planning 'Urgent'

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Arnold Edinborough, editor of Saturday Night, says there is money both to be made and saved by developing communities with good planning.

He delivered the keynote address to the Community Planning Association of Canada conference here.

He noted the familiar statistics indicating that more and more Canadians are moving to densely inhabited urban centres and said: "We must, for the sanity of the nation, take drastic steps to plan these urban centres as well as we can."

Mr. Edinborough listed four major points to be covered in good development: beauty, convenience, space, amenities.

He said that much of the ugliness of Canadian centres is historical. The cities, towns and villages were built originally because of closeness to water and rail lines and the buildings in them were built so soundly that some of them, ugly as they are, may be good for another 100 years.

Much of the modern development is equally depressing.

One of the first needs is for communities where "every bed isn't 30 miles from the job." He said this type of community leads to unattended children and bored wives in the suburbs, and a tense, high-pressured executive downtown.

Centre 'Ignores' Council Feelings

Saanich Wants Landscaping Work On 11-Acre Blacktop Parking Lot

Town and Country shopping centre developers have "consistently ignored" Saanich council's feelings about landscaping, municipal planner Tom Loney said Tuesday night.

In a report to the Saanich lands and planning committee, Mr. Loney summarized correspondence between the municipality and the developers about landscaping.

Saanich has felt for some time the 11 acres of blacktop parking lot around the centre should be improved with comprehensive landscaping, including tree-planting.

In a February letter to municipal engineer Neville Life, one of the developers expressed disappointment in the lack of Douglas Street beautification beside the store, said Mr. Loney.

A letter was written to the developers some time later, after the Capital Improvement District Commission spent $11,000 on beautifying that section of road.

It reminded the developers about proposed shopping centre landscaping.

"KEEP IN MIND"

An answering letter said the developers would "keep the suggestion in mind."

The developers have submitted plans, but council has never approved a landscape plan.

"The wishes of council have been clearly established, and just as clearly ignored," said Mr. Loney.

Coun. Gregory Cook, chairman of the committee, said the developers have a "moral obligation" to provide landscaping.

But Coun. Doug Crosby challenged the right of council to force the landscaping, asking "Why pick on business? You wouldn't force a householder to plant trees."

"Council has every right to ask for what we believe is best for the municipality," Coun. Hugh Curtis told him.

"They've had enough co-operation that they can bend our way," said Coun. Cook.

Commitee voted to invite the principals of the Town and Country to appear at he next committee meeting to discuss the situation.

"I'd be glad to come up with suggested ideas," said Mr. Loney.

Committee also voted to recommend to council:

- Purchase of a lot on Simon Road, valued at $11,000;
- Acceptance of a $2,500 offer to purchase a 60 by 100 foot lot, made by Pyers Bailey, 1837 Emery Place.
- Negotiate with S. G. Watson of Penticton for a lot at 5177 Agate Lane for addition to Agate Park.

SOVIET BUYS LUMBER MILL FROM CANADA

LONDON (Reuters) — The Canadian Lewis, Keefer and Penfield Company is to supply Russia with a lumber mill, the Soviet news agency Tass announced Tuesday.

The mill, destined for Bratsk, in Siberia, is to have an annual capacity of 600,000 cubic metres of lumber, Tass reported.

The Canadian equipment will be delivered to the Soviet Union in 1965 and 1966 while all the blueprints needed to start designing the plant will be furnished early next year, Tass said.

GM Strike Expected To Drag On

DETROIT (AP)—Chances appear slim for settlement before next week of a strike that has cut off production of General Motors' 1965 automobiles in U.S. plants.

Negotiators for both GM and the United Auto Workers union indicated Tuesday that they did not expect to reach agreement on national and local differences by this weekend.

If prolonged, the strike could have a serious effect on the booming American economy. GM said that hourly-rated employees in plants affected by the UAW walkout are losing more than $7,000,000 in daily wages.

A major stumbling block to getting some 250,000 workers back on the assembly lines was more than 17,000 local at-the-plant demands covering such subjects as company-furnished coveralls, locker rooms and parking lots.

The UAW called the strike last Friday despite virtual agreement on an economic package similar to one already accepted by the union from GM's chief competitors—Ford and Chrysler.

It calls for higher pensions as an early retirement incentive, longer vacations, additional holidays, increased wages and other improvements.

FELLOW of the Royal Society of Canada, Dr. Seraphin Marion will speak on "French Canada in Ontario" at University of Victoria's Lansdowne Campus October 15 at 8:15 p.m. under joint sponsorship of the University of Victoria and La Federation Canaidenne de la Colombie.

'Judge Made Big Profit On Gas Stock'

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — An Ontario Securities Commission investigator testified Tuesday that Mr. Justice Leo Landreville of the Ontario Supreme Court sold 7,500 shares in Northern Ontario Natural Gas Company for $14 to $20 apiece in the spring of 1957.

Investigator H. R. Huxley, the only witness in the opening day of a preliminary hearing on charges of municipal corruption under the Criminal Code against Mr. Justice Landreville, said this would mean a gain of $105,000 to $150,000.

The 54-year-old judge—mayor of Sudbury from January, 1955, to September, 1956, when he was named to the bench—is accused of accepting NONG stock as a consideration for help in getting NONG's Sudbury franchise through city council in 1956, and also in agreeing to accept stock for sighing the franchise agreement.

He is also accused of conspiring with Ralph K. Farris of Vancouver, president of NONG, to have the franchise agreement adopted.

Mr. Justice Landreville elected trial by judge alone, and no plea was taken at the preliminary hearing.

Farris, who is seriously ill, was convicted of perjury in Toronto in April and was sentenced to nine months definite and three months indefinite. The conviction, being appealed, was based on Farris's sworn statements that he did not know who received 14,000 shares of NONG stock.

U.K. Mine Firm Sitting Tight In N. Rhodesia

LONDON (AP) Britain and Northern Rhodesia broke off talks Tuesday on future mineral royalty rights of the British South Africa Company, one of the world's leading copper producers.

At stake is the company's position after Northern Rhodesia becomes the independent central African state of Zambia Oct. 24.

A British government statement warned against hasty nationalization of the company after Zambia's independence. It said Britain hoped Zambia would not damage its international reputation or credit "by engaging in expropriation without payment of adequate compensation."

Northern Rhodesian Finance Minister Arthur Wina told newsmen disruption of the talks would hurt relations between Britain and his country. He said the company laid claim to virtually all the minerals in Northern Rhodesia.

"This is, to our mind, an anomalous and intolerable position for any country approaching independence to be in," he said.

HOLDS MINERAL RIGHTS

Under its agreement with the old colonial government, British South Africa Company has mineral rights throughout Northern Rhodesia so that whoever mines these areas pays the company royalties. In its last fiscal year, the company's royalties after taxes totalled £6,500,000 ($19,500,000).

Under a 1950 pact with the colonial regime, the company agreed to pay 20 per cent of its royalties to the government until the expiration of British South Africa's title in 1986.

During the talks, the British statement said, Wina indicated that Northern Rhodesia believed the state should hold mineral royalty rights, that the country's title to such royalties was of doubtful validity and that Britain should have challenged the title years ago.

The British negotiators rejected the suggestion that Britain had any responsibility for compensating the company.

FIGURES JUGGLED

Medicare Attack 'Faked'

TORONTO (CP)—Mr. Justice Emmett Hall of Ottawa Tuesday politely accused the Canadian Tax Foundation of juggling figures to make the cost of the proposed universal comprehensive health care program seem larger than reality.

The chairman of the royal commission on health services told an audience of judges and lawyers at Osgoode Hall that the price tax placed by the Tax Foundation on universal health care for Canadians—a 50 per cent increase in income tax—was based on wrong calculations.

The health care program proposed by the royal commission, he said, provides for a step-by-step increase in health services up to 1971, during which time the nation's gross national product would have increased to about $70,000,000,000 from about $46,000,000,000.

But the tax foundation based its calculation on the national income for 1963, he said.

WON'T FIT

"It's like taking a seven-year-old boy and putting him in a 14-year-old's pair of pants and expecting them to fit," he said.

A reporter asked him after his speech if the Foundation was dishonest in its calculations.

"No," he said, "but it is indulged in an academic exercise, an interesting academic exercise. It's entitled to do that."

Mr. Justice Hall was chief justice of Saskatchewan before being appointed to the Supreme Court of Canada in November, 1962.

Under the publicly administered health care plan advocated in the report, he said, the percentage of the gross national product spent on health would be 6.1 per cent by 1971—only half of one per cent of what it would cost if the present system were to continue.

Struck Mine in Bid To Halt Trespassing

VANCOUVER (CP) — Anaconda Company (Canada) Limited announced its intention Tuesday to keep striking workers away from its mine at Britannia Beach near here.

The company, which has said it will close down the operation, said in a writ that it will seek an injunction preventing trespassing by members of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.).

Damages also will be sought for trespass and nuisance on or near the plant. The measure would prevent obstruction of persons and vehicles entering the property.

About 25 men and women stood in the rain Tuesday and barred a company official and several foremen from the mine's main gate.

The company and union have contradicted each other on whether machinery is being repaired and greased for storage as part of the mine closure. Anaconda says this work is going on but the union says it is surplus equipment already sold and just being delivered from the plant to new owners.

Woman Assaulted

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 22-year-old nurse's aid told police Tuesday she was raped by a man who bound and gagged her wth strips of adhesive tape. She said the man, about 30, forced a window to gain entry to her suite.

THERE HE GOES . . . FOR 105 YARDS!

Pulling away from would-be Toronto tacklers, defensive halfback Jesse Branch (14) of Stampeders is on way to spectacular 105-yard punt-return touchdown in Canadian Football League game at Calgary. Teammate Wayne Harris (55) watches as Dave Mann (75) and Norm Stoneburgh (40) pursue Branch. Touchdown helped Stamps defeat Argonauts 30-25. (CP Wirephoto.)

Dazzling Punt Return Sparks Stamp Victory

CALGARY (CP)—Halfbacks Paul Dudley and Jesse Branch of Calgary Stampeders have a lot in common. Both are Arkansas University alumni, both are speedsters and both have had trouble getting untracked in professional football.

Each made a strong move to end his search Tuesday night with key performances in Stampeders 30-25 victory over Toronto Argonauts in a Canadian Football League game before about 15,000 fans.

Branch, cut by Calgary last year then recalled late in the season, made a sparkling 105-yard touchdown run on a punt return and then set up another when he intercepted a pass and raced to the Toronto four-yard line.

Dudley, in his first action since joining Calgary this week, scooted over from seven yards out to score Calgary's first touchdown of the game.

RALLY QUASHED

Despite the performance of the former Razorbacks, Calgary had to thwart a strong last-quarter rally by Argonauts to preserve the victory and again catch a share of second place in the five-team Western Conference.

The loss left the improving Argonauts tied with Montreal for third and last playoff spot in the Eastern Conference. Each has six points, well off the pace set by Ottawa Rough Riders.

Toronto jumped ahead 9-7 in the opening quarter but Branch put Calgary ahead to stay early in the second quarter. Stampeders led 20-12 at the half and 27-12 after three quarters.

DAY ON TARGET

Fullback Lovell Coleman on a six-yard run and flanker Bobby Taylor on a 13-yard pass from quarterback Eagle Day got the other Calgary touchdowns. Larry Robinson converted three and added a 40-yard field goal.

Flanker Ron Howell snared a 38-yard pass from halfback Dick Shatto for one Toronto touchdown. Quarterback Jackie Parker ran nine yards for a touchdown on the second play of the final quarter and later passed 18 yards to Shatto for another.

John Wydarney set up both fourth quarter scores, the first on an intercepted pass at the Calgary 24 and the second in a blocked punt which gave Argonauts possession at Stampeders' 18.

Karl Sweetan converted one of the touchdowns and added two field goals to complete the Toronto scoring.

Midway through the second quarter Branch electrified the fans with his brilliant punt return. It was not a record as Len Meltzer of Winnipeg Blue Bombers established the WFC mark of 115 yards in 1954 and Boyd Carter and Dave Mann combined to return a punt 131 yards for the EFC record. Mann was the punter Tuesday night.

OLYMPICS CLIPPED

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore Bullets of the National Basketball Association defeated the U.S. Olympic team 72-62 Tuesday night.

MAYOR HAS NEXT MOVE ON COLISEUM PROPOSAL

VANCOUVER (CP)—Stafford Smythe, president of Toronto Maple Leafs hockey club, arrived here Tuesday—but not to talk about his proposal to build a coliseum.

"The next move is up to Mayor (Bill) Rathie," said Smythe, who arrived with his hockey club for an exhibition game Tuesday night against Vancouver Canucks of the Western League.

He said he has not yet had an acknowledgment to the last letter he sent the mayor outlining his final offer, to build a 20,000-seat coliseum only if the city gave him land estimated to cost $2,000,000.

The city offered Smythe a long-term lease on the site.

Imlach Against Turning Hockey Into 'Basketball'

VANCOUVER (UPI)—Toronto Maple Leaf coach Punch Imlach Tuesday started a rhubarb with persons advocating rule changes to "clean up" hockey.

Speaking in a city where a newspaper last season held strong editorial campaigns against "rough play" in the National Hockey League, Imlach said: "Every time they try to make the game like basketball we scream."

He was dubious of a rule change aimed at eliminating body contact during the face off. The usual tactic has been to oppose a small centre or forward with a big defenceman of the way while a teammate who shoves the smaller man out gets the puck.

Imlach, who has won the last three Stanley Cups with aging, but hard-hitting players, indicated the rule change has not affected things. "We've only had one penalty on it this year," he said.

The Toronto coach left no doubt he considers clean up campaigns and rule changes attempts to counter the successful Maple Leaf strategy.

He said: "Those changes are aimed at us."

Senator Hartland Molson, the Montreal Canadiens owner, has been a frequent advocate of rule changes and better enforcement to eliminate what critics call "clutch and grab hockey."

Toronto defenceman Carl Brewer sparked one new rule when he revealed he could grab opposing forwards better without the palms in his gloves. All players in the NHL must now have palms in their gloves.

Fergie Orders Probe Of Olympic Ring Case

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mervin Ferguson, president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, says he has ordered an investigation into the confused case of boxer Bill McGrandle.

McGrandle, 17, has been reported taken off the Canadian Olympic team, which leaves for Tokyo Thursday.

Ferguson says as far as he is concerned officially, McGrandle has not been suspended. Ferguson gave this sequence of events:

1. The Alberta section of the AAU provided "information" concerning McGrandle to the national AAU, but made no recommendation.

2. The national AAU passed the Alberta information to the Canadian Olympic Association and ordered an inquiry to give "McGrandle a chance to clear himself or make some sort of explanation."

3. The COA "may have" suspended McGrandle as a result of the Alberta information, but not as far as the AAU is officially concerned.

Ferguson agreed with protestations by the Alberta AAU that it did not recommend suspension, but supplied information to the national AAU that McGrandle had been involved in two incidents in Edmonton in which criminal charges were placed.

CANUCKS CLUBBED 6-2

No Weaknesses In Leafs' Lineup

By The Canadian Press

Chicago Black Hawks aren't being fooled by the pre-season antics of the Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Black Hawks have the best record along the National Hockey League exhibition trail so far while the Leafs are third behind Detroit Red Wings.

But Chicago coach Billy Reay and Hawks' general manager Tommy Ivan both pick the Leafs to end the regular 70-game NHL season 10 to 15 points ahead of the other five clubs.

BY 10 POINTS

Reay called the Toronto club to be winners by 10 points during an interview at the Hawks' training camp in St. Catharines Tuesday.

"Every other team in the league has question marks, possible weaknesses, but Leafs have none," he said.

A few weeks ago, Ivan picked the Leafs to win the league championship by 15 points.

Toronto posted a 6-2 win over Vancouver Canucks of the Western League Tuesday night, while Detroit defeated Pittsburgh Hornets of the American League 4-1 at Goderich, Ont., and Chicago coasted to a 4-1 win over Buffalo Bisons of the AHL at Welland, Ont.

FIVE NHL LOSSES

The Leafs have won three exhibition games against minor league clubs but have two wins, five losses and two ties against NHL competition. Chicago has seven wins, including two against minor clubs, and two losses. Detroit has five wins, two losses and a tie after playing seven exhibitions against NHL clubs and one against minor league competition.

Eddie Shack, Bob Pulford, George Armstrong, Gerry Ehman, Kent Douglas and Frank Mahovlich counted one goal each as the Leafs romped to an easy win over Vancouver. Bob McCusker and Bob Baird replied for the Canucks.

Alex Delvecchio scored twice and teammates Doug Barkley and Bruce MacGregor got the others as the Wings defeated their farmhands. Parker MacDonald fired the lone Pittsburgh goal.

Billy (Red) Hay got a pair for Chicago while Doug Robinson and rookie Al Caron, who holds the EPHL and CPHL goal-scoring records, got one each. Jerry Melnyk was the lone Buffalo marksman.

'Lost Sheep' Ken Kilrea Suspended

EDMONTON (CP) — Linebacker Ken Kilrea has been suspended indefinitely by Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Eastern Football Conference, coach Ralph Sazio said Monday.

Sazio said Kilrea, a 240-pound South Carolina University graduate, missed the airplane that carried the Hamilton club from Vancouver to Edmonton Sunday.

"Maybe he fell for all that Chamber of Commerce talk in Vancouver," Sazio said. Kilrea was sent directly home and suspended when he was located.

Old Knuckleballer Is Fantastic, Too

Sews Up Win Over Phillies As Cardinals Tie for Lead

By UP International

The only fact more fantastic than that St. Louis Cardinals are tied for the National League lead today is the role played by a 38-year-old pitcher named Barney Schultz.

A journeyman knuckleballer who has been with 15 different minor league teams and two previous big league clubs in a checkered career dating back to 1944, Schultz has turned out to be the "lifesaver" for the Cardinals in their madcap dash for their first pennant since 1946.

Brought up from Jacksonville of the International League on July 31, Schultz has only a 1-3 won-lost record but in 28 games and 48 innings he had yielded just nine earned runs for a glittering 1.69 earned-run average. What's more, he's relieved in the Cardinals' last five games—all victories—and in 9⅓ innings of the toughest sort of clutch relief pitching since Sept. 22 hasn't allowed a run.

The 6-foot, 2-inch, 190-pound right-hander wrote another chapter in his remarkable story Tuesday night when he pitched shutout ball for the final 2⅓ innings of the Cardinals' 4-2 victory over Philadelphia Phillies. The Cardinals' seventh straight win put them in a flat-footed first-place tie with the Cincinnati Reds, who suffered a 2-0 loss to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Both the Cardinals and Reds have four games left to play while the Phillies, 1½ games out of the lead, have only three.

Schultz' only previous claim to fame was in 1962 when he tied the major league record by relieving in nine consecutive games for the Chicago Cubs.

Ninth Straight Defeat for Phils

Schultz' close-out relief Tuesday night preserved Ray Sadecki's 20th win after the young left-hander had yielded seven hits and two runs in 6-2/3 innings. Doubles by Dick Groat and Julian Javier and a homer by Bill White were the big blows in a 10-hit Cardinal attack that dealt the Phillies their ninth consecutive defeat.

Bob Friend was tagged for 11 hits but left 11 Red baserunners stranded and was rewarded with his 13th victory when Bill Mazeroski singled with the bases filled in the top of the ninth. Bob Bailey's single, Roberto Clemente's double and an intentional walk set the stage for Mazeroski, whose blow sent Bill McCool to his fourth loss against six wins. The loss ended the Reds' nine-game winning streak.

San Francisco Giants remained technically in the race with a 5-4 win over Houston Colts, Milwaukee Braves tripped New York 7-6 and Chicago Cubs edged Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 in other N.L. action.

Matty Alou hit his first home run in exactly two years to give the Giants their 11-inning victory and Japanese pitcher Masanori Murakami his first big league win. Murakami pitched one-hit shutout ball over the last three innings to close out a game in which Tom Haller also homered for the Giants and Jim Beaucoup and Rusty Staub homered for the Colts.

Chisox Keeping Pressure on Yanks

Chicago White Sox are keeping the pressure on New York Yankees right down to the bitter end in the American League.

Although the odds are all hopeless, the White Sox refuse to call it quits and have edged back to within 2½ games of the Yankees on the strength of five consecutive victories.

The White Sox's big hope is that all four of their remaining games are with the last-place Kansas City Athletics while the Yankees play four games with Detroit Tigers and three with Cleveland Indians. Baltimore Orioles, who dropped back into third place as a result of the White Sox's 2-1 Tuesday night victory over Dean Chance and the Los Angeles Angels, have three with the Washington Senators and two with the Tigers.

Yankees' big advantage over both rivals is a four-game bulge in the lost column which means neither the White Sox or the Orioles can even tie unless the Yankees lose four of those last seven games.

White Sox eked out their Tuesday night win in typical fashion—pushing over a couple of runs in the sixth inning and then calling on relief ace Hoyt Wilhelm when rookie starter Bruce Howard faltered.

Athletics pulled out a 7-6 inning triumph over Minnesota Twins in the only other A.L. game as twi-night doubleheaders between New York and Detroit, and Cleveland and Boston, and a single game between Washington and Baltimore were rained out.

AFTER SEVEN YEARS . . .

Tax Fellas Didn't Forget Dodgers

NEW YORK (AP)—The baseball Dodgers packed their spikes and moved from Brooklyn to Los Angeles seven years ago, but still trailing them is an $818,000 tax fight.

The U.S. International Revenue Service seeks 52 per cent of the $473,000 the National League teams paid to Pacific Coast League teams for moving into their territory.

The $345,000 the Dodgers got later for allowing their American League rivals, the Angels, to play baseball in Los Angeles.

Existence of the tax court cases was learned Monday. They are civil, not criminal prosecutions, started in 1961 and 1963, respectively.

Robert F. Welch, Manhattan lawyer representing the Dodgers, said it probably will be a year before a hearing.

STATES ISSUE

A government spokesman said the issue in the Dodgers' payment to the six PCL teams is whether it is an ordinary and necessary business expense, deductible when occurring, or whether it is a capital expenditure.

If the latter, he said, it might not be deductible at all, or it might be deductible spread out over a number of years.

The case involving the Angels covers the same situation in reverse—how to classify the incoming payment.

When the Dodgers and the old New York Giants moved to the West Coast, the latter to San Francisco, at the end of the 1957 season, they agreed to the PCL teams' demand for $900,000 in demnification—$150,000 for each of the six minor league teams.

Apparently no such tax case has been filed against the Giants.

LIONS' FORGOTTEN MAN . . . . . PAID BUT DOESN'T PLAY

'Some Man Keeps Signing My Cheque'

VANCOUVER (UPI) — How would you like to earn $6,000 for about 40 minutes work over the next two years?

Sounds like a good deal, but not to the "forgotten man" of Canadian professional football—offensive tackle Ray Osbourne of the British Columbia Lions.

"I played 40 minutes last season and earned $3,800. I probably won't play one game this season, but if the Lions go to the Grey Cup, which they probably will, my total income will be $6,000."

To earn this kind of money, the 6'3" graduate of Mississippi State doesn't have to do anything but "be available." Under league rules he can't even practise with the club.

The 24-year-old native of Memphis, Tenn. came to the Lions last season at the invitation of B.C. assistant coach Jim Champion who tutored him during his college days.

Osbourne was drafted by the San Francisco 49ers of the National League and after failing to stick with the California club, the Lions extended an invite north.

His B.C. contract stipulated he remain "on call" if cut and cleared through waivers.

With $150 a week in spending money, Osbourne doesn't bother seeking other employment. Single, he spends his time "loafing around, drinking beer with buddies" and improving his shuffleboard game at his hotel residence on Vancouver's scenic North Shore.

But Ray isn't a happy man, despite his sojourn on the steak-and-brandy circuit and life of leisure.

"I'd just like to be playin' ball agin," he said with a southern drawl.

"I don't think anybody even knows I exist any more. I don't work out with the club. I never hear from the executive. But some little man in the office just keeps signin' my cheque every week and mailin' it out."

Olympic 'Blackmail' Charged by Alderman

CALGARY (CP) — A Calgary alderman has criticized the federal government for creating an Olympics assistance program he said was "almost blackmail."

Alderman Dave Russell made the statement as city council voted $1,500 toward helping Canadian athletes compete in the summer Olympic Games in Tokyo.

No Calgary athletes are making the trip.

An official of the Calgary Olympic Development Association told council his group "had been forced basically to guarantee $12,000 would be raised to help send athletes to the summer games before Banff was approved as Canadian choice for the 1972 Winter Olympics site.

Alderman Russell said the government should toot the entire bill for the national team, and a municipality should not be placed in an awkward situation such as had arisen.

SMOKE SIGNS

Phils Delay Mails

(Times News Services)

These items come smoking out of the heat of the National League pennant chase:

St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Redlegs, two clubs who two weeks ago never thought they would be doing it, will start accepting orders for World Series tickets on Thursday.

And the dazed Philadelphia Phillies, the first team to be authorized to print the pasteboards, Tuesday decided to postpone mailing out any more.

The World Series is scheduled to start Oct. 7 but a playoff could change the date.

In St. Louis, Phils' manager Gene Mauch looked up dazedly at reporters and muttered: "No news tonight, boys. There's nothing to say."

He had just seen his club drop virtually out of the National League pennant race after losing its ninth straight game, 4-2, to St. Louis Cardinals. The Phillies, 6½ games ahead only a week ago, were 1½ games from first place with three contests left.

★ ★ ★

Upstairs in the locker room of St. Louis Cardinals the dazed Phillies could hear the boisterous Redbirds celebrating the victory that had moved them into a first place tie with Cincinnati.

"Your beautiful," Ray Sadecki shouted at Barney Schultz.

"You're a great pitcher yourself," Schultz blared back.

It was this pitching duo that cut down the Phillies as the Cardinals won their seventh straight.

★ ★ ★

"We had our chances and we have no excuses," said manager Dick Sisler in Cincinnati after his Reds were dropped into a first-place tie. Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the Reds 2-0.

"We lost our winning streak," said Sisler, "but that's not going to get anyone down."

He added:

"There's no tightening up on this ball club, although a few of the players may be trying too hard.

"Maybe the law of averages is working on us after winning nine straight, just as it did for Pittsburgh which had lost five in a row to St. Louis before coming here."

Sisler noted that Cincinnati pounded out 11 hits and left 11 base runners stranded.

"We had the right men at bat at the right time," he said, "but they failed to deliver."

Gun Play Leads To Court Charge For Outfielder

SPOKANE (AP) — Lou Johnson, outfielder for Spokane Indians and the No. 2 hitter in the Pacific Coast Baseball League last season, was charged in a justice court complaint here Tuesday with aiming or discharging a firearm.

Johnson, who is accused of aiming a pistol at an 18-year-old Spokane youth and "discharging a firearm in a place where people would be endangered," was ordered to appear in court Oct. 7 to answer the complaint. No arrest warrant was issued.

Prosecutor George Kain said the two men involved, Michael J. O'Neil, 18, and Patrick W. Wetherell, 20, told him they felt they were equally responsible for the Sept. 21 incident and that it was all a mistake.

CASEY STENGEL
. . . back in business

RAISE FOR STENGEL . . . . . ALSTON ALSO BACK

Sure-to-be-Fired Quickly Hired

By UP International

Casey Stengel, Walt Alston and Al Lopez will be doing business at the same stands next season but not Johnny Pesky.

In less time than it takes to play a doubleheader, these developments involving the aforementioned major league managers were announced Tuesday:

—The New York Mets rehired Stengel for the 1965 season and added Bing Devine and Eddie Stanky, late of the St. Louis Cardinals, to their front office family.

—The Los Angeles Dodgers signed Alston to another one-year contract.

—The Chicago White Sox scheduled a press conference for this afternoon, presumably to tie up Lopez as their pilot for another season.

—The Boston Red Sox announced they will hold a similar news conference Friday morning, and the best guess is that Pesky will be replaced by Billy Herman.

Stengel and Alston were rehired despite the fact that both are suffering with losing teams this season.

This, of course, is not a new experience for the 74-year-old Stengel, who hasn't been able to pull the Mets out of the National League basement since he became their first manager in 1962.

Alston, on the other hand, piloted the Dodgers to the National League pennant and a four-game sweep over the New York Yankees in last year's World Series. Then the Dodgers turned from champs to chumps this season, skidding to seventh place.

There had been much speculation that Stengel would either retire or be replaced by Alvin Dark of the San Francisco Giants as the Mets' manager at the end of the current season. These reports irked ole Case, who went to president George Weiss Monday and asked, "Am I in or out?"

"You're our man," replied Weiss, fully aware that Stengel was one of the biggest reasons the Mets drew 1,732,597 fans to their new Shea Stadium home this year.

Stengel came out of his Monday showdown with Weiss with a new one-year contract calling for a "splendid raise" over the $75,000 he received this year.

SOUTH AMERICAN BOXER SUCCUMBS TO INJURIES

BUENOS AIRES (Reuters) — Argentine boxer Adrian Servin, 29, died Monday after collapsing in the ring last Wednesday during a bout with Enrique Jana.

Servin collapsed before the start of the last round. Despite a brain operation, he went into a deep coma.

He is survived by a wife and three children.

Record Payoff On Penny Pool

LONDON (AP) — John E. Walker received a cheque Tuesday for $786,506, the biggest win ever made on a British one-penny soccer pool.

The fortune was won on a pool called the treble chance, in which the object is to pick eight games ending in ties.

Walker, 33, headed a syndicate of eight players whose entry was the only one selecting the top possible number of ties from English and Scottish league games last Saturday.

Walker and his fellow syndicate members work in a factory near Leeds. They brought off their big score on an outlay of 70 cents which entitled them to 60 guesses at a penny a time.

Walker's wife, Enid, said she picked the numbers from a children's bingo set and "whatever numbers came out I marked on the coupon."

The record for a pools win is held by Jimmy Gault, an Irish laborer who won $841,915 but put down a two-penny stake. He won the money in 1959 and died five years later of thrombosis.

Chemainus Driver Holds Third Spot

Ray Ordano is still in contention in his run for the North American 145 class hydroplane championship.

Orando, the high-flying powerboat driver from Chemainus, is sitting in third place on the American Power Boat Association high point ladder for the class.

He is top Canadian driver in the listings.

Ordano has piloted his boat Musketeer to a total of 3,852 points, only 200 points behind the second-place hydro, Wanton Duchess, owned by William Brown of Richmond, Va.

Lil Lectron, owned by W. S. Wilson of Wilmington, Del, holds a substantial lead on the ladder with 5,227 points, but it has attended six more races so far this season than Ordano.

The racing year ends Oct. 31.

Pace-Setting Mexicans Clip Canadian Cagers

STUDIES will continue at Chicago for city tennis star Susan Butt, who has received B.A. and M.A. degrees at UBC. Miss Butt, recently working at Mental Health Centre in Burnaby, has left for Chicago to study for doctorate in psychology.

YOKOHAMA (AP) — Mexico squeezed by in a come-from-behind victory over Canada to preserve its unbeaten record of five straight wins in the pre-Olympic basketball qualifying tournament here today.

Canada's 64-61 loss gave it a record of three victories and two losses in the 12-country round-robin tournament to decide four berths for the Olympic tournament proper.

Trailing at the outset the Mexicans fought their way back to even the score 36-36 at halftime.

In the second half it was a seesaw battle with the lead changing hands 11 times.

Top scorers for the Mexicans were Carlos Quintanar, who had 17 points, and Louis Enrique Irajeda, with 15 points.

John McKibbon of Montreal scored 23 points and stayed in the game until the final seconds when five personal fouls put him out.

For the Canadians it was a heartbreaking loss. They played better basketball than they have exhibited so far in this tournament.

Compared to loose team work in past games, they worked as a unit today. But the Mexican's comeback in the second half was more than they could cope with.

BOTH PLAYED WELL

Canadian manager - coach Doug Heaslip of Toronto agreed that "my boys played all right, but the Mexicans played well, too." He said the Mexicans played "North American type basketball."

Mexican manager Jorge Gudino expressed confidence that "having overcome the tough Canadian hurdle my boys will be able to go through this tournament without any losses."

"The height of the Canadians gave my team some difficulty," he said. The Mexicans missed too many rebounds.

Watching the game among the 2,500 spectators were several members of the Brazilian basketball team including their coach Renato Brito Cunha. "We came to watch the Mexicans especially," Cunha said.

Brazil is one of the 10 national teams that already have seen selected for the Olympic basketball. A total of 16 national teams are to participate in the Games.

The loss snapped a three-game winning streak for the Canadians. After losing their opener to Australia 73-53, they defeated Thailand 70-52, Indonesia 70-60 and South Korea 73-65.

In other games today, Thailand defeated Malaysia 79-78, South Korea swamped Indonesia 103-85, Australia beat Formosa 64-62 and Cuba walloped the Philippines 84-69.

MacKAY'S OPINION

East Improving Its Boxla Brand

VANCOUVER (CP) — Alex MacKay jubilant coach of the Canadian lacrosse champion Vancouver team, said here Tuesday that "senior lacrosse is improving in the east but it still has a long way to go to catch up with the west."

MacKay was interviewed on his return from Ontario where he guided his Vancouver squad to their second Mann Cup with a 4-3 games win over Brooklin, Ont., in a best-of-seven Canadian final.

"Brooklin gave us a real run for it, but it was their imports that did it."

He said that Brooklin added eight players from other Ontario clubs while Vancouver was allowed no imports.

"Those imports gave us most of the trouble. They scored 90 per cent of the goals. Without the imports, Brooklin would have been no match for us."

MacKay said the rink in which they played the series was too small and the white boards around the rink posed a problem.

"It took us a while to get used to all this," he said.

He also cited variations in the interpretation of the rules as a headache for his team.

"Why they don't standardize the rule interpretation I'll never know."

PCL Shows Gate Gain

SEATTLE (AP)—Pacific Coast League attendance for the 1964 season totalled 1,701,046.

PCL president Dewey Soriano said this was an increase of 13 per cent over 1963.

The post-season playoff series between the Eastern and Western Division leaders, Arkansas and San Diego, added another 25,500 to the 1964 total.

Portland led the league this year with a 207,484 attendance. Dallas was last with 39,391.

BROTHERS CHARGED

'Colony Outcasts' Says Sect Leader

CALGARY (CP) — An RCMP corporal said Monday two brothers told him they had been treated as slaves by their leader in a Hutterite colony.

The boss of the 96-member Sandhills colony at Beisecker, Alta., Jo Wurz, told an Alberta Supreme Court hearing he considered brothers Jacob and Edward Wurz outcasts from the community.

"Once they go over the hill without asking they are out of the colony," he said. "They are on their own."

He said the brothers might continue to live in the colony but he would not assign work to them nor grant any of their requests.

The bearded leader said he was elected lifetime manager of the colony in 1959 at a meeting attended only by five of his relatives.

The Wurz brothers pleaded not guilty to a charge of stealing 10 sheep belonging to the colony.

Their leader charged they had used the colony truck without permission and kept $216 realized in sale of the sheep.

RCMP Cpl. Bernie Braun testified the brothers told him they were treated as slaves.

MAGOG, Que. (CP)—A father and two of his sons were killed and three more of his children were injured today when a CPR freight train and their car collided near this Eastern Townships community.

SPEAKING OF CARS

Grand Touring in the Grand Style

By LESLIE MILLIN

"Grand Touring" is a title tied on to more cars than there are jackrabbits in Australia.

As a competition category, GT is growing stronger.

And cars wearing the GT label range from machines like the Ferrari GTO through the Ford Consul to the Pontiac GTO.

Meet the Alfa Romeo Giulia Sprint GT — Grand Touring that would make for grand touring.

The one shown in the picture is a very lightly used model imported by a local enthusiast. It's now in the care of Harvey Maser of David Motors.

Wrapped up in that deceptively simple sample of Italian coachwork is a lot of automobile.

The four-cylinder twin-overhead camshaft engine kicks out about 125 horsepower, enough to propel the light (2,100-pound) car along quite rapidly.

The Giulia GT handles with unusual ease, and together with the very smooth ride makes up the car's most outstanding feature.

On a bumpy, winding road the GT can be steered by one palm placed on the end of the steering column.

There's seating for two in comfort, and another two in relative comfort, particularly if they're small.

A large, lockable trunk rounds out the sedan-ish features.

The two front seats were true bucket seats, that helped make the ride seem smoother by gripping the body and supporting it firmly.

COLORS CLASH

But the interior colors—grey, and two shades of blue—flunked the brown-eyed wife test, being ruled out for clashing with the bright red exterior.

The five-speed transmission is all synchromesh and very smooth, and although the GT is a high-revving car it will pull quite steadily at quite low revs.

An unwary driver can miss third and hit fifth, though, and that doesn't help the acceleration much.

It sells for something over $5,000—not out of line for a car with so much performance.

With its high-stepping performance and ridiculously-easy handling, it's the kind of machine an enthusiast husband could loan his wife to haul the groceries with a minimum of worry.

But if you're the kind that buys an Alfa, you may not worry about hauling groceries.

* * *

Sunday was a lovely day for the races, and drivers turned out for the Mount Douglas hillclimb in droves.

The spectators also stayed away in droves, which was just fine with the sponsoring Victoria Motorsport Club.

In hillclimbs past, the club has been plagued with spectators who stood on the course at the wrong times, frightened drivers that were already terrified of their speed up the hill, and generally acted as ruddy nuisances.

Sunday's hillclimb was kept pretty quiet, and there were only about 100 watchers strewn along the mile of road.

Problems, naturally, were almost nil.

But there's a nagging thought in the back of the head that says that road is a public road.

And an event like the hillclimb naturally attracts spectators.

So why not take advantage of both?

With a little extra forethought and planning, the various trails up the hill could be set aside for spectator use.

ALFA ROMEO GIULIA SPRINT GT
. . . just about as grand as they come

Victorians would know when a good sporting event was under way.

And perhaps a few drivers of machines other than sports cars could come to scoff and stay to admire . . . and realize that sports car drivers aren't necessarily squirrels.

SLOW DRIVERS MUST SPEED UP SAYS GAGLARDI

HOPE (CP) — Highways Minister Gaglardi has told his highway patrol to speed up slow-moving cars on a section of the Trans-Canada Highway near here.

"All the traffic jams and tie-ups are not attributed to two lanes (instead of four) but because some drivers slow down traffic," he told the Yale Social Credit Constituency Association Monday.

The highway patrol has been told to speed up the traffic to the limit, 60 miles an hour.

Red Chinese Say Economy On Upswing

PEKING (Reuters)—A leading Chinese economic writer has stated that the rate of China's industrial growth this year will surpass that of "any of the last few years."

The statement came as foreign observers here saw mounting evidence of China's accelerating recovery from the collapse of the economic "great leap forward" four years ago.

The economist, Fang Chiung, was writing in the official foreign language Peking Review, appearing here this weekend to mark next Thursday's 15th anniversary of the founding of the Chinese People's Republic.

HARVESTS BETTER

He said the harvest had improved for the fourth straight year and the growth in agriculture had been accompanied by a "fairly big expansion" in industry.

"The greatest increases have been registered in those heavy industrial products needed by agriculture, light industrial products using farm products as raw materials and some of the major projects of raw material industries which are urgently needed," he said.

Diabetic's Protest Reaches Top

The case of the dismissed diabetic will be taken up by senior bank officials and Canadian Diabetic Association executives in Toronto this week.

Mrs. Diane Brown, 36, of 3895 Scolton, says she received word of the meeting from Dr. A. M. Fisher of the Connaught Medical Research Laboratory.

She was released by the Bank of Montreal because she is a diabetic. Mrs. Brown had been hired on a temporary basis pending a satisfactory medical report.

But Mrs. Brown says she has since been hired by another bank, which does not require a medical examination for female staff who are in good health.

Earlier, her own doctor gave her a clean bill of health.

Mrs. Brown's medical report describes her as a "well controlled diabetic," she says.

He Proposes Warm Toast To Iced Tea

Tea and coffee executives from many parts of North America sipped tea (with lemon) in the Empress Hotel ballroom Monday while R. K. Porter from Toronto declared:

"Iced tea is the drink of the future. It should be drunk all the year round."

Mr. Porter, who is president of the Lipton Tea Company of Canada, said tea has been a favorite beverage of civilized man since about 2,700 B.C.

"But iced tea is only 60 years old," he added.

It was born at the St. Louis World's Fair on a stifling hot day in 1904 when a young Englishman named Richard Blechynden hit on the idea of pouring his hot tea over chunks of ice.

Mr. Porter was speaking at the 17th annual convention of the Tea and Coffee Association of Canada which continues until Wednesday.

He said two other North American favorites were born at the same fair—hamburger on a bun and ice cream in a cone.

SLOWER IN CANADA

Iced tea was an immediate hit and is now an established favorite in the United States. But its progress in Canada had been slower.

"We seem to have been thinking of it as something only to be merchandized as a summertime supplement to hot tea," Mr. Porter said. "Surely our presentation should be—Iced Tea All the Year Round."

Dr. Gordon Shrum, chairman of the British Columbia Hydro, switched the subject to "British Columbia on the March" — but the tall glasses of iced tea continued circulating about the crowded room.

Some 150 delegates and 100 wives attended the convention—the first to be held in Victoria since 1958. They include W. G. Barker, Englewood, N.J., president of the Lipton Tea Co. of the United States; G. C. Clark, president, Standard Brands of Canada; Paul Higgins, president, Mother Parkers; E. R. Sullivan, General Foods; and W. L. Scandrett, president, Hayter and Scandrett, tea and coffee brokers.

SUICIDE RATE IN B.C. TOPS REST OF NATION

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government is not conducting or supporting any research into the higher rate of suicides in British Columbia, State Secretary Lamontagne said Monday.

Barry Mather (NDP — New Westminster) asked in a written question for the suicide rates in B.C. compared with the rest of Canada, and for information on what the federal government was doing in the way of research.

Mr. Lamontagne's reply said the suicide rate per 100,000 population in B.C. in 1963 was 13.0 compared with a Canadian rate of 7.6. In 1962 it had been 10.3 compared with a 7.2 rate for Canada as a whole. The 1961 rates were 11.8 in B.C. and 7.5 for Canada.

10 RCN Divers Stay Near Royal Yacht

HALIFAX (AP)—About 10 Canadian Navy divers on loan to the RCMP will remain with the royal yacht Britannia during next month's visit to Canada by Queen Elizabeth.

A naval spokesman said Saturday the men from the navy's east coast operational diving unit at nearby Dartmouth were sent to St. John's, Nfld., last week when the Britannia arrived with the Princess Royal on her nine-day visit to Newfoundland.

Stationed aboard the Canadian Navy ship Dundalk, which served as a diving tender for the yacht, the frogmen inspected the Britannia's hull every morning.

The spokesman said the divers were requested by the RCMP and were to continue underwater inspections of the Britannia while she was in Canadian waters.

No Amnesty Decrees

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has decided in line with a decision by the former Conservative government that visits by the Queen to Canada will not be marked by amnesty decrees for prisoners in Canadian jails and penitentiaries, Justice Minister Favreau said in the Commons Tuesday.

B.C. Leads Canada In Parks—Kiernan

There are four acres of parkland for every British Columbian—more than any other province can boast — Recreation Minister Kenneth Kiernan said Monday.

Mr. Kiernan was addressing the opening meeting of a federal-provincial parks conference here.

He said B.C. leads Canada in provision of recreational facilities.

"We in B.C. are in a very strong position, the most favorable of any province," he said.

The week-long conference is behind closed doors.

B.C.'s deputy recreation minister, David Turner, said this will allow a free exchange of information between federal and provincial government parks officials.

All provinces except Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland are represented.

B.C. parks director Harold McWilliams is chairman of the conference.

Topics under discussion include charging admission to parks, vandalism and commercial development in parks.

Wednesday the 20 delegates will go on a field trip, visiting several Island parks.

The conference will wind up Thursday night.

Belts Tighten In Oshawa

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — Some retail merchants here report a business slump in Oshawa as housewives are careful with their money in anticipation of layoffs at the General Motors plant here next week.

Clothing merchants said their new stocks of fall and winter apparel are not moving.

A company spokesman said Tuesday the General Motors plant has enough parts on hand to maintain production until Friday afternoon but will start laying off its 12,500 hourly-paid workers Monday if the United Auto Workers continue their strike against GM in the United

Whittling Down For Semi-Metro

Reeve Lee Thinks Most Emphasis To Be Placed on Garbage, Sewage

The next meeting of the regional representatives discussing a Greater Victoria semi-metro board likely will whittle the broad concept down to a mutual system of garbage and sewage disposal, Greater Victoria metro health board was told Tuesday.

Chairman Gordon Lee, reeve of Central Saanich, said it was his opinion the meeting for Oct. 7 would drop temporarily all other aspects of the plan, in favor of an immediate start on the disposal problems.

Regional planning, parks, health, school boards and hospital improvement districts are included in the broad concept.

"That's just my personal opinion, of course, but there did seem to be a general opinion at the last meeting that these two things at least had to be provided on a regional basis," he said.

Saanich Coun. Joseph Casey said the metro health board "should go slow" in approving creation of a semi-metro board because it did not have popular support.

He said Esquimalt already has indicated it will refuse to join and he claimed that a Union of B.C. Municipalities resolution approving the concept was slipped through the recent convention while he and "many others" were having coffee.

Other board members asked if the semi-metro arrangement would affect school boards or the health board, but Reeve Lee said nothing had been approved yet "and I'm sure it will not mean the disbanding of this board in any event."

All school children will be given another dose of oral poliomyelitis vaccine this fall and special clinics will be held for adults and pre-school children during the week of Nov. 16, chief MHO Dr. John Whitbread announced.

Dr. Whitbread told the board that "every effort" will be made to control the spread of venereal disease in this region.

He said that the Greater Victoria incidence rate of 76.5 per 100,000 population was much lower than the 444.3 recorded in metropolitan Vancouver.

"However, we cannot prevent the overflow of VD cases which might well result from a rapid increase in the rest of B.C.," he reported.

NOTED NATURALIST Patricia Witherspoon will be first in a series of National Audubon Society speakers to visit Victoria this winter. She will show a film on Stepping Stones to Australia in Oak Bay Junior High School auditorium on Friday night at 8, under the auspices of the Victoria Natural History Society and the Canadian Audubon Society. It will be repeated on Saturday night, same time and place. The color film shows a series of islands in the South Pacific, and their wildlife.

NEXT SESSION

Action Due On Parks Commissions

Provincial government action to set up regional parks commissions here and on the lower mainland is possible at the next session of the legislature, Recreation Minister Kenneth Kiernan said Tuesday.

However, he also indicated that the government is not willing to bear as much of the cost as municipalities hoped.

Mr. Kiernan suggested it would be "more reasonable" for the government to pay one quarter of the cost of acquiring and developing parks.

HALF ASKED

The Capital Region Planning Board has recommended that the government pay half the costs.

The board, in a report issued Monday, also recommended the government and local municipalities acquire 12 park areas at a cost of $1 million.

Mr. Kiernan said that discussions here and in Greater Vancouver have now reached the stage where legislation is possible at the provincial session which starts next January.

The legislation would allow municipalities to get together and form regional park authorities with provincial assistance.

Mr. Kiernan said there is an acute need for such action here and in Vancouver.

Mr. Kiernan said delays will only mean less land for future parks.

Brother Of Escapee Died in Fall

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — McNeil Island Prison authorities disclosed Tuesday that the brother of a Vancouver man who escaped Monday died only a few hours before in a fall inside the prison.

Raymond Oscar Meunier, 29, who was serving a term with his brother on charges of interstate transportation of a stolen vehicle, fell 50 feet from a catwalk to the main floor of the prison about 7 p.m. Monday.

Several hours later his brother, Dennis Meunier, 28, escaped but was believed confined in a wooded area of the 4,400-acre island on which the prison sits.

Guards, aided by a helicopter from the Seattle police department, were combing the area.

Authorities said there was no known connection between the escape of Dennis Meunier and the death of his brother.

AMENDMENTS to veterans' legislation will be presented to the Commons before the end of the year Veterans Affairs Minister Teillet said in the House Tuesday. He hopes to have them ready by the end of October. In reply to George Chatterton (PC—Esquimalt-Saanich) about the shortage of consulting doctors the minister blamed this on a general national shortage.

Maple Leaf Design Favored

TORONTO (UPI) — Canadian businessmen favor a maple leaf flag over the red ensign, according to 450 votes cast at the National Business Show here Tuesday.

The votes were registered on two automatic machines.

Sixty per cent favored a maple leaf flag with 33 per cent of that number approving the three-leaf design introduced by the Liberal government.

The remaining 27 per cent favored a single maple leaf flag as proposed by the New Democratic Party.

Forty per cent of the 450 approved the red ensign.

Minority Gov't Foreseen in U.K.

LONDON (CP) — Anthony King, a young Canadian historian now immersed in British political research, says there's a possibility that a minority government may emerge out of the Oct. 15 general election.

The 29 - year - old Toronto bachelor, a graduate of Queen's University, Kingston, would make no flat prediction on the outcome, concluding that at this point the fight is "wide open."

But as he tramps around the British countryside, holding interviews and gathering materials for a forthcoming book on the 1964 British election, King mulls over the possibility that there may not be a straight majority victory for either the Conservative or Labor parties.

It is "unlikely but not inconceivable" that a coalition government may be formed, King said in a telephone interview from Devon where he is interviewing political party workers.

"It is more possible that a minority government, such as we have in Canada, could rule with the support of the Liberal members and independents," he added.

King, a fellow of Magdalen College, Oxford, came here in 1956 as a Rhodes Scholar and immediately became interested in political science. His forthcoming book, sixth volume of a series sponsored by the Nuffield Foundation, is being prepared in collaboration with David Butler, a well-known British political analyst who also worked on previous foundation studies.

King predicts that after 13 years of Conservative rule, there is almost certain to be a swing to the left. The question is: How much? To win, Labor needs a swing of four or five per cent of the total votes. A swing of less than that might produce a political deadlock.

"But if the Labor party, for instance, formed a minority government the Liberals probably would not pledge their support unless Labor gave some guarantees, King said in the interview: "The Liberals may demand that Labor drop its plan for the nationalization of the steel industry, for a start."

Experience also showed that on a national basis, as many as one voter in four may change his mind during the campaign and that television, radio and newspaper may not have any significant influence in winning votes. In fact, says King, British voters are inclined to resent partisanship and react against it.

Huge Trade Deficit Causes Crisis in U.K.

LONDON (CP)—With a general election only 18 days away, the Conservative government published some distinctly embarrassing trade statistics today.

Balance-of - payments figures for the first half of 1964 show a deficit of £256,000,000. Of that sum, £60,000,000 is accounted for by one big deal—the investment by Shell Oil in the Italian Montecatini petro - chemical group.

But apart from that, the deficit still was nearly £200,000,000. A newspaper, The Sun, estimates the total deficit for the year could be between £300,000,000 and £400,000,000.

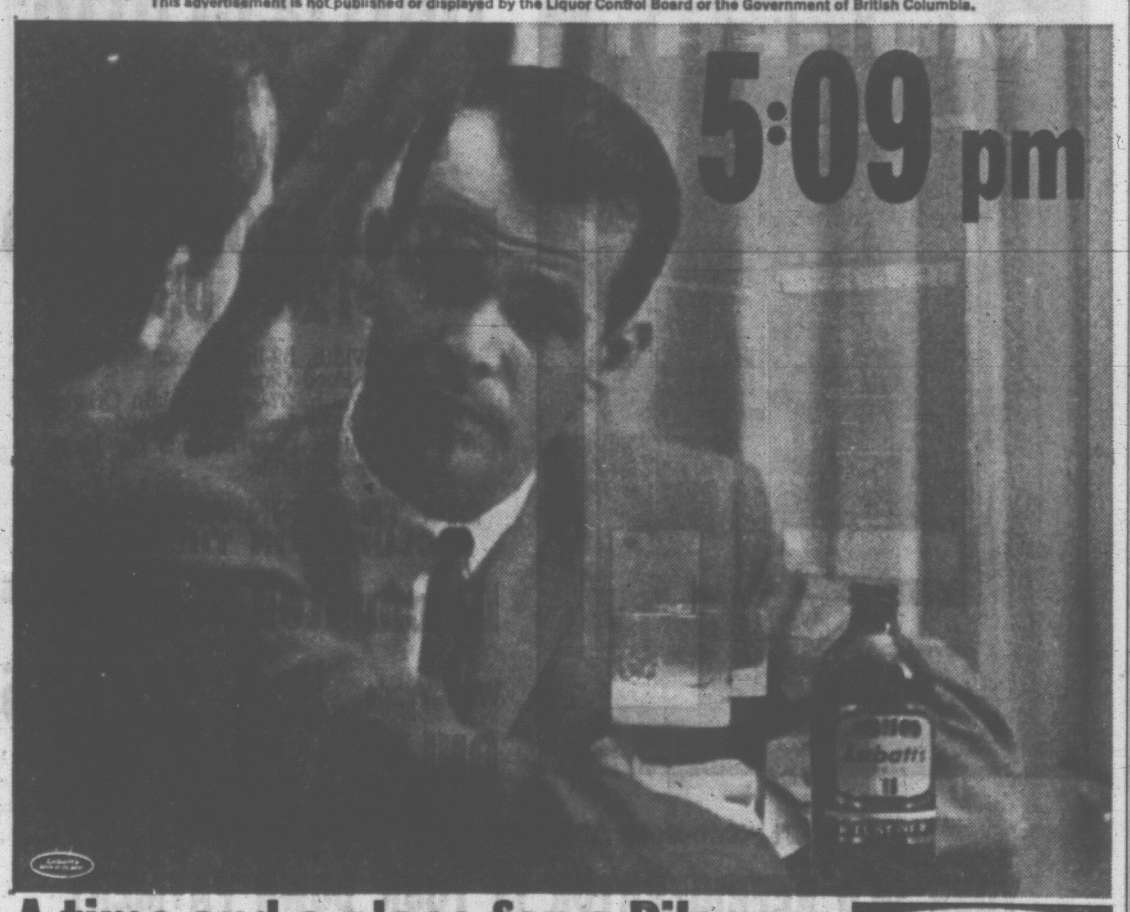

"This would represent the worst balance - of - payments crisis since the war," it says.

Harold Wilson, Labor party leader, has been riding the balance-of-payments issue in the election campaign and declared Monday night that "whoever wins the election is going to be faced with grave economic difficulties right away."

Reginald Maudling, chancellor of the exchequer, took the unusual step of anticipating official publication of the figures by saying in a speech Tuesday night that the deficit, though admittedly large, was not unexpected.

"It is a considerable tribute to the confidence the world overseas has in sterling that we were able to finance a deficit of this size and still have an increase in reserves during the quarter of £16,000,000," Maudling said.

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1964—PAGE 21

Arthur Mayse

To its massive report on the assassination of President Kennedy and the shooting of the social misfit who killed him, the Warren Commission added an appendix aimed at spiking the rumors and myths which have attached themselves to the case.

That their attempt must fail is no fault of the commissioners. They did their job with plodding thoroughness, aided by an awesome battery of trained investigators; and few reasonable men and women will question the accuracy of their conclusions.

Nevertheless, the legends that mushroomed out of national hysteria or were planted by individuals and powers for their own purposes, will persist.

It was so when Lincoln died; that episode has trailed its dubious aprocrypha through a century of American history.

There are those who believe with utmost conviction that Hitler did not die by his own hand, but escaped Berlin to scheme and plot as an exile in South America.

Nor were the last of the Czars and his family really executed in a Moscow cellar . . . according to a rumor that raised its stubborn old head only a week or two ago, those unfortunates were spirited safe away.

★ ★ ★

Human nature has few more puzzling quirks than this wilful turning from the fact to gorge on hearsay, even though the fable we champion has been many times disproved.

I think we are all guilty to greater or lesser degree of accepting unreason. Often this does no particular harm; at times, indeed, it can sustain us through a bad time, or ease the general humdrum of our lives.

★ ★ ★

Even though experience tells me the new dingus in my fishing kit can't possibly be as lethal as its maker claims, I'll drag it hopefully up and down the saltchuck next weekend, and recommend it to my no less gullible friends.

The other day I abandoned a track choice based on careful handicapping to favor a goat that couldn't have outrun an old lady with her arms full of groceries.

Great fun: but not all rumors are harmless. The myth-monger who loosed the spurious 'Protocols of Zion' on a credulous world gave the haters a frightful weapon. Much blood is on his head.

★ ★ ★

In every newspaper office, part of the job is to separate fact from rumor. This we do, day in and year out. City editors become hard-bitten skeptics; and if long in the business, develop a sixth sense that separates the pup-sellers from the truth-sayers.

We are human, like those from whom we extract the news we print. Hence we are fallible.

Still, we try hard for accuracy—even to the point of asking Mr. Smith to spell his name lest it be the exotic version with a 'y' and a final 'e'—and I think we succeed reasonably well in holding rumor at bay.

That, of course, fails to save us from frequent pummellings. While these no doubt help keep us on our toes, they explain in part why newsmen tend to be clannish.

One of our number, let's say, sets out with his wife for an evening that promises well.

For a time, all goes smoothly. The food's excellent, the host pours with an educated hand, and no bore arrives to freeze conversation into monologue.

Then, like icewater down the back, words trickle into our fellow's consciousness:

"Those newspapers . . . why can't they ever get things right? My sister-in-law's girl friend knows someone who was there when it happened."

And so on: rumor triumphing over facts the newsman may have worked hard and long to establish. He sits there with eyes turning red and his wife giving him apprehensive glances.

★ ★ ★

Truth is mighty, and will prevail; and in the tragic episode reported on by the Warren Commission, I firmly believe truth has been well served.

But today and a hundred years from now, the canards the commission did its best to scotch will still lurk in the shadows of history, kept alive by those who will always prefer truth decked with a garnish of rumor.

New USN missile ship, Richmond K. Turner, will be here Thursday.

New Ship With Big Sunday Punch Arrives at Esquimalt Thursday

A spanking new U.S. Navy missile ship with enough striking power to demolish Victoria's Legislative Buildings at a single blow will tie up at Esquimalt Thursday.

The 533-foot long USS Richmond K. Turner is scheduled at the Naden jetty at 2 p.m.

Her crew of 21 officers and 352 men under Captain D. C. Plate is following three other USN warships which chose Victoria for recreational visits this year.

RCN officials here have not announced whether she will hold an open house.

Her main armaments consist of twin launchers for Terrier surface-to-air missiles which are mounted fore and aft.

She also carries twin three-inch, 50-calibre anti-aircraft guns mounted amidships and launchers for anti-submarine warfare torpedoes.

The Richmond K. Turner was completed in February of this year. She was launched April 6, 1963, at the yards of New York Shipbuilding Corp. at Camden, N.J.

170 FEET LONGER

The Coontz Class missile frigate is about 170 feet longer than Canada's destroyer-escorts and just under the size of the cruiser HMCS Ontario which was formerly based here.

She has a fully-loaded displacement of 7,000 tons and her engines will produce 85,000 horsepower to give her a top speed of 30 knots.

Visiting here Oct. 17-19 will be the guided missile destroyer USS Waddell which carries 22 officers and 318 enlisted personnel.

She will be followed Oct. 19-21 by the ocean-going tug USS Metaco which carries a complement of six officers and 63 men.

WOMAN-IN-HURRY DIES

Shop Bags Reveal $11,000 Hoard

There appear to be no heirs of a 72-year-old woman who collapsed in a Vancouver railway station alongside nine shopping bags stuffed with common stocks.

Police said they have found no will left by Mary Hilda Hawkins, who lived here this summer and left for Vancouver last Monday.

It was impossible to say with certainty if heirs might be found but it appears there are none, said Ian Horne, official administrator for the county of Victoria.

WORTH $11,000

He discounted a Vancouver report the stocks are worth $80,000 and put the value at about $11,000.

"They were not well-known stocks," he said.

The woman came to Victoria from Chicago April 13 and lived at the Beverley Hotel, 724 Yates, for one week, police said.

She moved to the York Hotel, 711 Johnson, and checked out last Monday for Vancouver.

She apparently suffered a heart attack Monday night while waiting for an east-bound train.

"She seemed very anxious to get to Winnipeg but she wouldn't tell me why," said Noel Parsons, CNR passenger agent.

"She cried 'I've got to go, I've got to go' but there was nothing I could do. She wasn't well enough to travel in her condition."

She died later that night in hospital.

RELATIVES SOUGHT

Also found in the paper bags were clothing, travellers cheques, some money and papers showing her maiden name as Mary Hilda Zidek of Verona, N.D.

Police in Victoria and Vancouver began a search Tuesday for next of kin but have found none.

Mr. Horne said if no heirs are found he will administer the estate and the stocks will be held by the provincial treasury for safe keeping.

Funeral services likely will be held in Vancouver.

Boulder on Road Causes 3-Way Car Collision

One car overturned and two behind it were in collision in a mishap on the Malahat Tuesday but no one involved was even slightly injured.

The first car, driven by Melvin Olson, 119 Edgerton, swerved to avoid a boulder on the road, hit the shoulder and flipped over.

Then a car driven by J. A. Hobday, 614 Foul Bay Road, stopped to avoid the overturned car in the middle of the road and was hit from behind by a truck driven by J. A. Ritchie of Duncan.

SAANICH

By-Election Delays Big Works Plan

The Oct. 24 reeveship by-election in Saanich has forced postponement of a proposed capital works program that councillors had hoped to take before the voters in December.

"It hasn't been pursued because of the current political situation in Saanich," says public works committee chairman Hugh Curtis.

"I don't think we can expect our officials to prepare a program for our consideration in time to have a sensible one for December.

"But there is every likelihood one will be put to the ratepayers eventually.

SPRING VOTE

"If I have anything to do with it, we'll aim for a vote in the spring."

The plan was conceived as a $2 million program to get Saanich caught up on essential services.

It was originally proposed by Coun. Leslie Passmore, who felt a $2 million program would enable the municipality to provide needed roads, parks and sewers without boosting the mill rate.

His idea met with total acceptance from councillors.

But since former Reeve Stanley Murphy announced his resignation, forcing the byelection, little has been heard of the plan.

And the long-awaited Greater Victoria traffic study is still being awaited, and would affect details of the program.

Coun. Curtis, who is seeking the reeveship, says he thinks the program should be over $2 million.

"We haven't looked at details too closely yet, but I'd think it should be between $2 million and $5 million," he says.

He sees road construction as the biggest item in a capital works scheme, followed by sewers and parks.

"I don't think we can ask the taxpayers in any given year to assume much more of the costs for roads," he says.

As an example of a road that could be improved by capital works budget funds, he names Cedar Hill Road.

OVERLOADED

"It's already carrying far more traffic than it was designed to, and maintenance can only do so much," he says.

The road is not one appropriate for assistance from the provincial highways department, "so we can't look to them for help," says Coun. Curtis.

He feels that presenting the program to the voters at a time other than an election might simplify things, because the council could go into it united "when there are no seats at stake."

"I don't think anyone on council has changed his mind about backing it," says Coun. Curtis.

Once the byelection is out of the way, senior municipal officials can go to work to draft a program.

"If we can work it with little or no increase in taxes, that's the ideal," says Coun. Curtis.

"We would be trying to increase our pace without placing a heavy tax burden on Saanich ratepayers, who are already paying a good shot."

Driver Charged In Fatal Crash

Arrested Leaving Hospital

A 22-year-old horse trainer, injured in a fatal car crash on the Patricia Bay Highway last week, was arrested today on a charge of criminal negligence causing death.

A warrant alleging the offence was served by Saanich police on trainer Barry McGillivray as he walked from St. Joseph's Hospital, where he had been since the crash last Thursday.

He is being held in Saanich police station cells.

McGillivray, of Burnaby, was driver of a car that collided head-on with a car driven by Mrs. Frances Worral, 39, of Sidney.

Killed in the crash were Mrs. Worrall's mother, Mrs. Frances Daniel, 76, and Mrs. Worrall's 4½-year-old son Gordon James.

Mrs. Worrall is still in hospital, where her condition — first listed as critical — was given today as "fairly good."

The collision took place near Berryland, about a quarter of a mile north of Elk Lake.

Both victims were in a late-model compact car travelling towards Sidney.

60 FEET

The McGillivray car spun 60 feet through the air after the crash, landing in a nearby garden.

In the Worrall car, the dashboard was pushed to the back of the front seat, pinning Mrs. Worrall with the twisted steering wheel.

Mrs. Daniel was trapped under the dashboard.

Police used crowbars to extricate Mrs. Worrall and Mrs. Daniel, then found the child lying on the car floor under the dashboard.

The child died instantaneously, and Mrs. Daniel two hours later.

FIRE TRUCK PARADE TO SHINE SPOTLIGHT ON PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1

Everyone loves a parade and a procession of a dozen fire trucks Monday has been designed to give Victorians a special message.

The parade of firefighting equipment from lower V.I. fire departments will begin at 10:15 a.m. from the city's Yates Street fire hall to mark National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 4-10.

The parade is believed to be the first of its kind in Canada.

The procession will move west from the fire hall to Douglas Street and then south to the Legislative Buildings.

Taking part will be units from Victoria, Esquimalt, View Royal, Oak Bay, Saanich, Central Saanich, Langford, Colwood and Sidney fire departments and the Naval Fire Service.

Riding on a naval fire truck will be Miss Firefighter, Gail Hanson, and the HMCS Naden band will head the procession.

Lieut.-Cdr. Gordon Ball, chief of the Naval Fire Service, has announced his department and several municipal departments will be conducting fire prevention instruction in local schools during and after fire prevention week.

Traffic Circle Replacements Prove Worthwhile

The Humber Green-Rose Street extension experiment is a complete success, according to the statistics.

City traffic technician Jack Reid today said the new system is carrying substantially more vehicle traffic than the old Roundabout did and with fewer accidents.

"We've also found that northbound rush-hour traffic doesn't back up past the Bay Street intersection the way it used to do," he said.

Recent traffic counts show that almost 20,000 cars travel north on Government, Douglas and Blanshard-Rose during an average day, compared with 16,000 in 1963 when they were funnelled through the Roundabout.

Southbound traffic has jumped from slightly under 13,000 to almost 15,000 vehicles in an average day.

Topics of the Day

Militia members of the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada will conduct seaward firing practices at Albert Head camp, Saturday from 8:45 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday from 8:30 a.m. to noon.

Equipment used will be 81 mm. mortar with high explosive.

Apogee of trajectory over the danger area will not exceed 7,000 feet.

Rev. Lewis MacLachlan, author of many books on prayer and healing, will speak in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on the evenings of Oct. 7, 8 and 9 at 8.

Executive director of the Indian-Eskimo Association of Canada, E. R. McEwen, will address a special meeting of the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society Friday at 8 p.m., in the music room of the Public Library. Mr. McEwen will discuss the possibility of a B.C. conference on Indian affairs.

Two women who earlier pleaded guilty to obtaining lodgings at a city motel by fraud were both bound over for six months on a $250 bond when they appeared for sentence in city court Tuesday.

Arlyne Beam and Lynanne Phillips, both of 2565 Blackwood, skipped without paying a $33 bill. The bill has since been paid.

Comfort arrived at Memorial Arena today.

Workmen began installing the first of 750 contoured "theatre-type" wood seats, most of them above the mezzanine floor level.

The $16,000 project should be finished in about a week—well ahead of the Oct. 13 start of the professional hockey season in the civic arena, manager Jack Morgan said.

The old benches being replaced by the seats will be salvaged to provide replacements for worn out benches.

A 20-year-old sailor will be formally committed Oct. 6 for trial on a charge of attempted rape.

Magistrate William Ostler said Tuesday in Saanich court there is enough evidence to warrant Daniel Fletcher, HMCS Naden, standing trial.

Fletcher is alleged to have committed the offence on a 17-year-old girl. He is also charged with indecently assaulting her.

A motorist who speeded and weaved along Quadra Street Sept. 6 pleaded guilty in city court Tuesday to careless driving.

John Pinniger, 1728 Amphion, was fined $45 and had his licence suspended. He told police who stopped him that he was showing his friend how his car accelerated and handled.

Ask The Times

Q. Recently I spent about a month at Waikiki Beach in the Hawaiian Islands. While there I noticed that the tide never varied more than a foot or so. Can you explain this? H.J.C.

A. As tides are caused by the attraction of the moon upon the waters of the ocean, the displaced water moves across the sea in the form of a hump rising about 2 to 3 feet higher than mean sea level. When this mass of water reaches a continental coast or narrow bay in a coast it piles up along the coast or in the bay at heights ranging from a norm of 6 feet to a maximum of 50 or 60 feet. However, in mid-ocean, there is little or nothing to interrupt the flow of water. Consequently a normal tide in the Hawaiian Islands is no more than two or three feet.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

HEALTH BOARD PILOT PROGRAM

Sex Education Starts Next Month

By JOHN MIKA

Greater Victoria metro health board Tuesday decided to launch a pilot program of sex education in an unnamed high school next month.

It would pick up where a similar school board program was bogged down last year before it could be launched.

Chief MHO Dr. John Whitbread told the board that meeting with school board officials has been set to work out the details but it was most likely that his deputy, Dr. G. P. Evans, would give the initial lectures and also train some school board staff in presenting them.

"The pilot plan is to start in one school in School District 61 sometime in October," he said.

"If it is found acceptable, the full program should be in all secondary schools by November."

DOCTORS, NURSES

Several board members said they felt that teachers should not, as a matter of principle, be detailed to give sex education and that only doctors and nurses should give the lectures to students.

However, Dr. Whitbread said this would be "black marketing" education in the schools through the health board.

He said he expected the provincial cabinet soon to include sex education as a specific part of the school curriculum and in that event it should be taught by qualified teachers and counsellors.

Saanich Coun. Joseph Casey supported Dr. Whitbread, pointing out it would take "one doctor 20 years to go through all" 22 schools that would be involved in the metro health region which comprises four school districts.

HIGH TIME

Mrs. A. B. Thompson, chairman of Greater Victoria school board, said it was high time something was done to initiate a sex education program in the schools.

She said her school board had a program prepared and ready for introduction in the schools last year but "there were objections from the clergy "and it just drifted after that."

She said the best plan would be to invite all parents to a sample lecture and she was sure that it would be overwhelmingly approved.

Former Cariboo, Skeena MHO Takes Over Deputy's Post Here

Greater Victoria metro health board Tuesday met its new deputy medical health officer and also decided to advertise for a paediatrician to fill its third ranking medical post.

The new deputy is Dr. G. P. Evans who replaces the recently retired Dr. A. N. Beattie. Dr. Evans graduated with a medical degree in 1955 from Liverpool University.

After service as an MHO in Nigeria, he emigrated to B.C. in 1961, holding posts as assistant director of the Cariboo Health Unit and MHO of the Skeena Health Unit prior to his new appointment.

The board authorized advertisements for a paediatrician to replace recently retired Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy who was in charge of the schools health program.

Pancakes hot off the griddle, stuffed with bananas and covered with creamy mocha sauce, may come from Brazil, but they'll quickly find their forte in Victoria.

Aromatic And Yummy Pancakes For Cool October Luncheons

Brazil may be the home of bananas but you don't have to go to South America to get banana pancakes.

Whip up the batter the way you always have, then once off the griddle give the pancakes that Brazilian touch with sliced bananas in the centre and hot mocha sauce on top.

Shrove Tuesday comes but once a year, but not the pancakes. Make them a favorite on your luncheon menu with a dash of the Latin coffee aroma.

BRAZILIAN BANANA PANCAKES

Makes six servings.

Pancakes:

Two cups pancake mix, 2¼ cups milk, one egg, two tablespoons melted shortening.

Mocha Sauce:

One cup sugar, two tablespoons corn starch, one tablespoon cocoa, two tablespoons butter, 1½ cups coffee (strong).

Filling:

Five bananas.

Add milk, egg and shortening to pancake mix, stirring lightly. (Somewhat lumpy batter makes light fluffy pancakes.) Pour ¼ cup batter for each pancake on to hot, lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once. Fold pancakes in half.

Place three banana spears (made by cutting bananas into fourths lengthwise, then cutting each in half) in each folded pancake so that tips of bananas stick out. Pour mocha sauce over top.

Mocha Sauce:

Combine sugar, corn starch and cocoa in saucepan. Add coffee; bring to a boil. Simmer about 10 minutes. Stir in butter. Serve hot.

Red And White Flowers Decorate Church For Primeau-Ross Vows

Baskets of red carnations and white gladioli on the altar of St. Saviour's Anglican Church set the theme for the marriage of Virginia Rose Ross and Joseph Wayne Primeau.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, carried a cascade of red roses and wore a knee-length gown of white lace and chiffon in harmony with the floral decorations.

Maid of honor, Miss Carol Rutherford, wore a gown of salmon pink taffeta and carried a cascade of pink roses.

Rev. R. N. Mugford officiated at the Saturday evening ceremony.

Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Ross, 630 Esquimalt Road and Mrs. C. Bergeron of Cornwall, Ont., and the late Austin Primeau.

Best man was Malcolm Wilson and ushers were Andrew Primeau and Robert West.

Pink and white bells, streamers and floral bouquets decorated the Boilermaker's Hall for the reception when Dr. W. H. Moore proposed the toast to the bride.

This Store Pampers Every Pipe Smoker

By PENNY SAVER

Today, Penny has a few words for the pipe smokers of the family. This includes the women, too!

Women whose husbands smoke a pipe and whose husbands leave their pipes in the nearest ash tray will appreciate what Penny found today—pipe racks that are decorative and very practical. Smaller wooden racks hold four pipes and sell for $2.25. These are ideal for gifts on any occasion.

If you are a pipe enthusiast who enjoys smoking a variety of pipes, there are racks with room for 36 of them. Store has lots of pipes to fill 'em, too!

Tobacco jars of china, featuring a pheasant design, can be bought for $4.95. These are made in England. Other jars are of a simulated metal designed with a crest to give a masculine touch to a room. Airtight, they sell for $11.95.

To go with the metal humidors are matching ash trays. These are centred with a raised cone of cork, ideal for the pipe enthusiast to knock the ashes from the bowl without injuring the pipe. These are available at $4.98.

A popular item for anyone who favors a pipe is a tobacco pouch. Store has a variety of pouches ranging in price from 25 cents to $11. A particularly smart pouch is a chamois or suede container, made in London, England. These are $5.95.

For feminine enthusiasts, store has a quantity of small, light pipes at $1.25. For a more sophisticated touch, try a pipe whose bowl is accented with diamonds. Denture-wearers will find a pipe with the end of the stem tipped slightly just right for them.

Anyone who is interested in pipes or in how pipes are made (store has an interesting story about that), give Penny a call at 382-3131.

SEW SIMPLE WITH Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice:

Why can't I measure the skirt from the waistband and make it the same length all around? This would be so much easier than having the skirt marked.

Mrs. A.S.

Dear Mrs. A.S.:

Most skirts need ½ inch extra length in the back to compensate for the curve of the back hips. If your abdomen is large, the extra length will be needed in front. Check your own skirts and see if I'm not right.

Dear Eunice Farmer:

I plan to make a suit in a few weeks and would like to know what to do to keep the curve at the bottom of the jacket from rolling back over the front.

Mrs. N.T.

Dear Mrs. N.T.:

This can be avoided if the seams are pressed, graded and treated properly. First, grade your seams, trimming the FACING seam slightly shorter than the garment seam. Next, press your seams open on your Tailor Trix pressing board.

After this pressing, edge baste the faced edges. This is done with a small running stitch, with a back stitch every three or four stitches to hold the edge firm. This basting is done from the FACING side of your garment.

As you baste, you want to keep a tiny edge of your garment fabric past the seam line of the facing. This will prevent the facing showing from the right side. Press the faced edges with a dampened press cloth. Force the steam out of your fabric with the pounding block and I think you will be delighted with your results.

He'd Be The Pied Piper Of Bathmen!

By PAT DUFOUR

If ever Dr. and Mrs. August (Guus) Westra decide to come to Canada, they'll start a general exodus from Holland!

The doctor has his practice in the Dutch village of Bathmen and although he and his wife have "fallen in love" with Canada during their first visit he insists, "If we come, I'd have to bring all my patients with me."

This would include 800 villagers and another 1,800 patients who live in the outlying districts.

TOURS HOSPITAL

Recently, Dr. Westra was taken on a tour of the Royal Jubilee Hospital and he's enraptured with the Canadian hospital system.

"I've never seen so many television sets or pretty nurses — and those wonderful beds for patients — each costing $1,000!"

But he still insists the European way of dealing with maternity cases is best.

"We only send the mother to hospital if there are complications. We still prefer to deliver the babies in the home."

The doctor's record would stack up against that of any North American obstetrician. In 30 years of practice, Dr. Westra has delivered 2,600 babies.

This number includes 10 of the Westra's own family. "I delivered all but the first of our 11 children. I would have delivered him but I was in hospital with appendicitis."

Mrs. Jorgen (Elizabeth) Svendsen perches on the arm of her father's chair as she and her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Westra, catch up on family news. It's their first reunion in seven years.

At 56, the doctor could compare favorably with a man 10 years his junior. Yet, his average day begins at 6:30 a.m. and ends at midnight.

"My office is in our home and when the farmers bring their milk into the dairy, they leave their carts and trucks and pop over to my office first thing in the morning.

'MIDNIGHT OIL'

"Then when I've finished seeing my patients, I settle down at night to study my medical journals, usually going to bed at midnight."

His is truly a family practice. The pharmacy is also in his home. This is mainly the responsibility of his wife, Alie. She's a trained medical analyst and pharmacist. In addition, she helps her husband with the bookkeeping.

Contrary to general belief, the doctor insists that his patients never forget to settle their doctor's bill. Indeed, he reports that, thanks to their generosity, he and his family lived well during the German occupation.

"They'd never forget the doctor when they slaughtered a pig or other animal. We lived better in those days than before or since. Once the war was over, there were no more pork chops!"

The Westras are in Canada to see their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jorgen Svendsen of Victoria and a son, Hal, who lives in Vancouver. This is their first holiday in an English-speaking country.

Usually, they take their children and head for France during the holiday season.

Mrs. Westra describes their "caravan." "We make quite a circus, we travel in convoy with two cars, a big camper and a motor cycle. In addition, one of the cars hauls our 16-foot sailboat on a trailer!"

NEAR BORDEAUX

Dr. and Mrs. Westra, although they miss the 200-mile beach of white sand where they usually holiday near Bordeaux, are enthusiastic about Victoria's scenery. Mrs. Westra has her heart set on her own conservation project—she'd love to take back an arbutus tree.

The Westras leave for Holland on Thursday. They'd like to stay longer but the doctor is anxious about his patients.

"It's not the new mothers I'm worried about, it's their husbands. They often faint and I still remember the one who had to be revived with brandy!"

HAGUE-MOCHUK VOWS

Salt Spring Island Church Scene of Recent Wedding

St. George's Church, Ganges, Salt Spring Island, was setting for recent marriage of Peonia (Penny) Mochuk and William Henry Hague. Rev. S. J. Leech heard the wedding vows.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, John Mochuk, Edmonton. She wore a full-length gown of white nylon sheer over satin, styled with a fitted bodice, rounded neckline and lily point sleeves. The back fullness of the skirt was accented by a bow at the waistline. She carried a family Bible, topped with Talisman roses and stephanotis.

The groom's niece, Mrs. William Wilson of Victoria, was the only attendant. She chose a sheath dress of mauve brocade with matching jacket, toning pillbox hat edged in veiling and white accessories. She carried pink carnations and stephanotis, mounted on a white handbag.

Alex Hague, Wilson Creek, B.C., was best man for his brother and ushering guests were Donald Goodman and William Wilson. Organist was Mrs. V. C. Best.

ROYAL WEDDING IN JAPAN

Search For Bride Ended Today

TOKYO (AP)—A girl it took the Japanese imperial household five years to find was married today to Emperor Hirohito's youngest son, Prince Hoshi.

Hanako Tsugaru, 23, descendant of Japanese nobility, became the bride of the 28-year-old prince in ancient Shinto ceremonies performed before ailing Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda and a select list of imperial and government guests in the imperial palace. Following tradition, the emperor and empress did not attend. They watched the event on television from their palace apartments.

Miss Tsugaru became his bride after they had sipped cups of ceremonial sake in the Kashikodokoro sanctuary.

She was selected by court chamberlains who during the last five years eliminated candidates from Japan's 950 blue-blood families.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Stalemate!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: In the 16 years that we have been married, my husband has never written a letter to his parents. I didn't mind writing all the thank-you letters for the gifts they sent our pre-school children, but I resented having to write letters for their 37-year-old son. He was always too "busy" to write, but he found time to do the things he wanted to do. Last year I became so disgusted with his juvenile attitude that I finally told him that if his parents were going to hear from us, he would have to write the letters. He didn't write one letter, but each time we'd get a worried letter from them because of the long silence, he would call them long distance. This put a strain on our budget. I wonder how many other wives have husbands like mine, and what they do about them?

DISGUSTED.

DEAR DISGUSTED: Your husband's type is legion. And most wives break down and assume the writing role again. The more stubborn ones cling to their promises, which usually hurt them far more than it does their husbands.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 47-year-old man who never misses a chance to hold his 17-year-old niece on his lap? I am sending you his picture. Please send it back with your answer. I thank you.

WILMINGTON WIFE.

DEAR WIFE: I am returning your husband's picture. Now send me a picture of the niece and I'll be able to give you a better answer.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and have to get married as soon as possible. My fiance is in the army and is stationed in Germany. He can't get home for a year and a half. He left last month. I can't get over to Germany. Something has to be done and fast. Is there any way we can be married without being together? No one knows I am in trouble. Not even him. We love each other very much. I can't ask anyone I know to help me. Please put your answer in the paper, Abby.

DESPERATE.

DEAR DESPERATE: First, you must take your problem to your mother. Then you had better inform your fiance of your condition. Your clergyman should also be consulted. He will know how a couple can be married, though apart. It has been done in the past.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DEBBIE AT UCLA: Next semester include a course in art. It's time you learned where to draw the line.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Have You a Nice Figure Except for Your Tummy?

I have had many letters similar to the one I am quoting today.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman:

"I can't understand it! I have a nice figure, except for my tummy. I am only about six to eight pounds overweight, and if I could just pick up the fat over my abdomen with my hands and throw it away, I would probably lose those pounds "muy pronto." My waist is slim, my hips are right. This bulge just ruins my figure."

Lowman

To any of my readers who have this same problem, I say, I have your work cut out for you and be sure you don't cut out the work. You are in line for some abdominal, not abominable, exercises.

When a woman is overweight she is fat all over, but even when this is true, fatty deposits may be concentrated in an individual pattern, depending on her glandular setup.

Even when women are the correct weight or just a little overweight, the distribution of fat is highly individual. Some women may find any extra pounds on their waist, others may have slim hips and large thighs while others must cope with fat over the abdomen.

Special exercises are specific for this type figure problem. Of course the abdominal bulge may be due in part to lax abdominal muscles as well as to fatty deposits. Abdominal exercises will take care of both.

Let me give you a couple to start out with. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms extending out from the shoulders and your legs straight. Bend your left knee up close to your abdomen. As you straighten your left leg, bend your right knee up. As you straighten your right leg, bend your left. One leg bends as the other straightens.

Bring your heels close to the floor but do not touch them to the floor after you start, if you can help it. Do this a few times. Rest and repeat.

Here's another one. Lie on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor overhead. Raise your right arm and your left leg and touch. Lower arm and leg. This time raise your left arm and your right leg and touch. Lower arm and leg. Continue, alternating. It is important that you keep your knees stiff even if you cannot touch at first.

If any of you would like to have my abdominal slimming exercises which have been tested in my classes, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper asking for leaflet number 2.

HEMS OF MINK

Parisians Dub Tweeds 'Passe'

PARIS (Reuters) — Smooth surfaced fabrics are the elite-motif of the Paris winter fashion collections.

The dominant trend of the new fashions is based on crisp, flat-finish fabrics used to produce supple body-conscious silhouettes.

Severe fabrics as gabardine, coachman's cloth, broadcloth and whipcords are designers' leading choice for coats and suits. Light-weight rainproof gabardine coatings are lined with brushed wool for additional warmth.

Diagonal and herringbone weaves provide the interest of serge, cavalry twill and ottomans.

Cotton corduroy, featured in both narrow and wide ribs, stages a big comeback at Dior and Balenciaga.

Tweeds are far less in evidence than in past seasons.

Fluffy, long-haired tweeds are out, replaced by flat surfaced, lacey woollen fabrics with a hand-loomed effect. Balenciaga uses soft angora wools and new fabrics woven with raw knitting yarns.

Nina Ricci makes a feature of cashmere for full-length, tubular, evening and fireside dresses, often given a luxury hem of mink.

Silk corduroys and crocheted chenilles take priority over velvet in most Paris collections.

Dior uses chenille in every possible way.

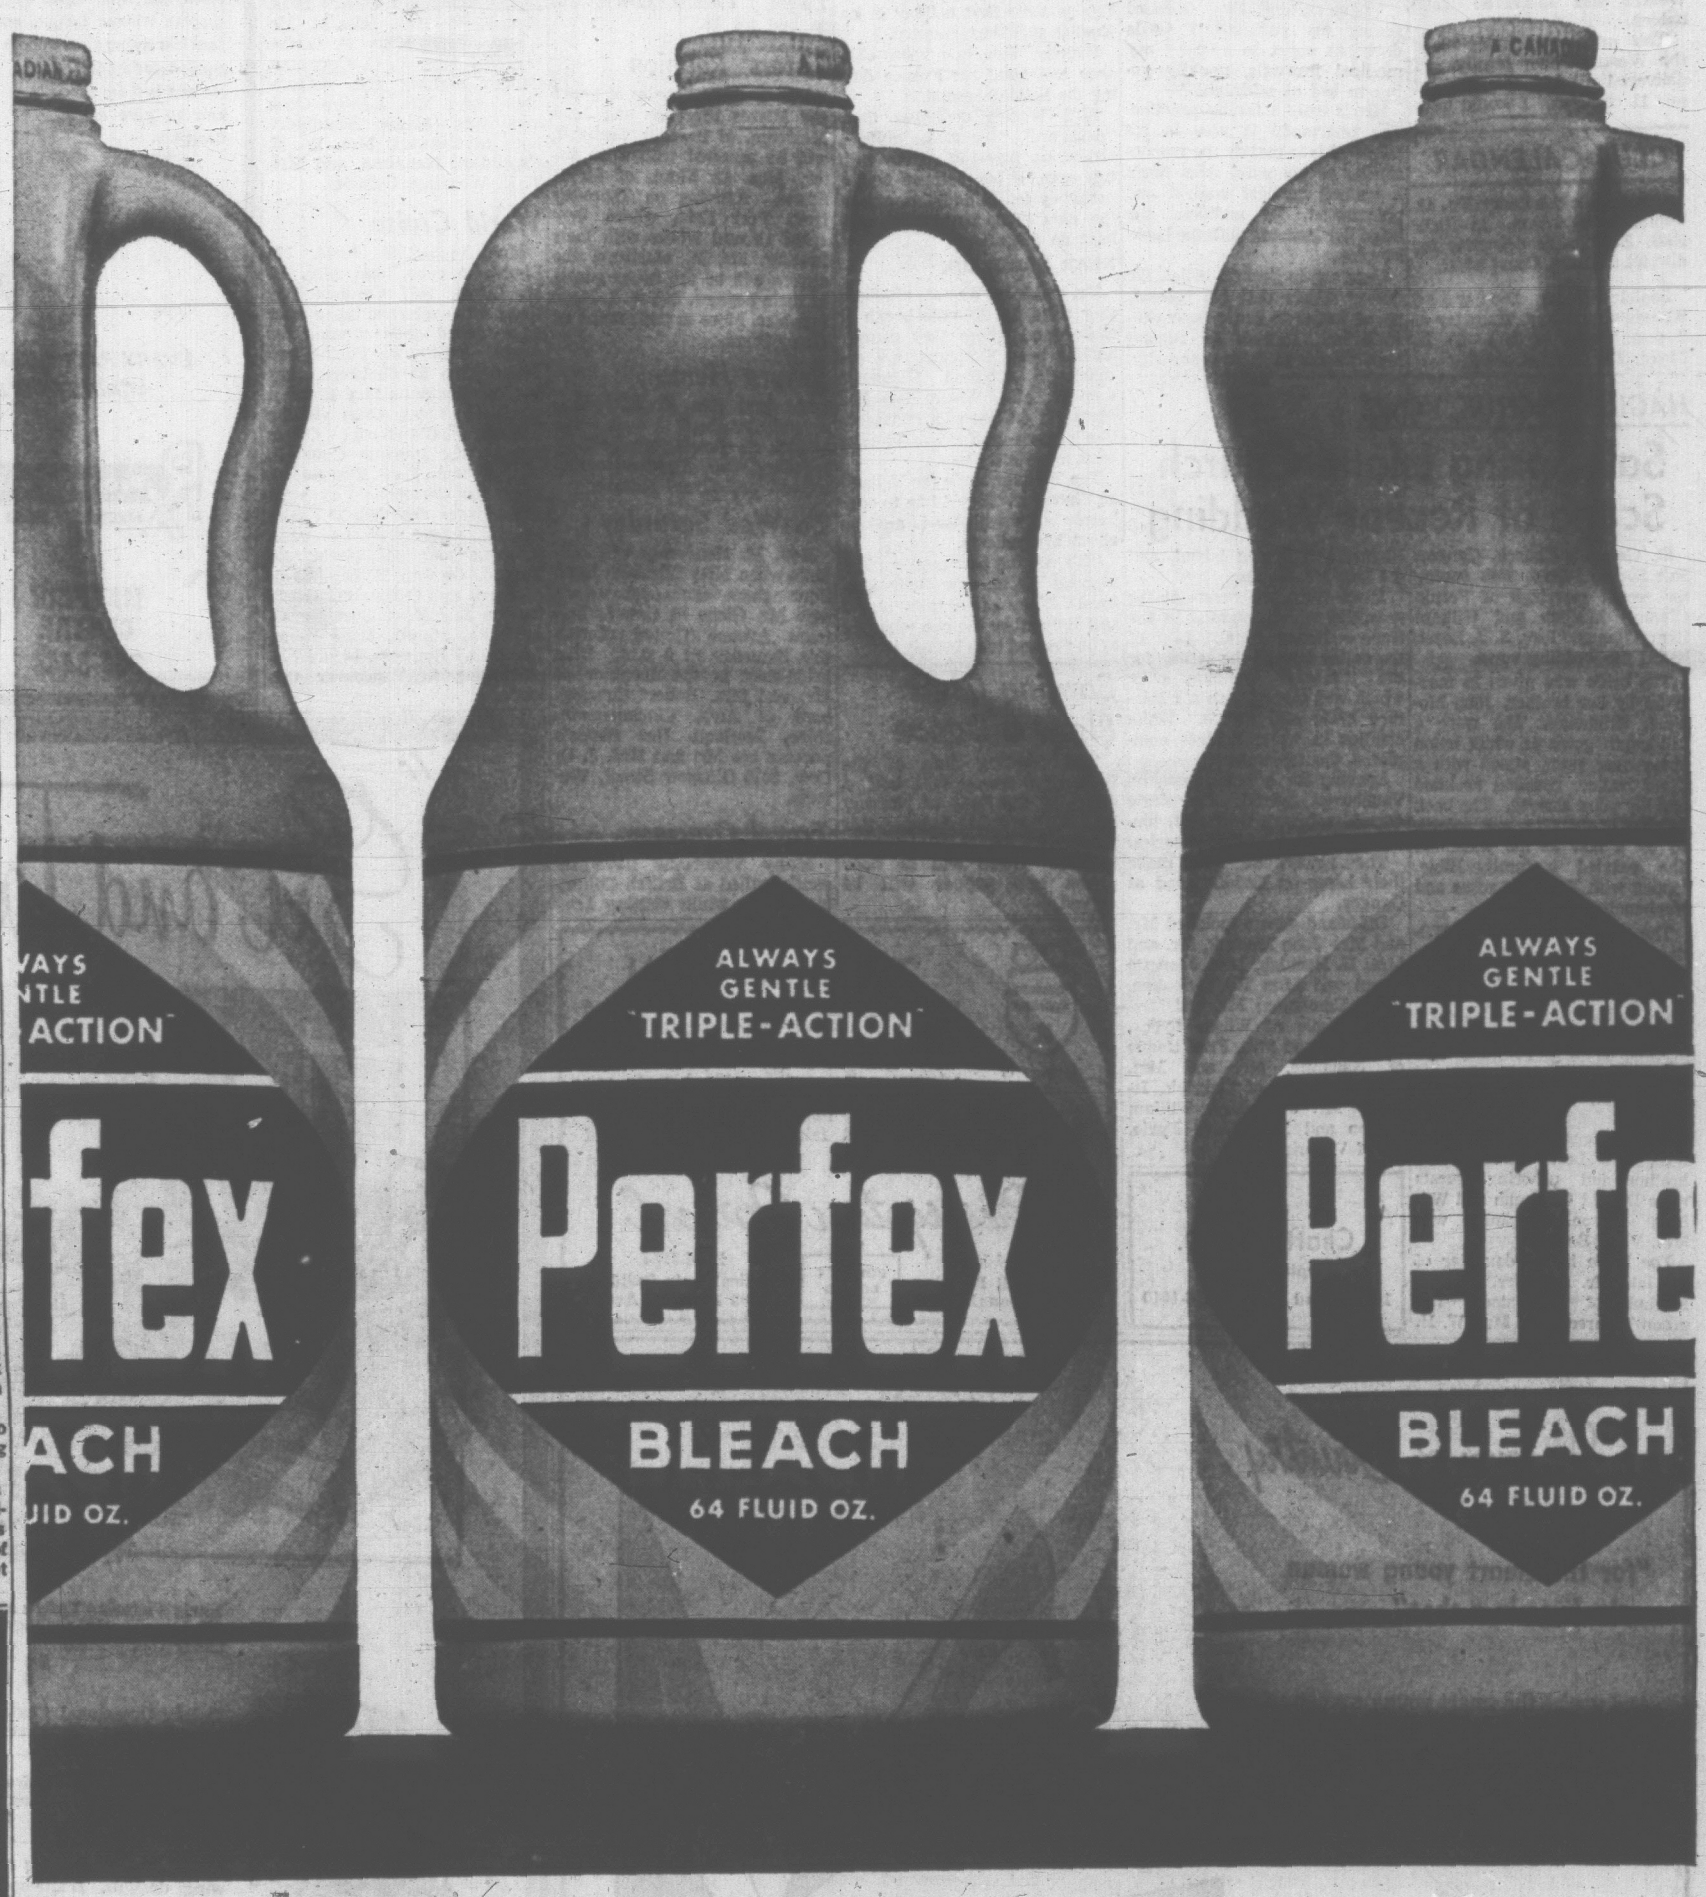

Designers liven the evening scene with "high voltage" effects of brocades and lames shimmering with metallic thread.

Sheer fabrics like mousseline and lace, usually more in evidence in summer, are also used profusely this winter.

Curlers Hold Presidents' Tea

A fashion show was highlight when the ladies' division of the Victoria Curling Club held a presidents' tea on Sunday afternoon to mark the beginning of the season. Members of the division acted as models. They were Miss M. Burgess, Mrs. J. Tang, Mrs. D. Nordlinger, Mrs. H. Edwards and Mrs. M. McGillvary. President Mrs. E. Eldridge received guests. Mrs. M. Smith was in charge of refreshments.

This Was One Garden That No Amount Of Rain Could Spoil

"In spite of drenching rain showers, there was one 'garden' in Victoria Tuesday, where every flower stood straight and tall.

This was the one that bloomed in the Flamingo Room of the Crystal Garden where the Vancouver Island Florists and Growers' Association and the Victoria Symphony Society's Women's Committee combined to give Victorians a show they'll never forget.

In afternoon and evening showings, professional florists gave demonstrations on how to achieve magic with a few choice blooms, a handy little "oasis" (it looks like a dried-out sponge and replaces the now old-fashioned frog), imagination and skilled fingers.

For those who prefer the more lasting varieties, there were imaginative arrangements that combined the beauties of dried Hawaiian grasses, seaweed, artificial flowers, coconut husks and palm boats.

Bill Ruby's display of roses was superb, especially the scarlet Baccara which he reports, "is most popular with brides who are marrying a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The color picks up the red of their groom's jacket to perfection!"

Dahlias as large and warm-toned as a harvest moon brought continuous murmurs of appreciation. Chrysanthemums added their own richness.

Another outstanding display featured carnations grown by Bert Saunders on his Blenkinsop Road farm. Amazingly enough, it was, what he termed, the "freak" of his collection that immediately caught the eye. This was his "Arf n' Arf" that had one half of the flower a glowing red while the other was white with scarlet pencillings. Mr. Saunders explained that this was a throw-back which occurs now and again when developed strains revert to parent color.

Not all the flowers were arranged in displays or vases. Rosemary Wormald wore some of the most magnificent roses to be seen on her hat. As she demonstrated the art of flower arranging, she had women guessing until they came close enough to discover that her chapeau's garden was not the kind that needed watering!

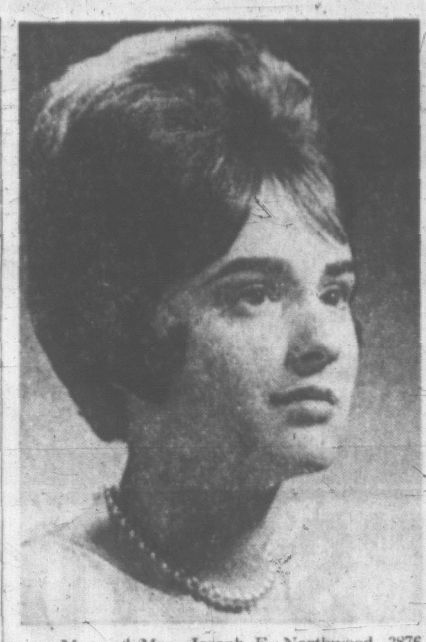

Those flowers that react to sprinkling had their wish! The persistent showers did their best to co-operate, seeking with tenacity every weakness in the leaking roof!

Even this did nothing to damp the enthusiasm of the capacity audiences. This was the first venture of the florists' and growers' group with the main details being worked out by Norma Fitzsimmons, Molly Houghton and Betty Wilkinson.

Mrs. H. Thirlwall was general convener for the women's committee. Assisting her was Mrs. G. E. Neely.

Mrs. R. M. Adamson presented each guest with a corsage as they entered. Also on the committee were Mrs. Owen Jull, Mrs. Ronald Hackney, Mrs. James Fraser and Mrs. Arthur Laundy.

Not only Victorians were tempted to brave the weather for the floral treat. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. B. F. Burrows, Mrs. Ron Shaw and Mrs. Claude Green, all members of the Cowichan Valley Garden Club, who motored from Duncan for the affair, and Mrs. Charles Ferrand, Kamloops.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Northwood, 3876 Douglas Street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret (Peggy) Ann, to Mr. Edin Gordon Tomlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Tomlin, 3817 Synod Road. The marriage will take place on Saturday, Oct. 10, at 8 p.m., in St. Aidan's United Church. Rev. A. G. MacLeod will officiate. (Photos by Jus-Rite Portrait Studio.)

Other guests were Mrs. W. Matthews, Mrs. T. W. Matthews, Mrs. D. J. MacKay, Mrs. J. Bremner, Mrs. G. V. Bishop, Mrs. W. J. Beattie, Mrs. I. Duncan, Mrs. A. Coles, Mrs. Annie Middleton, Mrs. O. Look! It's free!

(What is it?)

It's a little dish. For saving soap pads.

If you hurry, you can get one free with the next box of Jets soap pads you buy—either size.

Park it on the side of the sink with a Jets soap pad in it.

Then you won't have to go fumbling for a Jets pad with wet hands. And you'll have a neat place to put your foamy Jets between scrubs.

The Jets soap pad dish comes in a stunning blue (to match the blue detergent in Jets).

The word 'Jets' is moulded into the bottom in raised letters. When a damp Jets pad lands in the dish, the letters hold it clear of the bottom so it can drain.

As a result, the pad retains its blue detergent longer. The special rust inhibitor works better too, because the pad is kept high and dry.

As you can see, the Jets pad saver has been scientifically designed to help your Jets soap pads last longer and clean better.

Take advantage of this generous free offer now.

Get your Jets soap pad dish while they last. No home is complete without one of these smart, blue plastic pad savers.

RANCH COUNTRY HUNT

Did Book Fire Boy's Dreams?

ALEXIS CREEK, B.C. (CP)—RCMP here said Tuesday they are waiting for a plane before beginning a search for a 15-year-old New York boy believed lured to this colorful Chilcotin ranch country by descriptions he read in a book.

An RCMP spokesman said the theory that the boy left his home after reading the book, Grass Beyond the Mountains, was advanced by the boy's mother, Mrs. R. Taylor, of New York city.

In the book, Richmond Hobson, American-born cowboy now turned author, tells how he and a friend came to B.C. and discovered a fabulous ranch country behind mountains near here.

The RCMP spokesman said they planned a search of isolated ranches in this area, but would need a plane to reach them. He said a plane would probably be available today or Thursday.

"It's a good 12 hours hard ride on horseback from here to the nearest ranches."

He said the boy, who disappeared at the end of the last school term, "may have had his imagination fired by the book to such an extent that he would want to come out here." The boy read the book shortly before he disappeared.

Author Hobson said from his Vanderhoof ranch home north of here that this might well be the case. He said dozens of youngsters from as far away as New York and New Jersey have left their homes to see the Chilcotin for themselves.

MOTHER WROTE

The RCMP here said they learned of the boy's disappearance after Mrs. Taylor wrote to a law firm in Prince George seeking their aid in locating the boy.

"We get about three or four a year," said Mr. Hobson.

"We've had a couple from New York and one from New Jersey. And there have been a lot from Saskatchewan and Alberta as well as from other parts of B.C.," the author said in a telephone interview.

Mr. Hobson said the lure is apparently the glamor and adventure of the discovery he described in his book.

"Me and my partner, Panhandle Phillips, we came up from Montana after we got fed up down there. We just pulled out and headed into no-man's land. I think it's the same with these boys. It's a kind of rebellion."

JAYNE'S THIRD SPOUSE 'AESTHETICALLY' TOPS

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Jayne Mansfield and her new husband, director Matt Cimber, returned Tuesday from Mexico where they were wed last Sunday.

Miss Mansfield called a press conference in a midtown hotel to tell the public about her new spouse.

"He has the most beautiful physique I've ever seen, aesthetically speaking," Miss Mansfield said. She said Cimber also has an IQ of 165.

Cimber directed Miss Mansfield in the Yonkers Playhouse summer production of Bus Stop and said he will direct her in a new play entitled Rabbit Habit, opening in Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 27.

It was the third marrige for Miss Mansfield, divorced last year from Mickey Hargitay. She had three children by Hargitay and a fourth by an earlier marriage. It was the first marriage for Cimber, whose real name is Thomas Vitale Ottaviano.

ROBIN AND THE SEVEN HOODS

Comedy with Music
Royal Theatre

From the moment gangster Edward G. Robinson gets himself riddled with bullets from the guests at his 60th birthday party, I had the feeling this film was not so much satirical as plain ridiculous.

It seemed to be just another sad case of a movie imitating the kind of life that imitates the movies. We were introduced to Frank Sinatra and his cigar-chewing friends as the "Robin Hood" gang and to wise-cracking Peter Falk as leader of the rival Hoods.

If it were straight satire, I could have enjoyed it. But, having endured the ghastly off-beat humor of the rival gangs and their childish delight in smashing up each other's underground poolrooms—it was pretty hard to take Bing Crosby in a pale, wishy-washy imitation of his priestly role in "Going My Way."

As a sanctimonious do-gooder, without the round collar, Mr. Crosby seemed not only phoney, but thoroughly ill at ease with his part.

Sinatra, as the sleazy gang leader, is a walking parody of his earlier self in "Guys and Dolls," and captures the spirit of the period with deft exaggeration. Yet, he, too, seems out of place.

On the credit side, it must be admitted the film has some well-produced sequences. There is a very slick scene where a saloon is turned into a prayer meeting at the flick of a switch when the police descend.

And the firing of 50 gangster revolvers at the funeral of Edward G. Robinson is in the best traditions of farce.

Had this film been handled with a broader, more magnanimous touch, it could have been something not only deeply satirical, but great and heroic.

Chaplin or Orson Welles would have enlarged the canvas and given it finer shades of meaning.

Prescription Prices Down Slightly

TORONTO — Average price per prescription in British Columbia in 1963 at $3.14 showed a slight decline from the 1962 average price of $3.17, according to the 22nd annual survey of retail pharmacy, conducted by the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association.

Average price per prescription for Canada was $3.20 in 1963, compared with $3.16 for 1962.

Gross profit was higher at $52,552, but this increase was offset by higher operating expenses, resulting in a decline in net profit, which was 2.3 per cent of sales compared with the preceding year's 2.8 per cent.

LOWER TURNOVER

Annual rate of turnover was lower at 3.5 compared with 3.7. Pharmacists in the province dispensed more prescriptions, 11,194 against 9,312. Average receipts from prescriptions were $35,227, well ahead of 1962's $29,568, but the increase was due to the greater number of prescriptions dispensed. Ratio of prescription receipts to total receipts at 21.1 per cent were up from 19.8 per cent recorded in 1962.

The survey also showed that British Columbia's pharmacies are a long way from the 40-hour week. They were open 66 hours weekly and proprietors worked 50 hours per week.

LAW AND ORDER A PUBLIC RESPONSIBILITY

Compensation Advocated for 'Volunteers'

TORONTO (CP) — E. Richard Lovekin of Newcastle, Ont., a lawyer and managing editor of the Criminal Law Quarterly, says in the current issue a citizen would be more likely to help a policeman in trouble if he knew he would be compensated for damages or injury.

"The enforcement of law and order is a public responsibility as we all know," the editorial says: "Those brave enough to accept the challenge" should not die or suffer harm without recompense.

"The law is very deficient in this regard. It will not come to the aid of a volunteer." Mr. Lovekin, former prosecutor for the judge advocate general in the department of national defence, said there should be compensation to relatives of victims as John Blanc, slain here last month as he attempted to stop a fleeing bank robber.

Criminal Law Quarterly is a legal journal published in Toronto.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Shari Goldstein, age 13, of Lancaster, Pa., for her question:

How do they make little bonsai trees?

A bonsai has a special attraction for children and for pixies. A display of these dwarf trees is like a miniature forest from fairyland. You may find them in the right kind of plant nursery or florist shop. There are pixie-size pine trees, scaled down from the giant evergreens of the forest. There are midget wisteria and pomegranate, dwarf bamboo and camellia and perhaps a doll-size cherry tree loaded with dainty doll-size blossoms.

Each little tree grows in an artistic pot made of stone or metal, of ceramic or sturdy wood. Its dwarf trunk and branches are gracefully curved and twisted, and the soil may be topped with mosses and pebbles to resemble a patch of the forest floor. When properly tended, a bonsai may live in miniature perfection for 100 years or more.

We can thank the Japanese for the art of bonsai. They have been practicing the skills of dwarfing trees for some 700 years. The basic trick is slow starvation. But this does not mean that the little tree is deprived of food and water or that it is neglected. Far from it. A tree feeds through its roots, and when its roots are cramped and reduced by severe pruning its food and, therefore, its growth must be limited.

You can buy a three-year-old bonsai already planted and trained by an expert. But if you have a green thumb you can create your own model from a young tree purchased in a gallon can. In either case your dwarf tree needs patient tending from day to day. Place it on the porch where it gets a constant supply of circulating air. Give it a daily drink of water, and through the hot summer water it every morning and evening. Always spray the whole tree, leaves and branches with a gentle shower.

A Glimpse of Fairyland

Every few weeks give your diminutive tree a spoonful of camellia plant food, rich in ammonia nitrates. Pinch off the tips of new twigs as they occur. Every two years remove it from its pretty pot and prune off one-third of its roots. Remove about a third of the old soil and refill the pot with a mixture of equal parts of peat, light soil and sand. This well-tended bonsai will survive for years, perhaps long enough to bring a glimpse of fairyland to your grandchildren.

If you start your own bonsai, survey its artistic possibilities while it is still in the can. Bend and twist its miniature boughs and wind them with spirals of copper wire to keep them in shape. Then prune off two-thirds of its roots. The base of its pot must have several holes and a lining of perhaps wire screening for good drainage. Pack the container with firm soil and cramped roots to within a quarter-inch of the top. This space at the top is needed to hold the daily puddle of drinking waters.

Andy sends a 15-inch World Book Globe to Steven Donner, age 11, of Tucson, Ariz., for his question:

Were the oceans ever filled with fresh water?

The salty chemicals in the sea are dissolved from the land by streams and running rivers. This robbery has been going on for ages, and the sea is getting saltier all the time. In the past, the oceans were less salty, and if we go back far enough we come to a time when the sea water was fresh or almost fresh.

Millions of tons of salts are dumped into the seas every year, and experts have tried to estimate how long it took to make the seas as salty as they are today. At one time this was used to estimate the age of the earth itself. It was thought that the rivers must have taken 100 million years to add all these chemicals to the oceans. Now the experts think it took much longer and that there was some salt in the seas at least a billion years ago.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Sophie Tucker wants a woman in the White House. She thinks the woman should be Sophie Tucker. She throws badges out to the audience reading, "Let's Have a Red Hot Mama as President."

Old Soph", celebrating ser 60th year in Show Business, is doing her campaigning at the Latin Quarter, preaching her platform of love thy neighbor—and anybody else who's handy.

Addressing the old gentlemen who may have given up romance, she says in song:

"Go out and have some fun;
Because if the dames don't get the money from you
They'll get it from your son."

There's so many standing ovations for Sophie that it looks like the audience might be taking setting-up exercises. For all her red-hot mama routine, Sophie, now in her later 70s, reveals the serious side . . . that she's raised $3.5 million for charities selling her life story and her recordings at the back of the room after the show.

Right up till 3:30 or 4 a.m. she sits there signing autographs and taking in the money for various charities.

As one ringsider said, "I wish my 40-year-old wife had that much energy running the house . . ."

Clever comedian Lee Tully tells at the Latin Quarter of his "swinging grandmother" (no relation to Sophie Tucker). "She was on a date and had to slap the guy three times," he said. "I asked her, 'Was he fresh?' She said, 'No—I thought he was dead.'"

Arthur Godfrey boomingly told me at the Ashley Famous soiree at Shepheard's that he's so delighted with his stage success, he'll do "Never Too Late" in Miami Beach. The big redhead, once so sick, is now a ball of fire . . . Robert Goulet and expectant wife Carol Lawrence, and her three unhousebroken poodles, are occupying a huge suite at the Boston Sheraton Plaza (with newspapers on the floor) while Bob plays Blinstrub's.

Jerry Lewis is being saluted by the Am. Guild of Variety Artists at the Winter Garden here Dec. 6. Jerry will pay the orchestra as a contribution to AGVA. AGVA Prez Joey Adams told Jerry, "We'll take care of everything; you're not even going to be allowed to perform." Jerry screamed, "If I can't be on stage at least an hour, the whole thing's off!

Actor Robert Wagner said at the Little Club he's here to talk a TV series with producer Sheldon Reynolds . . . Joe Levine'll spend 20 times as much on the "Harlow" film as he did for "Hercules." "But you see," he explains, "It's a different set of muscles" . . . Six of the Folies Bergere beauties are making a nudie film, "The Monster of Sunshine Park," right in New York . . . Joe E. Lewis was asked at the Copa how his accompanist knew which song Joe would sing next. "Why should he know?" Joe rumbled. "Even I don't."

Horse's Wound Believed Caused By Bow, Arrow

A Vancouver businessman has a wounded horse on his Central Saanich farm today—and a pretty low opinion of local hunters.

Frank Bernard flies to the farm on weekends to relax away from his Vancouver business.

The other weekend he arrived to find one of his three horses with a dirty, infected wound in its shoulder.

"He was in pretty bad shape," says Mr. Bernard.

At first, he and veterinarian Dr. William Powell thought the horse had been shot with a light rifle.

The wound was a round puncture about two inches deep.

But probing the wound revealed no bullet, and Mr. Bernard is convinced the horse was shot with a hunting arrow.

"It's not the kind of wound that could be made by a branch or a twig," he says.

The horse is about 15 years old, an ex-race horse, and is now recovering slowly on penicillin.

"It made me feel pretty bad," says Mr. Bernard.

"Some people will just do anything."

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME

By JIMMY HATLO

8 CARDS OF THANKS

Mrs. J. R. Marrs, Mrs. B. Ward and Miss C. Crooks wish to express their sincere thanks to their many kind friends, neighbors and pallbearers for their kindness and floral tributes extended to them in the passing of their dear mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Crooks. Also a special thanks to the Rev. Dr. J. L. W. McLean and the staff of McCall's Funeral Home.

The gratitude in our hearts can never be fully expressed, but we want our friends, relatives and neighbors to know how much their kind words and expressions of sympathy have meant to us during our recent time of sorrow in the sad loss of our husband and father, Mr. George Little.—Mrs. Caroline Little, son Mel and daughter Marie.

9 IN MEMORIAM

BLACKSTOCK—In loving memory of a dear husband and Dad, John Deans Blackstock, who suddenly passed away one year ago today, Sept. 30, 1963.

Always remembered and sadly missed.

—Phyllis, Donna and Russell.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

Sexy covers on paperbacks sell books by the thousands. Sex on television is following suit.

That's why it's not surprising the success story on television this year is ABC-TV's story on television this year is ABC-TV's Peyton Place.

Stephen

Twice a week, this lovelorn loaded soaper slips into the living rooms of at least 25,000,000 American homes.

The series is loaded with wretched marriages, illegitimate offspring, adultery, and other like ingredients. It's attracting viewers like no other show since the spectacular success of the violence-laden Untouchables several seasons back.

According to Variety, Peyton Place in its second installment outrated NBC-TV's competing Hazel, which was premiering for the new season, by almost two to one.

In the first two installments Peyton racked up a national Arbitron of 49.9, or a combined total of well over 25,000,000 homes, about four times its record-breaking book sales to date.

It's the most talked about, most publicized and most viewed program of all of the shows on television.

While its per episode Neilson may fall short of a Bonanza or a Beverly Hillbillies, its combined weekly rating will undoubtedly establish it as TV's top program in viewing.

It's really a sad commentary on the morality of North America. The one horrible thought is that ABC-TV has promised to run the series on two extra nights of the week if it proved successful.

CBS-TV news viewers were startled late last week to see and hear Alexander Kendrick, the gruff-looking London correspondent, spout a heart-felt sympathy for two victims of unrequitted love. Britain had failed to mate the London Zoo's giant panda, Chi-Chi, with Moscow's Ahn-Ahn, a male, who was reportedly indisposed.

Kendrick wrote a poem and, in answer to several requests, here it is:

In fit of candor, the lady panda at the London Zoo,
Name of Chi-Chi, felt all tweetchy—what to do?
There was reason: Mating season—time of test
For this only panda lonely in the West.
Behind the Curtain, also thought hurtin" for a mate
Lived a splendid, opposite-gendered pandidate.
But East-West Cupid somehow bloopered in his haste,
For Moscow's Ahn-Ahn was not all man-man; in fact, a panda-waste.
So girl doesn't meet boy: it's trick, not treat, boy; Nature's cruel.
But in her fashion, without passion, Chi-Chi plays it cool.
Does her thought sometimes meander to some other virile panda off in China, say?!
Is she victim of polemic or is love just not pandemic, in the panda way?
Will she ever get her man, then?
Or all hope must she abandon?
Death, where is thy sting?
Oh, do not panic, pretty Chi-Chi,
Life is bound to be more peachy.
Love's a many-panda'd thing.

UNHAPPY MARRIAGE TOPPED IT OFF

Oswald's Life: A Chronicle Of Frustration

By SID MOODY

WASHINGTON (AP) Lee Oswald's pretty Russian-born wife once said her husband would have found happiness "only on the moon, perhaps."

Certainly it was not in his stars.

Gradually through the 888 pages of the Warren commission report, the blurry image of Lee Harvey Oswald emerges in sharper focus than ever before.

From among all the rumors, scattered facts, speculations, Oswald takes form as a tortured wanderer in quest of two things: An ever-elusive happiness or, barring that, a place in history. The first he never found. The latter he did, finally, in a brief moment of fury in Dallas last November.

Oswald's fatherless childhood was spent with his mother, whom the commission called self-centred, roaming from New Orleans to Texas, to New York City. While she worked at odd jobs, Lee sometimes lived at home, sometimes at a children's home, shared a bed with his mother until he was 10 or 11 but found few outlets for his affection, became increasingly withdrawn.

SHY, BRIGHT

In his fancy, he imagined himself as "the commander" who some day would be a national leader. Reality showed him a boy brighter than average, shy of girls, increasingly in difficulty in the many schools he attended.

"Lee was brought up in this atmosphere and constant money problems and I am sure it had an effect on him," said his half-brother, John Pic. When he was 12 his mother brought him to New York to live with Pic. Oswald threatened Pic's wife with a knife during an argument. His school mates taunted him. He became a truant, a loner staying at home glued to a television set. He was taken to Youth House, an observation centre, for psychiatric treatment.

Contrary to reports, he was not diagnosed as potentially dangerous.

But chief psychiatrist Dr. Renatus Hartogs described him as a "quite disturbed youngster who suffers under the impact of really existing emotional isolation and deprivation, lack of affection, absence of family life and rejection by a self-involved and conflicting mother."

SCORNED FLAG

He admitted to fantasies about being powerful and sometimes killing people. He refused to salute the U.S. flag. But, said Carro, "there was nothing that would lead me to believe that there would be seeds of destruction for anybody."

Mrs. Oswald left New York without submitting Lee for psychiatric treatment as probation officers had recommended.

At 15 he began to read Communist literature, thought President Dwight D. Eisenhower should be killed for oppressing the working classes.

At 17 he joined the Marines, baited his officers for not knowing as much about foreign affairs as he did. He was court-martialed twice, made just barely passing marks in proficiency. Fellow Marines called him "Ozzie Rabbit," or "Oswaldskovitch" because of his reading of Communist literature.

MARINA OSWALD

TRIED SUICIDE

When the Russians delayed in granting him a visa, Oswald despaired, tried to commit suicide. He wrote of a suicide attempt in a rambling, almost incoherent book he called his "Historic Diary."

He was found before he bled to death, after slashing a wrist.

But the Russians allowed him into the country, sent him to Minsk, to work in an electronics factory, paid him $140 a month, far above average. He attended opera, read, hunted, went to dances but found compulsory meetings of the factory workers aggravating. His supervisors reported the defector was "over-sensitive to remarks from the foreman . . . careless in his work . . . took no part in the social life of the shop . . . kept very much to himself."

Russian life palled on him. In the "Historic Diary" he wrote:

"The money I get has nowhere to be spent. No night-clubs or bowling alleys, no places of recreation except the trade union dances. I have had enough."

WED ON REBOUND

In 1961, on the rebound from a girl named Ella who had spurned him, he married Marina, a pharmacist he had met at a dance.

"In spite of fact I married Marina to hurt Ella I found myself in love with Marina," he wrote in his diary.

His diary also records Oswald's disillusion with Russia:

"No man having known, having lived, under the Russian Communist and American capitalist system could possibly make a choice between them.

. . . One offers oppression, the other poverty. Both offer imperialistic injustice tinted with two brands of slavery."

Russia, he wrote, had "fat stinking politicians over there just like we have."

He was finally allowed to leave Russia with Marina in June, 1962. Back in the States Marina found Lee "very irritable, more of a recluse. Sometimes some completely trivial thing would drive him into a rage."

BEAT WIFE

Once she found him crying. He beat her several times for smoking or drinking or wearing cosmetics, slapped her when she forgot to zip up her dress all the way. He became incensed when Russian-speaking friends in Fort Worth and Dallas gave Marina dresses. He broke off with his mother after she gave them a high chair for the baby.

He had trouble finding jobs as a menial worker and trouble holding any he got. He drifted. His marriage faltered. He struck Marina when he learned she had written a former boy friend in Russia—a blow Marina conceded later "there was some grounds for."

A friend, Mrs. George de Mohrenschildt, compared Oswald to "a puppy dog that everybody kicked. He was just pushed, pushed, pushed and she (Marina) was probably nagging, nagging, nagging."

Marina complained to the de Mohrenschildts in front of Oswald of his sexual inadequacy, said to others they rarely had sexual relations and that Oswald "was not a man."

BELITTLED VIEWS

She belittled his cherished political views, "his fantasy, which was quite unfounded, as to the fact that he was an outstanding man . . . He was a man like any others who were around us. But he simply could not understand that."

Finally, in November, 1962, friends persuaded Marina to leave him. Oswald, in tears, begged her to come back. She eventually did. But once she contemplated suicide.

In New Orleans in 1963 Oswald organized a Fair Play for Cuba committee of which he was head and only member. He wanted to go to Cuba.

He applied to the Russian embassy in Washington on behalf of himself and Marina, then wrote a letter, unknown to Marina, asking the two applications be considered separately.

But it was not to be. He made a futile trip to Mexico City in September, 1963, to try to get a visa from either country. He returned to Dallas, frustrated, jobless, soon to be a father again.

In the last week of his life he had another battle with his wife, begged her to come to live with him in Dallas instead of staying with a friend, Mrs. Ruth Paine, in suburban Irving. At first she wouldn't talk to him, then told him no. Oswald tried hard to please her, playing with the children and putting away diapers.

She refused to relent and he decided to go back to Dallas. But for the first time, he left his wedding ring in a cup on their dresser. Oswald, the penniless malcontent, also left $170 in a drawer for Marina.

The night was Nov. 21, 1963, and on the morrow Oswald left for the last day of work at the Texas School Book Depository—a day on which all his life's work came to a horrible crescendo.

CLERIC'S VIEW

Smallwood Spirit Matches Bennett

Newfoundland has the highest birth rate, the lowest death rate, the highest cost of living and the lowest wages in Canada, says Rev. E. Laura Butler, chairman of the Victoria presbytery, United Church of Canada.

Miss Butler represented the presbytery at the 21st general council of the United Church held in St. John's, Newfoundland, recently.

"They gave us the most wonderful welcome," she said. "The conference was announced on every telegraph pole and Premier Smallwood entertained all the delegates at his home.

"He is as enthusiastic about Newfoundland as Premier Bennett is about British Columbia."

Miss Butler said Premier Smallwood is planning to build new hospitals in Newfoundland and would like the churches to staff and operate them.

"He is very conscious of the fact that many United Church workers are trained for nursing and hospital care, and I believe our church has a great opportunity here."

Miss Butler said all Newfoundlanders now agree that confederation with Canada was the best thing that could have happened.

STANDARDS BETTER

"It has meant better social services and more money for child care," she said. "Newfoundland's standard of living is low compared to ours, but it is improving all the time.

"And the province has tremendous reserves of natural wealth."

Miss Butler said United Church delegates attending the Newfoundland conference opposed the advertising of liquor and tobacco on TV and radio, but did not refer to newspaper advertising.

"It was generally agreed that we should endeavor to co-operate with the Anglican and Presbyterian churches wherever possible, so that eventually we may achieve organic union."

Inconsistent Case Dismissed

Crown prosecutor Ken Murphy failed in Saanich court Tuesday to elicit information from two girls that, he said, they had earlier given to police.

The girls were the principal witnesses to a charge of dangerous driving against Oliver Cottam, 19, of 1007 McCaskill.

The charge was dismissed by Magistrate William Ostler who said case was "bristling with inconsistencies."

The girls, Vivian Smith, 2526 Bridge, and Elaine Jacquot, 286 Burnside, were in Cottam's car as he drove along Glanford Ave. early on the morning of July 26.

They later gave statements to police and were called to give evidence in Cottam's trial Tuesday.

Mr. Murphy at one point asked Miss Smith, "Did you not give police a statement contrary to what you say today."

"SHOULD MATCH"

The girl replied, "The things I said today should match what I said before."

Mr. Murphy wanted to examine the witness on her earlier statement in an attempt to have her declared "a hostile witness" but the magistrate wouldn't let him.

He said the witness would first have to be declared hostile before she could be cross-examined and he refused to declare her hostile.

The magistrate also refused to allow Mr. Murphy to "refresh her mind" as to what she had earlier told police.

DRURY
. . . unemployment too high

'Economy Not Making Enough Jobs'

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian economy is not growing fast enough to absorb labor-force increases, Industry Minister Drury today told a meeting of the Robert Morris Associates, an American business organization.

Real Canadian output, before price increases, grew by six per cent between 1961 and 1962. Last year it rose another 4½ per cent and the 1964 increase likely would be "substantially greater."

However, throughout this period unemployment, allowing for seasonal variation, had remained above five per cent of the labor force.

"Thus, although our economic growth has been steady, the number of Canadians unemployed has remained much too high," Mr. Drury said.

Ahead was a big increase in the labor force. Canada's population had been rising at a faster pace than that of any other western industrialized nation.

It had been estimated that for the rest of the 1960s, the Canadian labor force would expand at a rate "significantly greater" than that of the last decade. This rate would be higher than the rate of labor-force increase expected in the United States and western Europe.

"Consequently, the first major economic task facing Canada is to achieve a much faster rate of economic expansion.

"And most of the burden for achieving this will have to be borne by our more dynamic and aggressive industries."

Membership Drive By Visitors Bureau

A "blitz campaign" for new members and more money will be conducted by Victoria Visitors Bureau Oct. 22.

"We are faced with a crisis," bureau president Conway Parrot told directors Tuesday.

The bureau doesn't have the money to complete off-season promotion of Greater Victoria, he said.

Advertising worth $7,400 was cancelled or postponed last week. It had been decided instead to "proceed as funds allow" on a $3,000 program.

The 1964 tourist season so far has been "exceptionally profitable" but "we are moving into those months of the year which create the major problem for the industry."

There were too many people inclined to "let George do it", and they were depriving the bureau of "essential dollars."

In the seven months ended Aug. 31, $50,807.04 was received and $48,394.71 spent. Balance to come was listed at $24,718.36 but anticipated expenses were $35,930.69.

"We need $20,000," membership commitee chairman Nick North said. "We are looking for $8,000."

He outlined plans for 40 two-man teams to call on 15 businesses each to drum up new members and more money.

Show Crash Pictures To Car Firm—Jury

VANCOUVER (CP) — An Assize Court jury recommended Tuesday that officials of a Princeton automobile firm be shown pictures and reports of a gruesome accident which claimed the lives of two girls here last May.

The jury made the recommendation in finding William Wannamaker, 22, of Princeton and Vancouver, guilty of dangerous driving in the accident. He had originally been charged with criminal negligence but the jury found him guilty of the reduced charge.

Wannamaker testified at the trial that he bought the car in Princeton the day before the accident. He also said he was driving on the Granville Bridge here for the first time when he lost control of the car on a curving exit ramp. He testified he tramped the brakes all the way to the floor but "there was nothing there."

The two girls, Patricia Eddington, 18, and Betty Haskins, 18, both of Ontario, were beheaded when the car crashed. Dean McMillan, 18, of Vancouver, had his right arm torn off.

Magistrate J. G. A. Hutcheson sentenced Wannamaker to three months in jail and suspended his driver's licence for two years.

Slag Crushes Girls

ISTANBUL (AP)—Six girls aged from eight to 17 years were crushed to death under tons of slag as they attempted to pick coal lumps from a mound in outlying Istanbul. The slide Monday night was believed touched off by heavy rains which have caused flooding in low-lying quarters of Istanbul.

Strike Talks Fail

TORONTO (CP)—Board of control's attempt to mediate a 12-week-old strike at Toronto's three ewspapers collapsed Tuesday when officials of Local 91 of the International Typographical Union (CLC) rejected a five-point settlement plan proposed by Controller Herbert Orliffe.

Kidnap Plan Thwarted By S. Africa?

CAPE TOWN (Reuters)—Police here said today they have detained a white man who allegedly collected money for a "secret organization" to kidnap refugees and return them to South Africa.

The man is alleged to have appealed for funds on the ground that his organization helped the South African security police but that because neither the government nor the police could openly or secretly support his organization it had to rely on private donations.

Recent alleged "private kidnappings" of refugees included Denis Higgs, a former Witwatersrand University lecturer, and Mrs. Rosemary Wentzel, a Johannesburg teacher. Both are white.

Higgs who fled to Northern Rhodesia with his non-white wife, was abducted and brought back to Johannesburg but was later allowed to leave for Britain.

Mrs. Wentzel, who fled to Swaziland, is being detained in South Africa.

Ocean Temperatures Measured From Air With Infra Red Rays

NANAIMO (CP)—Scientists have found the best way to measure ocean temperatures is from the air.

Dr. John Tully, head of the Pacific Oceanographic Group here, is perfecting an airborne thermometer which already can determine the temperature of the ocean surface within a degree by use of infra-red rays.

Five prototypes are in service, two on the east coast and one at the federal biological station which houses the POG.

Until their development, ocean temperature surveys had to be made from reports by ships.

"It was a bit like having four people on bicycles riding around North America observing the weather," Dr. Tully says. "It wasn't adequate."

Knowledge of the existing temperature structure of the oceans is vital to certain fishing and military operations.

The airborne thermometer was the product of four years' research sponsored by the Defence Research Board and the transport department's meteorological service.

All the thermometers except the one at the station here are mounted on maritime air patrol craft. A special tower is being built for the one here.

Dr. Tully said the device has already been shown to be an improvement over previous methods of measuring water temperatures. Further research is planned.

"We're within a degree now of the right answer, but we want to get it down to a tenth of a degree."

Strikers Return To Work After Injunction Issued

CROFTON—Strikers on construction work at the pulp and paper complex here returned to work Tuesday afternoon.

The strike, by 40 plumbers and 150 other workers at the $18,000,000 extension to B.C. Forest Products' mill, was broken by a court injunction.

The injunction was obtained in Vancouver by Smith Bros. & Wilson, the Vancouver firm which is building the addition. The firm told the court the work stoppage was illegal.

The jurisdictional battle will now be fought out by lawyers.

Said a spokesman for the plumbers' union this morning: "We are now seeking legal advice."

FOUR DAYS

The injunction is valid for four days but the company could probably obtain an extension.

Plumbers at the site downed tools Monday and set up picket lines at the rear gate to the mill after accusing the construction firm of failing to abide by decisions of the "Green Book."

They claimed the company was allowing laborers to lay a sewer pipe without a pipe-fitter present contrary to an agreement in the "Green Book."

The "Green Book" is a labor council set of rules, subscribed to by craft unions to settle jurisdictional disputes.

Other construction workers at the site would not cross the picket lines and work came to a standstill.

Despite a certain amount of confusion among mill workers when picket lines were first set up, mill production continued.

DOWNTOWN FACELIFT APPROVED

DUNCAN—City council is going all out to beautify the downtown area.

Latest move came this this week with approval in principle of plans to build more sidewalks, standardize store signs and floral decorations and build the city's first sidewalk arcade.

The arcade will be built on the south side of Station Street.

Several other sidewalks will be widened while brick sidewalks will be built to all stores.

Merchants will pay the cost as a local improvement and the city will carry out maintenance work.

Stand-Down Ordered In Forests

The B.C. government calls off its fire-watch in the forests at 12 tonight.

It has been the easiest fire season in a decade, Forests Minister Ray Williston said Tuesday.

It has cost only $124,100 to fight 1,102 fires.

Only 7,100 acres of forest was burned.

By comparison in 1961, a bad year, 1,227,159 acres were burned and the cost topped $4.3 million.

Mr. Williston said the cabinet is officially proclaiming the end of the fire season at midnight. It started May 1. On bad years it runs until Oct. 31.

With the end of the season, comes the end of permits for camp fires and burning in or near the woods.

Islanders Play Major Role At Convention

Two Vancouver Islanders will take leading roles at the annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Forestry in Toronto Oct. 5 to 8.

B.C.'s deputy forests minister R. G. McKee will preside over the meeting of 350 forest experts.

A. P. MacBean, of Nanaimo, chief forester for MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Co., will speak on future management for increased productivity in the forests.

Theme of the meeting will be the future of forests.

Cutting the tape was the wife of village commissioner Thomas Gibson.

Sidney Artist First In Show at Alberni

PORT ALBERNI — Victoria and Sidney artists brushed aside all opposition at Alberni Valley Art Group's third jury exhibition here.

Results announced Tuesday place Edith Jones of Sidney in first place and Donald Harvey, of Victoria, second.

Five other Victorians received honorable mentions.

The first prize of $50, presented by MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd. went to Miss Jones for a serigraph (silk screen print), entitled Golden Thistle.

$25 PRIZE

For his pastel, Summer Intruders, Mr. Harvey received $25 from Zeller's Ltd., a Port Alberni store.

Honorable mentions went to: Nita Forrest, ink drawing; Brian Travers-Smith, watercolor; Hermione Dixie, mixed media; Gilberte Hiskin, mixed media, and M. Grayson Young, mixed media.

Prize winners and honorable mentions were selected from 62 canvasses which will be hung in the Arts and Crafts Centre for the exhibition opening Oct. 8.

In all, 260 paintings were entered for judging.

Mayor Fred Bishop of Alberni will officiate at the opening of the show.

First night will be members and guests only.

Then, on Oct. 15, it will be open to the public three times daily.

ZORKIN
... stucco battle

Realtor Wins Point On Appeal Board Bid

NANAIMO — Realtor Dr. Mladen Zorkin has won the right to appeal.

After several heated verbal battles with city council he has taken the first round in his fight to restucco the four sides of his downtown office building.

Mayor Pete Maffeo said in council Monday an appeal board will be set up to consider the matter in the next seven days.

He said various individuals are being contacted and asked to serve on the board.

The dispute arose when council would only allow Dr. Zorkin to restucco two sides of his building.

Dr. Zorkin said the fact that he had to appeal to council, who set the original rules, denied his basic right of appeal.

The five-man appeal board will have to deal with interpretations of the 1957 uniform building code, the act under which council refused Dr. Zorkin's request.

700 Feared Dead In India Storms

HEAVY RAINFALL overnight provided fun for some but work for others (see below). Skipping through miniature lake at corner of Tolmie and Quadra this morning were five-year-old John Smith, 3211 Quadra, and Don Graham, three, 1015 Tolmie. Workman in background are pictured pumping out clogged storm drain. Between 1.44 1.65 inches of rain fell overnight and more is expected late Thursday.

Two Inches Of Rain Hit City

Public works officials in Victoria and surrounding municipalities are keeping their fingers crossed today after more than two inches of rain walloped the lower Island.

Rain caused "spotty, minor flooding complaints" in Saanich, works officials reported, and two basements were reported flooded in Oak Bay and three more in Esquimalt.

The city appeared to get off scot-free except for a blocked storm drain at Tolmie and Quadra which caused a lake two feet deep across the road.

"We were lucky Bowker Creek held," said one city works official.

NO FLOODING

"We are still working on it and although the water level went up eight inches, no flooding resulted."

Most of the rain fell on the southwest coast of the Island.

Tofino recorded 2.94 inches, Alberni 1.90 but Ober, near Jordan River on the Island's west coast topped the list with 4.5 inches.

Victoria was wetter than Vancouver Tuesday and early today as the mainland city had only 1.33 inches.

The city today was in the calm period between storms. More rain is expected late Thursday and early Friday.

RAIN CLOUDS

Weatherman Bill Mackie said Tuesday evening's weather system has now proceeded east but westerly winds are bringing large rain clouds toward us from the Pacific.

Weather picture for tonight calls for clouds, clearing and some showers.

Winds which were gusting to 45 mph at noon will diminish to westerly 15-20.

Winds, however, will pick up again late Thursday to bring the predicted storm to the city.

Temperatures will range from a low of 45 overnight to a high Thursday of 58 degrees.

Floods Ravage Big Area

NEW DELHI (UPI) — More than 700 persons were feared dead today as heavy rains, floods and cyclones ravaged the State of Andhra in southeast India.

Reports to the federal capital told of a mounting toll of casualties and heavy property damage.

The air force was asked to aid in the search for 449 fishermen who sailed from the small town of Conanada, 900 miles southeast of New Delhi three days ago in 75 small boats.

They have not been heard from since. State officials expressed concern for their fate.

DAM BURSTS

At Macherla, the dam of an irrigation tank burst, drowning an estimated 100 persons. A radio broadcast said the hamlet was under 10 feet of water.

In the neighboring district of Guntur, 120 persons were feared dead in floods set off by four days of heavy rains.

The flooding Krishna River washed away a 32-span bridge Tuesday. More than 100 persons were killed and hundreds were missing.

Many villages and towns in Andhra were reported inundated in Andhra State and crops and livestock were feared lost.

The floods in Andhra were described as the worst in the state's history.

STOLEN POISON COULD KILL THOUSANDS

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Urgent warnings from the Swedish police were broadcast today following theft of enough poison to kill at least 25,000 persons.

Burglars took more than two pounds of pilocarpini hydrochloridum after breaking into a pharmaceutical laboratory at Sundsvall, 190 miles north of here.

The poison works on the nerve system. In crystallized and water-solvable form it is used mainly for making eye-drops to treat glaucoma, an eye disease that leads to blindness.

It was believed the thieves were after narcotics.

FLOODED DRIVEWAY drain this morning forced Mrs. Leona Cox, 1099 Tolmie Avenue, to use broom when storm drain was blocked in front of her house. She was awakened by police at 4:45 a.m. as water overflowed gutters on both sides of road and reached a depth of two feet. Water also threatened bakery at Tolmie and Quadra, but damage was averted by city works crews.

'AIDED' MURDERS

15 Years Jail For Top Nazi

MUNICH (Reuters)—Former SS Gen. Karl Wolff, a high official in the Nazi hierarchy, was sentenced to 15 years at hard labor after a West German court today convicted him on charges of aiding in the wartime murder of 300,000 Jews in Poland.

Wolff, 64, was originally charged with complicity but the Munich court found him guilty of aiding in the murders—legally, a lesser charge.

Conviction of complicity in murder carries an automatic life sentence at hard labor, the maximum sentence in West Germany for any crime. The sentence for a conviction of aiding in murder may be anything from three years at hard labor to life at hard labor.

Wolff's defence counsel, Rudolf Aschenauer, said after the verdict that there was no actual evidence of Wolff's guilt and announced he would appeal it.

Wolff had been an adjutant of Heinrich Himmler, Nazi SS (elite corps) chief, and liaison officer to Hitler before becoming German commander-in-chief in Italy at the close of the war.

He was found guilty of having helped provide the rolling stock in which 300,000 Jews went to their deaths in Nazi concentration camps.

Throughout the trial, white-haired Wolff denied knowledge of the Nazi program of the extermination of the Jews.

The prosecution charged that Wolff belonged to the Nazi brain trust that planned the extermination of Jews.

The prosecution had demanded life imprisonment for Wolff, since capital punishment was abandoned in West Germany in 1949.

The defence asked that Wolff be acquitted. Wolff claimed it was only after the war that he

'No Strings' On Soviet Aid To Cyprus

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union has granted Cyprus "no strings attached" military aid, Greek-Cypriot Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou said today.

Kyprianou told newsmen he signed a "completely satisfactory" pact with the Russians this afternoon. He declined to give details.

Earlier, at another reception, Greek-Cypriot Commerce and Industry Minister Andreas Araouzos told newsmen the agreement—on which he did the bulk of the negotiating—also included economic aid. However, Kyprianou said later the pact was limited to military aid.

"There were no strings attached and no conditions whatsoever," Kyprianou said at a Cyprus embassy reception.

SATISFIED

"We are completely satisfied with the outcome of our talks here and with the agreement we have reached," he said.

"We also have the complete support of the Soviet Union on the political aspects of the Cyprus problem."

The foreign minister declined to comment on reports from authoritative sources the agreement involved shipping Russian anti-aircraft weapons to Cyprus.

Diplomatic sources said under the pact no Soviet instructors would be sent to Cyprus and no Greek Cypriot trainees would come to the Soviet Union.

Families Evacuated

NUCLEAR FIELD ENTRY SOON, SAYS U.S.

Atomic Blast by Chinese Could Come on Thursday

WASHINGTON (CP-AP)—The United States says China may explode its first atomic bomb at any time, probably above ground, and one guess was that the blast could come Thursday.

Thursday is Peking's 15th anniversary of the overthrow by the Communists of Chiang Kai-shek's government, and Washington guessed the timing of China's nuclear debut might come on that day.

This guess is based on the Communists' penchant for unveiling new developments on their anniversaries. Other estimates range into 1965.

While eventual Chinese success in building an atomic bomb has been predicted for years, a statement by State Secretary Dean Rusk Tuesday disclosed a recent conclusion by U.S. strategists that Peking's preparations have reached the point where it can fire its nuclear device at any time.

U.S. sources declined to specify what new intelligence data has convinced them that the Chinese have arrived at the edge of an atomic blast.

NEWS NOT SURPRISING

"The United States," he added, "has fully anticipated the possibility of Peking's entry into the nuclear weapons field and has taken it into full account in determining our military posture and our own nuclear weapons program."

U.S. sources made these points:

—The initial nuclear test would still leave her a long way to go before achieving a first-class nuclear arsenal.

Real Strike Power Many Years Away

LONDON (UPI)—Ten or 15 years may elapse before Communist China acquires real nuclear striking power, even if it makes its first test blast soon, authoritative sources said today.

The sources, commenting on U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk's announcement that Peking may soon get atomic capability, said it lacks the industrial potential to produce stockpiles of weapons and delivery systems. They said it may be 1975 or 1980 before it can do so.

Rusk's statement came as no surprise in Asia and the Soviet Union. In the far east, Japanese, Nationalist Chinese and U.S. scientists long have been prepared to monitor the shock waves of Peking's first blast.

U.S. electronic and seismographic instruments are deployed around the rim of China in stations on Formosa, Okinawa, and in Japan. U.S. planes equipped with long-lange radar and other devices whose nature is secret fly up and down the China coast, almost 24 hours a day.

The Soviet Union was not surprised because its scientists helped China get its start in nuclear research, although the Sino-Soviet quarrel caused the program to end in 1959.

No Military Significance, Bundy Says

TOKYO (AP)—A nuclear test explosion by China at this time would have no military significance and therefore should have little psychological or propaganda effect in Asia, William Bundy, U.S. assistant secretary of state, said today.

"An initial explosion of this kind does not mean nuclear capability," Bundy told a news conference. "There is no evidence that Communist China has any effective nuclear weapons or any prospects for systems of delivery of nuclear weapons."

The most notable thing about China's nuclear program, Bundy said, is the fact it has not exploded a nuclear device before.

HURRICANE HILDA AIMS AT LOUISIANA

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The tropical storm Hilda emerged as a full-blown hurricane in the Gulf of Mexico today and pointed its 80-miles-per-hour winds toward the Louisiana coast.

The New Orleans weather bureau said at noon a check by spotter planes showed Hilda 450 miles south of Biloxi, Miss., and moving west-northwest about 10 miles an hour.

Victoria Daily Times

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1964—PAGE 21

Arthur Mayse

To its massive report on the assassination of President Kennedy and the shooting of the social misfit who killed him, the Warren Commission added an appendix aimed at spiking the rumors and myths which have attached themselves to the case.

That their attempt must fail is no fault of the commissioners. They did their job with plodding thoroughness, aided by an awesome battery of trained investigators; and few reasonable men and women will question the accuracy of their conclusions.

Nevertheless, the legends that mushroomed out of national hysteria or were planted by individuals and powers for their own purposes, will persist.

It was so when Lincoln died; that episode has trailed its dubious aprocrypha through a century of American history.

There are those who believe with utmost conviction that Hitler did not die by his own hand, but escaped Berlin to scheme and plot as an exile in South America.

Nor were the last of the Czars and his family really executed in a Moscow cellar . . . according to a rumor that raised its stubborn old head only a week or two ago, those unfortunates were spirited safe away.

★ ★ ★

Human nature has few more puzzling quirks than this wilful turning from the fact to gorge on hearsay, even though the fable we champion has been many times disproved.

I think we are all guilty to greater or lesser degree of accepting unreason. Often this does no particular harm; at times, indeed, it can sustain us through a bad time, or ease the general humdrum of our lives.

★ ★ ★

Even though experience tells me the new dingus in my fishing kit can't possibly be as lethal as its maker claims, I'll drag it hopefully up and down the saltchuck next weekend, and recommend it to my no less gullible friends.

The other day I abandoned a track choice based on careful handicapping to favor a goat that couldn't have outrun an old lady with her arms full of groceries.

Great fun: but not all rumors are harmless. The myth-monger who loosed the spurious 'Protocols of Zion' on a credulous world gave the haters a frightful weapon. Much blood is on his head.

★ ★ ★

In every newspaper office, part of the job is to separate fact from rumor. This we do, day in and year out. City editors become hard-bitten skeptics, and if long in the business, develop a sixth sense that separates the pup-sellers from the truth-sayers.

We are human, like those from whom we extract the news we print. Hence we are fallible.

Still, we try hard for accuracy—even to the point of asking Mr. Smith to spell his name lest it be the exotic version with a 'y' and a final 'e'—and I think we succeed reasonably well in holding rumor at bay.

That, of course, fails to save us from frequent pummellings. While these no doubt help keep us on our toes, they explain in part why newsmen tend to be clannish.

One of our number, let's say, sets out with his wife for an evening that promises well.

For a time, all goes smoothly. The food's excellent, the host pours with an educated hand, and no bore arrives to freeze conversation into monologue.

Then, like icewater down the back, words trickle into our fellow's consciousness:

"Those newspapers . . . why can't they ever get things right? My sister-in-law's girl friend knows someone who was there when it happened."

And so on: rumor triumphing over facts the newsman may have worked hard and long to establish. He sits there with eyes turning red and his wife giving him apprehensive glances.

★ ★ ★

Truth is mighty, and will prevail; and in the tragic episode reported on by the Warren Commission, I firmly believe truth has been well served.

But today and a hundred years from now, the canards the commission did its best to scotch will still lurk in the shadows of history, kept alive by those who will always prefer truth decked with a garnish of rumor.

New USN missile ship, Richmond K. Turner, will be here Thursday.

New Ship With Big Sunday Punch Arrives at Esquimalt Thursday

A spanking new U.S. Navy missile ship with enough striking power to demolish Victoria's Legislative Buildings at a single blow will tie up at Esquimalt Thursday.

The 533-foot long USS Richmond K. Turner is scheduled at the Naden jetty at 2 p.m.

Her crew of 21 officers and 352 men under Captain D. C. Plate is following three other USN warships which chose Victoria for recreational visits this year.

RCN officials here have not announced whether she will hold an open house.

Her main armaments consist of twin launchers for Terrier surface-to-air missiles which are mounted fore and aft.

She also carries twin three-inch, 50-calibre anti-aircraft guns mounted amidships and launchers for anti-submarine warfare torpedoes.

The Richmond K. Turner was completed in February of this year. She was launched April 6, 1963, at the yards of New York Shipbuilding Corp. at Camden, N.J.

170 FEET LONGER

The Coontz Class missile frigate is about 170 feet longer than Canada's destroyer-escorts and just under the size of the cruiser HMCS Ontario which was formerly based here.

She has a fully-loaded displacement of 7,000 tons and her engines will produce 85,000 horsepower to give her a top speed of 30 knots.

Visiting here Oct. 17-19 will be the guided missile destroyer USS Waddell which carries 22 officers and 318 enlisted personnel.

She will be followed Oct. 19-21 by the ocean-going tug USS Metaco which carries a complement of six officers and 63 men.

WOMAN-IN-HURRY DIES

Shop Bags Reveal $11,000 Hoard

There appear to be no heirs of a 72-year-old woman, who collapsed in a Vancouver railway station alongside nine shopping bags stuffed with common stocks.

Police said they have found no will left by Mary Hilda Hawkins, who lived here this summer and left for Vancouver last Monday.

It was impossible to say with certainty if heirs might be found but it appears there are none, said Ian Horne, official administrator for the county of Victoria.

WORTH $11,000

He discounted a Vancouver report the stocks are worth $80,000 and put the value at about $11,000.

"They were not well-known stocks," he said.

The woman came to Victoria from Chicago April 13 and lived at the Beverley Hotel, 724 Yates, for one week, police said.

She moved to the York Hotel, 711 Johnson, and checked out last Monday for Vancouver.

She apparently suffered a heart attack Monday night while waiting for an east-bound train.

"She seemed very anxious to get to Winnipeg but she wouldn't tell me why," said Noel Parsons, CNR passenger agent.

"She cried 'I've got to go, I've got to go' but there was nothing I could do. She wasn't well enough to travel in her condition."

She died later that night in hospital.

RELATIVES SOUGHT

Also found in the paper bags were clothing, travellers cheques, some money and papers showing her maiden name as Mary Hilda Zidek of Verona, N.D.

Police in Victoria and Vancouver began a search Tuesday for next of kin but have found none.

Mr. Horne said if no heirs are found he will administer the estate and the stocks will be held by the provincial treasury for safe keeping.

Funeral services likely will be held in Vancouver.

Boulder on Road Causes 3-Way Car Collision

One car overturned and two behind it were in collision in a mishap on the Malahat Tuesday but no one involved was even slightly injured.

The first car, driven by Melvin Olson, 119 Edgerton, swerved to avoid a boulder on the road, hit the shoulder and flipped over.

Then a car driven by J. A. Hobday, 614 Foul Bay Road, stopped to avoid the overturned car in the middle of the road and was hit from behind by a truck driven by J. A. Ritchie of Duncan.

SAANICH

By-Election Delays Big Works Plan

The Oct. 24 reeveship by-election in Saanich has forced postponement of a proposed capital works program that councillors had hoped to take before the voters in December.

"It hasn't been pursued because of the current political situation in Saanich," says public works committee chairman Hugh Curtis.

"I don't think we can expect our officials to prepare a program for our consideration in time to have a sensible one for December.

"But there is every likelihood one will be put to the ratepayers eventually.

SPRING VOTE

"If I have anything to do with it, we'll aim for a vote in the spring."

The plan was conceived as a $2 million program to get Saanich caught up on essential services.

It was originally proposed by Coun. Leslie Passmore, who felt a $2 million program would enable the municipality to provide needed roads, parks and sewers without boosting the mill rate.

His idea met with total acceptance from councillors.

But since former Reeve Stanley Murphy announced his resignation, forcing the byelection, little has been heard of the plan.

And the long-awaited Greater Victoria traffic study is still being awaited, and would affect details of the program.

Coun. Curtis, who is seeking the reeveship, says he thinks the program should be over $2 million.

"We haven't looked at details too closely yet, but I'd think it should be between $2 million and $5 million," he says.

He sees road construction as the biggest item in a capital works scheme, followed by sewers and parks.

"I don't think we can ask the taxpayers in any given year to assume much more of the costs for roads," he says.

As an example of a road that could be improved by capital works budget funds, he names Cedar Hill Road.

OVERLOADED

"It's already carrying far more traffic than it was designed to, and maintenance can only do so much," he says.

The road is not one appropriate for assistance from the provincial highways department, "so we can't look to them for help," says Coun. Curtis.

He feels that presenting the program to the voters at a time other than an election might simplify things, because the council could go into it united "when there are no seats at stake."

"I don't think anyone on council has changed his mind about backing it," says Coun. Curtis.

Once the byelection is out of the way, senior municipal officials can go to work to draft a program.

"If we can work it with little or no increase in taxes, that's the ideal," says Coun. Curtis.

"We would be trying to increase our pace without placing a heavy tax burden on Saanich ratepayers, who are already paying a good shot."

Driver Charged In Fatal Crash

Arrested Leaving Hospital

A 22-year-old horse trainer, injured in a fatal car crash on the Patricia Bay Highway last week, was arrested today on a charge of criminal negligence causing death.

A warrant alleging the offence was served by Saanich police on trainer Barry McGillivray as he walked from St. Joseph's Hospital, where he had been since the crash last Thursday.

He is being held in Saanich police station cells.

McGillivray, of Burnaby, was driver of a car that collided head-on with a car driven by Mrs. Frances Worral, 39, of Sidney.

Killed in the crash were Mrs. Worrall's mother, Mrs. Frances Daniel, 76, and Mrs. Worrall's 4½-year-old son Gordon James.

Mrs. Worrall is still in hospital, where her condition — first listed as critical — was given today as "fairly good."

The collision took place near Berryland, about a quarter of a mile north of Elk Lake.

Both victims were in a late-model compact car travelling towards Sidney.

60 FEET

The McGillivray car spun 60 feet through the air after the crash, landing in a nearby garden.

In the Worrall car, the dashboard was pushed to the back of the front seat, pinning Mrs. Worrall with the twisted steering wheel.

Mrs. Daniel was trapped under the dashboard.

The child died instantaneously, and Mrs. Daniel two hours later.

FIRE TRUCK PARADE TO SHINE SPOTLIGHT ON PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1

Everyone loves a parade and a procession of a dozen fire trucks Monday has been designed to give Victorians a special message.

The parade of firefighting equipment from lower V.I. fire departments will begin at 10:15 a.m. from the city's Yates Street fire hall to mark National Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 4-10.

The parade is believed to be the first of its kind in Canada.

The procession will move west from the fire hall to Douglas Street and then south to the Legislative Buildings.

Taking part will be units from Victoria, Esquimalt, View Royal, Oak Bay, Saanich, Central Saanich, Langford, Colwood and Sidney fire departments and the Naval Fire Service.

Riding on a naval fire truck will be Miss Firefighter, Gail Hanson, and the HMCS Naden band will head the procession.

Lieut.-Cdr. Gordon Ball, chief of the Naval Fire Service, has announced his department and several municipal departments will be conducting fire prevention instruction in local schools during and after fire prevention week.

Traffic Circle Replacements Prove Worthwhile

The Humber Green-Rose Street extension experiment is a complete success, according to the statistics.

City traffic technician Jack Reid today said the new system is carrying substantially more vehicle traffic than the old Roundabout did and with fewer accidents.

"We've also found that northbound rush-hour traffic doesn't back up past the Bay Street intersection the way it used to do," he said.

Recent traffic counts show that almost 20,000 cars travel north on Government, Douglas and Blanshard-Rose during an average day, compared with 16,000 in 1963 when they were funnelled through the Roundabout.

Southbound traffic has jumped from slightly under 13,000 to almost 15,000 vehicles in an average day.

Topics of the Day

Militia members of the Seaforth Highlanders of Canada will conduct seaward firing practices at Albert Head camp, Saturday from 8:45 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday from 8:30 a.m. to noon.

Equipment used will be 81 mm. mortar with high explosive.

Apogee of trajectory over the danger area will not exceed 7,000 feet.

HEALTH BOARD PILOT PROGRAM

Sex Education Starts Next Month

By JOHN MIKA

Greater Victoria metro health board Tuesday decided to launch a pilot program of sex education in an unnamed high school next month.

It would pick up where a similar school board program was bogged down last year before it could be launched.

Chief MHO Dr. John Whitbread told the board that meeting with school board officials has been set to work out the details but it was most likely that his deputy, Dr. G. P. Evans, would give the initial lectures and also train some school board staff in presenting them.

"The pilot plan is to start in one school in School District 61 sometime in October," he said.

"If it is found acceptable, the full program should be in all secondary schools by November."

DOCTORS, NURSES

Several board members said they felt that teachers should not, as a matter of principle, be detailed to give sex education and that only doctors and nurses should give the lectures to students.

However, Dr. Whitbread said this would be "black marketing" education in the schools through the health board.

He said he expected the provincial cabinet soon to include sex education as a specific part of the school curriculum and in that event it should be taught by qualified teachers and counsellors.

Saanich Coun. Joseph Casey supported Dr. Whitbread, pointing out it would take "one doctor 20 years to go through all" 22 schools that would be involved in the metro health region which comprises four school districts.

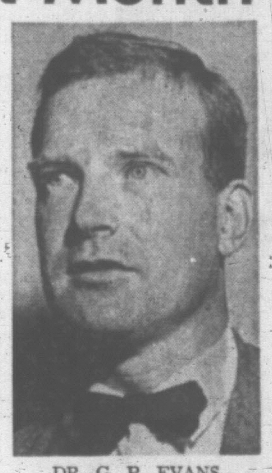

HIGH TIME

Mrs. A. B. Thompson, chairman of Greater Victoria school board, said it was high time something was done to initiate a sex education program in the schools.

She said her school board had a program prepared and ready for introduction in the schools last year but there were objections from the clergy "and it just drifted after that."

She said the best plan would be to invite all parents to a sample lecture and she was sure that it would be overwhelmingly approved.

Former Cariboo, Skeena MHO Takes Over Deputy's Post Here

Greater Victoria metro health board Tuesday met its new deputy medical health officer and also decided to advertise for a paediatrician to fill its third ranking medical post.

The new deputy is Dr. G. P. Evans who replaces the recently retired Dr. A. N. Beattie. Dr. Evans graduated with a medical degree in 1955 from Liverpool University.

After service as an MHO in Nigeria, he emigrated to B.C. in 1961, holding posts as assistant director of the Cariboo Health Unit and MHO of the Skeena Health Unit prior to his new appointment.

The board authorized advertisements for a paediatrician to replace recently retired Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy who was in charge of the schools health program.

Ask The Times

Q. Recently I spent about a month at Waikiki Beach in the Hawaiian Islands. While there I noticed that the tide never varied more than a foot or so. Can you explain this? H.J.C.

A. As tides are caused by the attraction of the moon upon the waters of the ocean, the displaced water moves across the sea in the form of a hump rising about 2 to 3 feet higher than mean sea level. When this mass of water reaches a continental coast or narrow bay in a coast it piles up along the coast or in the bay at heights ranging from a norm of 6 feet to a maximum of 50 or 60 feet. However, in mid-ocean, there is little or nothing to interrupt the flow of water. Consequently a normal tide in the Hawaiian Islands is no more than two or three feet.

700 Feared Dead Over Wide Area

NEW DELHI (UPI)—More than 700 persons were feared dead today as heavy rains, floods and cyclones ravaged the State of Andhra in southeast India.

Reports to the federal capital told of a mounting toll of casualties and heavy property damage.

The air force was asked to aid in the search for 449 fishermen who sailed from the small town of Conanada, 900 miles southeast of New Delhi three days ago in 75 small boats.

They have not been heard from since. State officials expressed concern for their fate.

ARMS DEAL SIGNED

'No Strings' On Soviet Aid To Cyprus

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union has granted Cyprus "no strings attached" military aid, Greek-Cypriot Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou said today.

Kyprianou told newsmen he signed a "completely satisfactory" pact with the Russians this afternoon. He declined to give details.

Earlier, at another reception, Greek-Cypriot Commerce and Industry Minister Andreas Arauzos told newsmen the agreement—on which he did the bulk of the negotiating—also included economic aid. However, Kyprianou said later the pact was limited to military aid.

"There were no strings attached and no conditions whatsoever," Kyprianou said at a Cyprus embassy reception.

SATISFIED

"We are completely satisfied with the outcome of our talks here and with the agreement we have reached," he said.

"We also have the complete support of the Soviet Union on the political aspects of the Cyprus problem."

The foreign minister declined to comment on reports from authoritative sources the agreement involved shipping Russian anti-aircraft weapons to Cyprus.

Diplomatic sources said under the pact no Soviet instructors would be sent to Cyprus and no Greek Cypriot trainees would come to the Soviet Union.

'AIDED' MURDERS

15 Years Jail For Top Nazi

MUNICH (Reuters)—Former SS Gen. Karl Wolff, a high official in the Nazi hierarchy, was sentenced to 15 years at hard labor after a West German court today convicted him on charges of aiding in the wartime murder of 300,000 Jews in Poland.

Wolff, 64, was originally charged with complicity but the Munich court found him guilty of aiding in the murders—legally, a lesser charge.

Conviction of complicity in murder carries an automatic life sentence at hard labor, the maximum sentence in West Germany for any crime. The sentence for a conviction of aiding in murder may be anything from three years at hard labor to life at hard labor.

Wolff's defence counsel, Rudolf Aschenauer, said after the verdict that there was no actual evidence of Wolff's guilt and announced he would appeal it.

Wolff had been an adjutant of Heinrich Himmler, Nazi SS (elite corps) chief, and liaison officer to Hitler before becoming German commander-in-chief in Italy at the close of the war.

He was found guilty of having helped provide the rolling stock in which 300,000 Jews went to their deaths in Nazi concentration camps.

Throughout the trial, white-haired Wolff denied knowledge of the Nazi program of the extermination of the Jews.

The prosecution charged that Wolff belonged to the Nazi brain trust that planned the extermination of Jews.

The prosecution had demanded life imprisonment for Wolff, since capital punishment was abandoned in West Germany in 1949.

The defence asked that Wolff be acquitted. Wolff claimed it was only after the war that he Chinese Atomic Blast Thursday?

WASHINGTON (CP-AP)—The United States says China may explode its first atomic bomb at any time, probably above ground, and one guess was that the blast could come Thursday.

Thursday is Peking's 15th anniversary of the overthrow by the Communists of Chiang Kai-shek's government, and Washington guessed the timing of China's nuclear debut might come on that day.

This guess is based on the Communists' penchant for unveiling new developments on their anniversaries. Other estimates range into 1965.

While eventual Chinese success in building an atomic bomb has been predicted for years, a statement by State Secretary Dean Rusk Tuesday disclosed a recent conclusion by U.S. strategists that Peking's preparations have reached the point where it can fire its nuclear device at any time.

U.S. sources declined to specify what new intelligence data has convinced them that the Chinese have arrived at the edge of an atomic blast.

"The United States," he added, "has fully anticipated the possibility of Peking's entry into the nuclear weapons field and has taken it into full account in determining our military posture and our own nuclear weapons program."

U.S. sources made these points:

—The initial nuclear test would still leave her a long way to go before achieving a first-class nuclear arsenal.

Real Strike Power Many Years Away

LONDON (UPI)—Ten or 15 years may elapse before Communist China acquires real nuclear striking power, even if it makes its first test blast soon, authoritative sources said today.

The sources, commenting on U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk's announcement that Peking may soon get atomic capability, said it lacks the industrial potential to produce stockpiles of weapons and delivery systems. They said it may be 1975 or 1980 before it can do so.

Rusk's statement came as no surprise in Asia and the Soviet Union. In the far east, Japanese, Nationalist Chinese and U.S. scientists long have been prepared to monitor the shock waves of Peking's first blast.

U.S. electronic and seismographic instruments are deployed around the rim of China in stations on Formosa, Okinawa, and in Japan. U.S. planes equipped with long-range radar and other devices whose nature is secret fly up and down the China coast, almost 24 hours a day.

The Soviet Union was not surprised because its scientists helped China get its start in nuclear research, although the Sino-Soviet quarrel caused the program to end in 1959.

Heavy Rainfall Soaks Island

Public works officials in municipalities are keeping Victoria and surrounding their fingers crossed today after more than two inches of rain walloped the lower Island.

Rain caused "spotty, minor flooding complaints" in Saanich, works officials reported, and two basements were reported flooded in Oak Bay and three more in Esquimalt. Between 1.44 and 1.65 inches fell in the city.

The city appeared to get off scot-free except for a blocked storm drain at Tolmie and Quadra which caused a lake two feet deep across the road.

"We were lucky Bowker Creek held," said one city works official.

NO FLOODING

"We are still working on it and although the water level went up eight inches, no flooding resulted."

Most of the rain fell on the southwest coast of the Island.

Tofino recorded 2.94 inches, Alberni 1.90 but Ober, near Jordan River on the Island's west coast topped the list with 4.5 inches.

Victoria was wetter than Vancouver Tuesday and early today as the mainland city had only 1.33 inches.

The city today was in the calm period between storms. More rain is expected late Thursday and early Friday.

RAIN CLOUDS

Weatherman Bill Mackie said Tuesday evening's weather system has now proceeded east but westerly winds are bringing large rain clouds toward us from the Pacific.

Weather picture for tonight calls for clouds, clearing and some showers.

Winds which were gusting to 45 mph at noon will diminish to westerly 15 - 20.

Winds, however, will pick up again late Thursday to bring the predicted storm to the city.

Temperatures will range from a low of 45 overnight to a high Thursday of 58 degrees.

No Military Significance, Bundy Says

TOKYO (AP)—A nuclear test explosion by China at this time would have no military significance and therefore should have little psychological or propaganda effect in Asia, William Bundy, U.S. assistant secretary of state, said today.

"An initial explosion of this kind does not mean nuclear capability," Bundy told a news conference. "There is no evidence that Communist China has any effective nuclear weapons or any prospects for systems of delivery of nuclear weapons."

The most notable thing about China's nuclear program, Bundy said, is the fact it has not exploded a nuclear device before.

STOLEN POISON COULD KILL THOUSANDS

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Urgent warnings from the Swedish police were broadcast today following theft of enough poison to kill at least 25,000 persons.

Burglars took more than two pounds of pilocarpini hydrochloridum after breaking into a pharmaceutical laboratory at Sundsvall, 190 miles north of here.

The poison works on the nerve system. In crystallized and water-solvable form it is used mainly for making eye-drops to treat glaucoma, an eye disease that leads to blindness.

It was believed the thieves were after narcotics.
